NU Student Given Local Jaycee Title

Lyle W. Denniston, freshman in the University School of Journalism, has been named as "Outstanding Young Man of the Year" by the Nebraska City Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He served as secretary and publicity chairman for the Jaycees during 1951. As a reporter for the Nebraska City News-Press, he started his journalism career. Denniston is now a member of the editorial staff of the Lincoln Journal.

In Nebraska City he took an active part in local and district Lions club work, the Order of DeMolay, local and district Boy Scouts and the national guard.

In June 1951, he received the Degree of Chevalier awarded by the DeMolays. Five Nebraska DeMolays received the degree "for outstanding DeMolay labor." Denniston received the honor while serving as scribe-treasurer of Otoc chapter.

Denniston was public relations non-commissioned officer, secretary of the Non-commissioned Officers club and a weapon squad leader of the Nebraska City National Guard detachment, Company A. He was eligible for a second lieutenant's commission but did not make application when he was discharged to attend the University.

AWS Expands Coed Follies Competition

Associated Women Students will introduce a new form of competition in the traditional Coed Follies.

Between-act entertainment— those acts between curtain acts and skits—will be on a competitive basis.

Tryouts for the acts will be held after finalists have been selected for skits and curtain acts. The system has been adopted in order to give an opportunity for participation to those whose acts are not included in the formal program.

Dates for tryouts have not been determined but will be announced in The Daily Nebraskan.

Judges for acts will be the AWS court and several members of the faculty.

All interested women students or women's organizations are urged to contact Sue Holmes at 2-3287.

Union Members Attend Conference At Kansas U

Five persons from the Union met to discuss Union improvement with student union officials from 11 other schools at a regional conference at Kansas university last Friday and Saturday.

Union director Duane Lake; assistant director, Roger Larson; Bob LaShelle, Nancy Wier and Charles Widmaier represented the University.

Through workshops and discussions representatives exchanged suggestions for union improvements, management and activities. Each group explained systems that had worked in their home organizations and together they worked out plans for unions still in the "paper stage."

According to L. Shelle, the University maintains one of the outstanding student unions in the region including Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri. "The Union has a

'Winds Of Morning' Offers Reader Quarter Of Pleasure

H. L. Davis' latest novel, "Winds of Morning" (William Morrow and Co., New York, 1952) offers a quartet of pleasures for the reader whose afternoon is slow or who wants a good fireside companion for an evening.

Old Hendricks, a horse herder, and Amos Clarke, young sheriff's assistant, make a pair of lovable opposites who create, cultivate, and cure the intrigue in the story. Their job of herding horses to the Columbia river back-country in the 1920's is colored by a murder, Indian squabbles, a love affair and a mysterious young companion whose true character pops through only in the last few pages.

Pleasure number one is the way the author spins the old yarns with a new twist. Old Hendricks views the Great Northwest as a veteran and his story-telling fascinate the green young deputy and the reader. Along with the story-telling comes the second pleasure of a live background unfamiliar to our generation but created with such cleverness that one feels he can picture the wildlife and setting in imaginative technical.

For once, a novel has appeared minus the heavy stress on sex. Amos' fondness for Calanthe, a young girl whose father's name implies trouble, is merely expressed, not over-emphasized. The spicy humor of the old herder and a few choice native jokes keep the reader satisfied. Number four pleasure, a well-woven murder story which keeps Amos busy on the side, also makes up for the missing "sex-full" mood.

Davis, whose "Honey In The Horn" won the Pulitzer Prize a few years ago, has already been ear-marked for more awards with this book. "Winds of Morning" goes a step beyond most new novels. Besides showing a new glimpse of the "Roaring Twenties," it has character.

Historical Society To Finish Bldg. In '53

Nebraska State Historical Society's new building will be completed late in 1952 or early in 1953.

So announced James E. Lawrence, editor of The Lincoln Star and Historical Society president, at a Rotary club meeting Tuesday.

The structure which is being constructed on the University campus facing 15th street will provide the Society with quarters including 45,000 square feet of floor space. The present facilities of the Society are 19,000 square feet.

Lawrence explained that the museum will be on the first floor, with the offices and library on the second and storage space in the basement.

UMT Opposition

The national Council of Churches of Christ, the world's largest religious organization, declared its opposition to Universal Military Training.

The 29 Protestant and Eastern Orthodox churches who belong to the council have a combined membership of more than 31 million persons.

Daniel Defoe, author of "Robinson Crusoe" was a strong Protestant and a fearless advocate of the country in the interests of the people. Because of his views and various pamphlets attacking the Government of his day, he had to suffer imprisonment. On one occasion he was made to stand in the public pillory but the citizens of London admired him so much that when he was in the pillory they brought offerings of flowers to him and had to be kept away by soldiers.

Table Tennis Tournament Opens Feb. 8

Competition in the intramural table tennis tournament sponsored by the Union recreation committee will begin Friday, Feb. 8.

A trophy will be awarded to the first place winner and medals to contestants placing second and third. The contest, held on an individual basis, will be an elimination tournament until the quarter-finals. A round-robin will complete the competition.

Students may sign up in the Union activities office Friday or at organized houses from Monday until Tuesday morning. Each house is limited to five contestants.

All who sign up for the tournament are requested by the Union committee to check in the activities office, Thursday, Feb. 7, to learn the names of their partners.

Draft To Call Fewer Men Than Forecast

There has been a major change in the draft picture.

An aide to Selective Service director, Lewis B. Hershey, announced Thursday that there will be a definite decrease in the number of men called by the draft from here on out.

The news is contrary to a statement Hershey gave to the house armed services committee earlier in the day. At that time Hershey forecast an increase in quotas, but the aide's announcement said that the General's figures were based on old information and the picture has changed since then.

In a written statement to the committee, Hershey said that the armed forces will call upon Selective Service for 430,000 men during the seven months ending June 30.

A Selective Service spokesman, however, telephoned news services that the figure was out-dated and based on "the situation as it existed in November."

A sharp drop in the rate of casualties in Korea and an increase in enlistments made it possible for the decrease in the draft quotas.

In Nebraska, Brig. Gen. Guy N. Henninger described the announcement as "welcome news." He added that an increase in quotas would be hard to meet under the present classification method.

The state's January call was 898. The call for February is 661 and March, 403.

Hershey's original testimony indicated that the Selective Service quotas for the April-May-June period would be more than 90,000 men a month.

That would have meant, on the basis of past Nebraska figures, that more than 1,000 men would be called from this state in each of the three months.

Connies Corner

It's sassiety time again! The first news of the day is news of engagements. Marilyn Jo Martin has announced her engagement to Frank Major. Ditto with Marilyn Junglaus from Grand Island and John Woodin.

Elizabeth Taylor may be present at the Sigma Chi sweetheart formal, thanks to the efforts of one Hank "Beetle" Mullen. It seems that Hank made a long distance call to Hollywood to ask Miss Taylor to come to the dance. He got as far as her secretary, but she said that she would see that Miss Taylor got the message and would either write or wire an answer.

Some AOP's and Kappa Sigs are making an evening of it this Friday at King's . . . with Ralph Flanagan. Some of the couples are: Myrna Walston and John Gibbons; Polly Stratton and Gus Wolf; Scampy Quigly and John Bailey; and Nanci DeBord and Don Browning.

Other weekend dates include: Marlene Ogden and Dick Hutchins; Ruth Green and L. G. Lawrence; Lois Larson and Jerry Johnson; Beth Blaizer and her fiancé Don Innis; Marlene Bell and Bob Chincock.

One of the big dances of the weekend will be the annual Inter-Fraternity ball. Some of dates will be: Jayne Wade and her steady Bill Anderson; Lorene Graver and Kent Kelley; Joyce

This is the second University film selected for world-wide distribution.

FORBISH SETS NEW IC4A RECORD ENTERS SUBSCRIPTION TO TIME ON BOOKSTORE MACHINE IN 31.7 SECONDS

Ned Forbish, crack pinballer, juke box and slot machine maestro set a new flat track record in the bookstore last Thursday, as he negotiated the four steps required to enter a subscription to TIME on the bookstore's automatic vending machine without getting winded.

In his record breaking performance, Forbish used his famous 1923 "two-bit piece" which previously had enabled him to hit seven successive jackpots at Las Vegas last summer.

Off the mark poorly, Forbish gave little indication that his subscription order would set a new IC4A standard. At the first turn, depositing the required four quarters, Forbish was clocked in 13.5, slow time due to a reluctance to part with the dough. Pacing himself nicely, Forbish finished step

#2 in good time—filling in his name and address on the order form with the pencil provided at 30 seconds on the nose.

Going into the third step in ordering TIME, Forbish sprinted. His clocking for pressing the delivery button was a neat 0.5. From then on Forbish breezed to his record by knocking off difficult step #4—grabbing his receipt—in the amazing time of 1.2 seconds.

Besides the accolades that came to him as the new bookstore record-holder, Forbish received 4 months of TIME for only $1.00, the lowest rate ever offered any college student anywhere.

We invite you to take a crack at the new vending machine and to try TIME at this special student rate—4 months for only $1.00.
