Speech Students Give Five Plays

Approximately 90 persons witnessed the five one act play presented by speech students Friday and Saturday nights.

Two plays were presented with arena staging in Room 201, Temple. They were "Aria da Capo" and "One Room Apartment." Three plays were presented in Room 205: "Overtone," "Sit Down to Supper," and "Conflict."

Model UN Committee Adopts Resolution Calling for Peace, Elections in Korea

The majority resolution on Korea was adopted by the model UN general assembly during the final afternoon session Friday.

The resolution specifies the cessation of hostilities and the unification and rehabilitation of Korea. Thirty-four countries voted for the measure with an amendment by the Korean subcommittee. Poland abstained from voting and several countries including Russian and her satellites were absent.

The resolution recognizes the East-West conflict in Korea as jeopardizing world peace. A United Nations commission is to be set up to serve as an interim government until the Korean people can hold elections.

The commission has the power to supervise the cease-fire, disarmament of Korean forces and withdrawal of non-Korean armies. They will coordinate the activities of the special UN agencies in an effort to rehabilitate the country. Elections will be supervised by the UN commission in accordance with specifications of the resolution.

Nine countries are named to be members of the commission. They are Afghanistan, Chile, El Salvador, India, Netherlands, Poland, Sweden, Union of South Africa

Reports Given

Plans were released Friday at the College Days board meeting. In addition to reviewing the schedule, the board heard a report by Jerry Solomon, chairman of the Teachers college College Days committee; Jan Linguist, chairman of opening ceremonies; and Frank Jacobs, production manager for "Good News."

Alpha Phi Omega representatives were present to offer services during College Days.

House Debates Draft Test Plan

The examination deferment plan may be abandoned.

Chairman Carl Vinson of the house armed services committee stated that the house will probably vote to kill the proposed deferment plans for college students.

An amendment to bar the tests and leave college deferments on the present basis will be presented by Rep. Paul J. Kilday (G. Tex.). Kilday said that he will offer the amendment this week.

But clear sailing is not assured to the amendment. Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R. N.Y.) said that he will fight it. Cole is a member of the armed services committee which has given informal endorsement to the student deferment plan.

The main objection to the examination plan stems from the fact that 800 thousand registrants might qualify for the deferments. At present, 570 thousand students have been deferred for college training. Some committee sources said the committee did not realize how liberal Draft Director Hershey's new plan was or how many men could be expected to win deferments.

If the amendment is written into the bill, the whole proposed testing program will be scuttled. Nothing is definite yet. But debate this week may decide the fate of many college students.

It Happened at NU

Many's the time an instructor, all wrapped up in his lecture, finds himself minus a piece of chalk for demonstration purposes.

Such an incident took place recently. However, one of the more enterprising students remedied the situation. Just as the instructor was about ready to give up the search, the young man presented him with a piece of the white stuff.

It was difficult to tell whether the instructor's facial expression was one of surprise, chagrin or pleasure.

Vogt to Attend Mademoiselle's Policy Forum

Nancy Vogt has been chosen to participate in the forum "Asia and the United States," sponsored by Mademoiselle magazine. She will leave Friday for the meeting, which will be held in New York City.

Miss Vogt was selected to enter the contest for participation in the forum last fall upon the recommendation of Dr. Norman L. Hill, chairman of the University department of political science.

Criticized Program

Since that time she has been required to make up a criticism of the entire program, including topics for discussion and speakers. She also submitted three questions to be asked of the speakers in the event she was chosen a delegate.

The forum, which will last one and one-half days, will be held at the Roosevelt hotel. Outstanding forum speakers and the topics they will discuss are: Walter Lippmann, "Asia's Role in World Politics;" Sir Benegal Rau, head of the Indian mission to the United Nations, "What Asia Can Give the World;" and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, "A Positive American Program in Asia."

The program will consist of a general session at which the speeches will be given and a question session by the delegates will be held. The delegates will then break up into smaller discussion groups. A final session will feature final reports of the chairman of the smaller groups.

Guests of Mademoiselle

The 50 delegates, chosen from all parts of the United States, are traveling as guests of Mademoiselle magazine with all expenses paid.

Builders Will Hold Mass Meet April 11

University Builders board will be host to all workers and those wishing to work for Builders at a mass meeting Wednesday, April 11, at 7:30 p. m. in Room 316 of the Union.

Shirley Coy will be mistress of ceremonies during the meeting. Board members and Mary E. Mielenz, Builder's faculty adviser, will be introduced by Marilyn Coupe, president of the organization.

Jack Davis, district chairman, will give a report of his committee's accomplishments and plans for the summer.

The athletic plan for next year and how Builders can aid the athletic department by influencing high school athletes to attend the University will be Patsy Clark's topic.

Bernard W. Fuhr will speak on Freshmen Week and how Builders can help during that period. Following the program, those interested may sign up for Builders' work. It is hoped that there will be a large number of men volunteering for Builder's work.

Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Webster Gallery On Exhibit Soon

A gallery of 66 oil paintings, monotypes, drawings and etchings by Hutton Webster, Jr., winner of a Pulitzer prize in art, will be on exhibit in the Miller & Paine auditorium until April 14.

Webster is the son of the late Dr. Hutton Webster, former anthropologist at the University. His work is represented in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the National Gallery in Washington, D. C., the Library of Congress, and the Art Institute of Chicago.

New Yell Squad To Include Coeds; Filings Now Open Devries, Hancock to Head Next Year's Cheerleaders

The University will have coed cheerleaders on its yell squad next fall. The yell squad Advisory board made this decision at a meeting Thursday night, April 5.

Don Devries was selected as yell king for next year by the Advisory board. George Hancock will be assistant yell king.

Ira Epstein and Jerry Tubbs will be hold-over members from this year's pep group.

Dick Claussen and Jack Chedester were appointed by the Advisory board to complete the squad. Stuart Reynolds and Marshall Kushner will act as alternates.

However, the board decided to include women on the squad for next year.

Women To Be Chosen.

Two women will be chosen by the Advisory board as cheerleaders and two alternates also.

Girls may sign up in the Union Activities office today through Wednesday. On Friday afternoon, April 13, from 3 to 5 p. m. in the Coliseum Frank Piccolo and Brick Paulson, yell king and alternate for this year's squad, will hold a cheerleading practice for all aspirants.

Tryouts will be held on Thursday, April 19. The two women and two alternates will be chosen by the Advisory board. Exact time of these tryouts will be announced later.

Any regularly-enrolled University freshman or sophomore are eligible. (Anyone who meets the University requirements for participation in extra-curricular activities.)

Fresh Sophomores Eligible

Freshmen and sophomores are eligible to try out.

The Advisory board is made up of six students and three faculty members. They are: Nancy Porter, president of Mortar Board; Bob Raun, president of Innocents; Marilyn Vingers, president of Tassels; Bob Parker, president of Corn Cobs; Frank Piccolo, this year's yell king; Brick Paulson, assistant yell king for this year's squad; Don Lentz, band director; Patsy Clark, director of athletics; and Jake Geier, gymnastics coach.

The board also felt that a lack of interest shown by men might be because that the majority of state high schools have girl cheerleaders.

Judging Points

The women will be judged on general personality, crowd appeal, grace of motions, voice and aptness in picking up the yell.

"Patsy" Clark said he was "sure that the athletic department will agree to finance the mixed squad."

The Advisory board has made plans to work out the problem that has been brought up by the addition of women to the squad. Previous squads have been trained in the Men's physical education building. Arrangements are being made to work out this problem.

Model World Court States Settlements

Judges at the mock world court decided that the boundary between the two fictitious countries of Katavia and Ionla was altered with the changing of the river channel.

They ruled that it was legal for the Ionians to hold the Katavians they had convicted on espionage charges. Ionla was negligent in the dispute over the damage done by the smelting plant.

NUCWA Project

These decisions were given at the climax of international law case presented by the students of Prof. Cowles in conjunction with the NUCWA proceedings.

Donald E. Morrow headed the counsel for Katavia. His assistants were Dean L. Donohue and Jack Wendstrand. Jack Solomon was the Ionian chief counsel. Robert C. Bosley and William Furth were his assistants.

C. Petrus Peterson presided as chief justice. The other judges were Daniel Stubbs, J. Lee Rankin, F. B. Baylor and W. B. Cowles.

The students worked on the case several months in class. The memorials and counter memorials were written and filed before the case was presented. The Ionian team was judged best in the quality of memorials.

The case was based on the Carter lake region between Nebraska and Iowa. The laws were actual Nebraska laws. A smelting plant located between the two prime cities of each county was causing destruction to a closer of the two. No peace action was taken. No government action was taken on the matter so the Katavians resorted to sabotage.

Foreign Students Assisted By Nebraska Women's Clubs

Attending the University are three foreign students who are being assisted financially by member clubs of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs.

Through the international relations committee of the state organization, of which Mrs. Harold Armstrong of Lincoln is chairman, women's clubs throughout the state have contributed to the scholarship fund which provides $500 cash scholarships to assist foreign students at the University.

Jane Abend, a native of Teschen, Czechoslovakia, is completing her studies at the University in the College of Architecture. Before coming to the University, Miss Abend attended University in Munich, Germany, for two years.

Born in Jerusalem, William Saad came to the United States in the fall of 1949 so that he could obtain his education in chemical engineering. Saad's

Dances Planned For Cosmo Event

"Midway Marvel" will be the theme of the fourth annual Cosmo Carnival to be presented in the Union ballroom on Saturday April 14.

A carnival barker will serve as a master of ceremonies for the mid-dance show. Round-the-world attractions will be presented in the following skits:

Music in the Latin manner by a South American combo.

A Persian skit entitled "Dream Dance."

A scene from sunny Hawaii including a hula dance.

Al Sorenson and his orchestra will play for the affair. People attending the dance may come in imaginative costumes or ordinary dress. Prizes will be awarded for the best dancing and costumes.

The foreign students will also present their program later at the Veterans' hospital.

The dance will begin at 8 p. m., with the program being presented later in the evening. Tickets are $1 and may be purchased from any Cosmo club member or at the door.

brother also attended the University.

A senior at the University, majoring in physiology, Maria Bade was born in Hamburg, Germany. After being released from a German concentration camp by an American armored division during the war, she was employed by the American military government before coming to the United States.

Jaycees Forum To Debate Traffic

"What can we do about Lincoln's parking and traffic problems?"

The Lincoln Junior Chamber of Commerce promised answers to this question Wednesday, April 11, at 8:15 p. m. when the second in the Lincoln Forum series of panel discussions on local civic affairs is held.

Ernest Weir, Jr., said the series of forums offers "an opportunity for all those interested in civic affairs to become better informed on local problems and a challenge to all the citizens of the community to prove that they deserve good government by becoming better informed on the issues before them."

Innocent Trophy Reports Requested

All fraternity presidents who have not turned in their reports for the Innocents Scholarship and Activity trophy have been urged to do so immediately.

According to the committee handling the computation of points, any fraternity not turning in their lists by April 18 will not be counted in the competition.

The original deadline was April 1, but was extended because of spring vacation.

The committee added that anyone has not received the information necessary for reports, they should get in touch with Bruce Kennedy at No. 16th.

Final Moot Court Competition Schedule To Begin at State Capitol Tonight

The Allen Memorial Moot Court finals will be held April 9 at 7:30 p. m.

The finals will be held in the chambers of the Nebraska Supreme court in the state capitol building.

Junior in Law School who have not been eliminated in Moot Court competition in their first two years of Law School will make up the two competing teams.

The final competitors for this year's Moot Court are the teams of Gayle Stahl and Robert Moodie and Lewis Pierce and Leonard Hampes.

The case this year concerns the income tax liability of a retired law professor, William Erickson. Prof. James Lake of the Law college faculty drafted the case.

The competition is an integrated part of the curriculum of the college designed to train law students in the preparation of briefs and the oral argument of appellate court cases.

Freshmen

Under the rules of the competition, freshmen law students are divided into teams of two students. Each team competes against another student team with one argument for each team being held every semester until in the final semester of the third year when only two teams are left.

These two teams are then paired to meet in the finals of the competition.

The winners are rewarded with keys and their names are placed upon a bronze plaque situated on the first floor of the Law college building.

This is the sixth year of the competition.
