

Six Students Acclaim

Earned $3 An Hour, But Paid $40 Weekly For Room-Board, 75 Cents For Can Of Beer

Six University men are home again following a summer invasion of Alaska staged via a '52 Chevrolet station wagon and the Alaskan Highway.

Jack Paap, Con Woolwine, Don Larson and Bill Melcher, all members of Phi Gamma Delta, and Keith Mumby and Ted Egan, of Beta Theta Pi left June 2 and made the trip in eight days. Egan and Mumby were veterans, having spent the summer of '51 in Alaska.

Egan, Mumby, Woolwine and Larson were employed by the Peter Kiewit Construction Company of Omaha at Ladd Field near Fairbanks, the northernmost United States Air Force base. Egan and Mumby had worked previously for the company.

Woolwine and Larson, according to their definition, were concrete crew members, sanitation engineers, sewer pipe and cesspool specialists. Egan and Mumby poured concrete lids for the Utila-door water system.

The foursome was quartered at the north camp near Fairbanks in an old army barracks. Board and room cost $40.25 a week. Meals were served family style in a mess hall. According to the boys, there was plenty of food, but it was very expensive since it all had to be flown in. Milk was 69 cents a quart and beer 75 cents a can.

The north camp was located three miles from Fairbanks. The foursome described the entertainment facilities as "two movies and two solid streets of bars." The world premiere of "The World In His Arms" was held there during the summer. The movie starred Gregory Peck and Ann Blyth. Miss Blyth appeared in person.

The group reported witnessing one 24-hour stretch of sun on June 21. "There was never any real darkness," Larson said. The temperature averaged 60 degrees during the summer, but the group reported frost in Fairbanks when they left. The weather highlight was ten straight days of rain.

Larson and Woolwine earned $3.22 an hour, 54 hours a week with time and a half for hours over 40. Mumby and Egan drew $3.07 for the same number.

Paap and Melcher were employed at Point Barrow, 500 miles north of Fairbanks. They worked as geophysical instrument placement engineers for Arctic Contractors. They applied for work at the office of the company in Fairbanks and got their job through Bob Rutledge, an alumnus of the University, who is petroleum geologist for Arctic Contractors.

Melcher and Paap lived in army barracks and paid only $10.50 a week for board and room. Wages were $1.75 an hour, nine hours a day, seven days a week with time and a half for hours over 40.

The temperature ranged from 50 to 30 degrees. "We didn't see any women for three months and the beer ration was five cans a week," Paap complained.

Left with only books for companions, Paap claims to have become an expert on Catholicism, Communism, chess, architecture and Robert Service. Egan, Mumby, Larson and Woolwine are now experts on hootch, klotch and broken phonograph records. Wine, women and song, that is, to the layman.

The group had a strong word to say about unions. "We don't believe in unions and they are definitely on their way out," they chorused.

According to the foursome quartered at Fairbanks, the Fairbanks local refused to honor union membership held in the States. No transfers or new memberships could be accepted until the 2,000 unemployed in Fairbanks had been absorbed or left the area. This ruling held Woolwine and Larson unemployed for a month. Egan and Mumby as old members were in good standing and Paap and Melcher were out of the union area. The two unemployed finally managed to get on the list.

Mumby returned to the States July 20. He flew to Cheyenne, Wyo., for two days of the Frontier Days celebration before leaving on a navy cruise to Panama. The station wagon was sold in Alaska and the rest of the group also flew home. All Paap and Melcher to the College Paap and Melcher to the college of Medicine in Omaha.

"If you're planning a trip to Alaska, forget it, or see us and we'll talk you out of it. But we are all going back," they say.

Alaska

Dean's Tea

All women students and house chaperons are invited to the annual tea given by Miss Marjorie Johnson, dean of women, and her staff in Ellen Smith Hall Friday from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m.

The tea is a tradition on the campus and officially opens the University social season. Freshman women and new students are especially invited to attend.

Freshman 'Know-How' Series Starts

COED COUNSELORS

Coed Counselors will present their annual series of programs for freshman women entitled "Campus Know-How" in Love Library Auditorium beginning Sept. 24 at 5 p.m.

The first program will explain some of the traditions of campus life such as Homecoming and Ivy Day.

Coeds will relate at the second program, Oct. 1, the uses and facilities of the Union along with some "Do's and Don'ts" of campus life. This program is entitled "College Daze."

The last of these programs will be Oct. 8 and will be run by the A.W.S. This program, which will be a week before the Activities Mart, will explain to the new coeds the various activities and the point system concerning them.

State Retail Trade Increases In July

Retail trade in Nebraska took a turn for the better during July, according to preliminary figures compiled by the University of Nebraska's department of business research.

Of seven cities covered, McCook showed the greatest gain; 29.5 percent over July of 1951, and 8.3 over June. Samplings from 12 county rural areas showed Kimball county 55.8 percent better than a year ago but slightly under June of this year.

"Building activity was the only series which dropped from last year," the department's report said. "The low state of building activity was marked in all cities except Grand Island, Scottsbluff and Columbus. Band debits were up in every city except Norfolk, and the use of electricity increased everywhere except in Chadron."

Morrow To Speak At IVCF Meeting

The Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship will have Rev. Ord. Morrow from the Christian Missionary Church at Havelock as the guest speaker at a Thursday evening meeting. Morrow will be speaking on "The Word."

Faculty members are invited by the IVCF to attend these meetings, which are held at 7:30 every Thursday evening in Room 315 of the Union. Group singing and special musical numbers are a regular part of each program.

Lambert States Need For Ag, Industrial Program In Iraq

A stronger program both agriculture and industry is needed for the Iraq government, Dean of Agricultural college, W. V. Lambert revealed.

Lambert, along with Dr. Kenneth Kopf of Iowa State College, formed a team which inspected Iraq for the Food and Agricultural Organization of the United Nations.

He said that the buying power of the people must be raised before the country will produce what it is capable of producing. This low buying power of the people is attributed to the fact that few people own land and very little industry is present in the land.

The team viewed the experi-

FACULTY CHANGES

Fifty-Five New Staff Members Begin Duties At NU This Fall

AN UNUSUAL MUSICAL GROUP . . . The Longines Symphonette, with approximately one-fourth the personnel of a symphony orchestra, approaches a symphony in quality of selections and musicianship.

University To Play Host To Longine Symphonette

With the appearance of the Longines Symphonette, Oct. 2 at the Coliseum, the University will play host to one of the most beloved features in the field of broadcasting today.

The Symphonette is now in its eleventh consecutive year of radio and promises to continue much longer. It has become known as "the average man's symphony orchestra" through its wide appeal to those who make no claim to a proper understanding of classical music, yet not only the average men, but the experts as well, have recognized its accomplishments.

The annual poll of the music critics of America has proclaimed it the foremost concert orchestra in radio five times since its debut in 1941.

The Longines Symphonette is an unusual development in the contemporary musical world. Although it consists of about 31 members, in contrast to a full symphony of 100 or more, the balance of instruments has been maintained in all but the string section.

Each man is a virtuoso in his own field, which allows the Symphonette to produce its selections with a rare clarity and accuracy. The only near counterpart to the group would be found in the orchestra of Mozart's and Beethoven's time. Like those orchestras, the Symphonette prefers to play the outstanding movements from longer compositions, but the modern strides in the development of musical instruments give the Symphonette a strong advantage.

As a result of the long radio engagement, the Symphonette has perhaps the largest repertory ever mastered by a concert group. Transcriptions are arranged to conform strictly to the composer's individual style and every piece of music, as far as possible is played from the original score. Mischel Piaastro has conducted over 25,000 compositions in his career, more than double the usual number.

Since the Longine Symphonette specializes in short selections, Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata" is almost certain to be played at the concert here. On the same evening, radio listeners will hear the University students will be greeted by brand new personalities in many classrooms this year as 55 new faculty members have been added to the staff. The new appointments are:

R. Chase Allred, assistant professor of Agronomy; Roy C. Lipps, instructor in Agronomy; Donald Hanway, assistant professor of Agronomy; Thomas L. Thompson, assistant professor of Bacteriology; Calvin McMillan, assistant professor of Botany; Sue Ellen Lane, instructor in Classics; F. Wayne House, associate professor of Business Education; Robert H. Thomas, assistant professor of Dairy Husbandry;

Thomas Drangsholt, instructor in Operative Dentistry; Raleigh P. Gibson, assistant instructor in Operative Dentistry; George Babbitt, instructor in Economics; Lyle Edmondson, instructor in Educational Psychology and Measurements, part time; Gertrude M. Savery, Raymond Schroeder and James K. Varney, instructors in Elementary Education, part time; Gene B. Hardy, Arthur R. Heiserman, William J. Kirwin Jr., James M. Schroeter, Robert D. Welch and Mrs. Louise Y. Jennings, instructors in English; Waldo A. Dahlstedt, Jack Campbell and Frank J. Kleager, instructors in History and Principles of Education, part time.

Joan M. Ellison, assistant professor of Home Economics; Marie Skellenger, Lorraine Wilson and Mary Ellen Michaud, instructors in Home Economics; Robert Faris, Freshman Football Coach; James Morrison, assistant professor of Journalism; Wesley A. Poe, Guidance Consultant, Junior Division and Counseling Service.

Reginald A. H. Robson, assistant professor of Legislation; A. Elizabeth Holt, Librarian, College of Law, with rank of assistant professor; Virginia Logan, Senior Assistant Librarian, Acquisitions Department, with rank of instructor; Herman R. Storm, Assistant Librarian, Social Studies and Technical Service Divisions, with rank of instructor; Sherwood Kirk, Senior Assistant Librarian, College of Agriculture, with rank of instructor.

Witold Saski, assistant professor of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Chemistry; Betty F. McCue, associate professor of Physical Education for Women; Barbara L. Drinkwater, Dorothy Hanpeter, Lucille J. Kolind, Patricia Ann Sullivan, instructors in Physical Education for Women; Lloyd M. Elrod, instructor in Physiology.

Jack W. Rodgers, instructor in Political Science; Katherine E. Baker, assistant professor of Psychology; Boyd D. Simson, instructor in Psychology; Harold E. Linnell, instructor in Romance Languages.

Frank G. Bock and David F. Hayes, instructors in Speech and Dramatic Art; Harlan Adams, instructor in Speech and Speech Correction; Julius Samuels, assistant professor of Social Work, part time; Albert Schreckinger, assistant professor of Social Work; Leland S. Olsen, assistant professor of Zoology and Anatomy; Carl W. Gugler, instructor in Zoology and Anatomy; Phil N. Rueschhoff, Coordinator of Art in Extension and assistant professor of Art.

Mailing Laundry?
Closing out these fine canvas cases. Half Price. Were 2.50, now 1.25.
Goldenrod Stationery Store
215 North 14th Street

Psych Prof Tells 10 Ways To Get Out Of Studying

Hey, freshmen! Now you can stop worrying about the necessity of studying cutting into the time you would like to spend sleeping, or th time you could spend playing bridge, or with the opposite sex.

Of course this doesn't concern upperclassmen, for they have long since learned to dispense with studying.

Robert Tyson of the Psychology Department at Hunter College, who evidently thought he would have less to do if the students didn't need to work so hard, has just come up with a helpful program to help you stay in college without spending much time doing it. The best way would be for the professors to cut down their assignments, but since they won't do that little thing, here are Tyson's "10 Easy Steps."

1. Bring the professor newspaper clippings dealing with his subject. Demonstrates fiery interest and gives him timely items to mention to the class. If you can't find clippings dealing with his subject, bring in clippings at random. He thinks everything deals with his subject.

2. Look Alert. Take notes eagerly. If you look at your watch, don't stare at it unbelievably and shake it.

3. Nod frequently and murmur, "How true!" To you, this seems exaggerated. To him, it's quite objective.

4. Sit in front, near him. (Applies only if you intend to stay awake.) If you're going to all the trouble of making a good impression, you might as well let him know who you are, especially in a large class.

5. Laugh at his jokes. You can tell. If he looks up from his notes and smiles expectantly, he has told a joke.

6. Ask for outside reading. You don't have to read it. Just ask.

7. If you must sleep, arrange to be called at the end of the hour. It creates an unfavorable impression if the rest of the class has left and you sit there alone, dozing.

8. Be sure the book you read during the lecture looks like a book from the course. If you do math in psychology class and psychology in math class, match the books for size and color.

9. Ask any questions you think he can answer. Conversely, avoid announcing that you have found the answer to a question he couldn't answer, and in your younger brother's second-grade reader at that.

10. Call attention to his writings. Produces an exquisitely pleasant experience connected with you. If you know he's written a book or an article, ask in class if he wrote it.

As to whether or not you want to do some work, in addition to all this, well, it's a controversial point and up to you.

Cornhusker Meeting Set For Sept. 18

Pat Bechan, Cornhusker editor, has announced the first meeting of section heads, managing editors and the entire yearbook staff at 3 p.m. Thursday.

The meeting will be to discuss plans, formulate schedules and in general begin work. It will be held in the Cornhusker office.

An executive meeting will be held at the University Public Relations office preceding the general meeting. Miss Bechan, Don Noble, business manager, and Cal Kuska, head photographer, will meet with Ken Keller, assistant director of public relations, and Journal-Star representatives to discuss printing plans and look over tentative Cornhusker layouts.

Calendar Sales High But Sellers Needed

The Builders have announced that their calendar sales are good. Almost every organized house has salesmen. For those houses who want to sell the calendars, and have not already sent over workers, there will be another meeting Wednesday at 5 p.m., in the Builders' Office.

Sales will continue until 6 p.m., Sept. 22 and the houses will be notified that evening of the number of calendar girls that they can enter in the annual contest.

Calendar Sales High But Sellers Needed

Lambert, along with Dr. Kenneth Kopf of Iowa State College, formed a team which inspected Iraq for the Food and Agricultural Organization of the United Nations.

He said that the buying power of the people must be raised before the country will produce what it is capable of producing. This low buying power of the people is attributed to the fact that few people own land and very little industry is present in the land.

The team viewed the experi-

Vic Vet says

VETERANS WITH SERVICE SINCE JUNE 27, 1950 MAY GET VA OUTPATIENT CARE FOR DISABILITIES THAT ARE BELIEVED TO BE SERVICE-CONNECTED AND FOR WHICH THEY NEED IMMEDIATE CARE

For full information contact your nearest VETERANS ADMINISTRATION office

Father Of University Coed Is Now Brigadier General

Brigadier generals are mighty few in the Army Air Force Medical Corps. Brig. Gen. Loyd E. Griffis achieved this rank on Sept. 5, after 22 years of service.

General Griffis is the father of Ann Griffis, University coed. The general attended Beatrice High School and is a graduate of the University Medical School, Class of '29. His wife is a former Unit and determine their crew positions.

When General Griffis entered the army in January, 1930, his only intention was to intern and get out. It didn't work that way. He kept joining up for just one more hitch. His early training included cavalry drills on horseback with a sword.

It has been a rambling commission for the general and his family. He was stationed in California in the beginning. Ann was born at Ft. San Houston outside of San Antonio, Texas. They have lived in Missouri, Washington D. C. and have spent two years in Panama.

During the war General Griffis was stationed at Wright-Patterson, Ohio as head of the Aero-Medical Research Laboratories. There he worked on the G-2 suit, designed to inflate during powder dives to protect the life of the pilot. He was awarded a Legion of Merit for his work on psychological testing to determine the assignment of flying men. These tests were designed to test accuracy and other factors to prove men fit or unfit for flying and determine their crew positions.

The war ended on the general's birthday, August 14, 1945. The day he was to leave to see-eat lunch out every noon or are too busy after classes to join another commission group should enjoy the discussion topics and preparing the lunches.

YW Drive To Begin Thursday . . .

(continued from p. 1)

Comparative Religions discuss the various religions, thus strengthening your own, and gaining a fuller understanding of others.

Office Staff is a different commission group in which the members learn many things about the "Y" by working in the office.

Worship Workshop is designed to study and plan inspiring devotional services and put religious knowledge to practical use.

Christian Beliefs discusses with other students the various phases of Christianity.

Camp Counseling is or those interested in leading and obtain-she comments. He is firmly convinced of the future of flying.

He joined the Air Force as soon as was possible. According to Ann he believes that the only limit to flying is man himself. Man can't take it. It is the job of flight medicine to make it possible for the human body to withstand the punishment it must take as progress is made in the air. The G-2 suit was a step in this direction.

When Ann entered the University it was the fifteenth school she had attended. While overseas she attended school set up by the Department's Service and staffed by teachers shipped in from the U. S.

POLIO FACTS

Prepared by the SISTER KENNY FOUNDATION in a public service.

DURING POLIO EPIDEMIES . . .

EXERCISE NORMAL PRECAUTIONS AGAINST EXPOSURE TO A COMMUNICABLE DISEASE.

CONTACTS WITH NEW GROUPS SHOULD BE AVOIDED.

CLEANLINESS OF EVERY THING TAKEN INTO THE MOUTH MUST BE CAREFULLY GUARDED, AND CONTACT WITH FLIES OR ANYTHING BURGEONED UPON.

AVOID SWIMMING IN POLLUTED WATER.

AVOID OVER FATIGUE FROM SULTING RE-TOO ACTIVE PLAY LATE HOURS. WORRY OR IRREGULAR LIVING.

WHAT TO DO WHEN POLIO STRIKES

CALL YOUR DOCTOR! EARLY APPLICATION OF KENNY TREATMENT IS IMPORTANT IN PREVENTING CRIPPLING. ADMISSION TO A KENNY TREATMENT CENTER IS ARRANGED THROUGH YOUR DOCTOR. THE FULL KENNY TREATMENT IS ADMINISTERED BY FULLY TRAINED KENNY THERAPISTS.

USE DAILY NEBRASKAN Classified Ads

To place a classified ad

- Stop in the Business Office Room 20 Student Union
- Call 2-7631 Ext. 4226 for Classified Service

Hours 1-4:30 Mon. thru Fri.

THRIFTY AD RATES

No. words	1 day	2 days	3 days	4 days	1 week
1-10	$.40	$.65	$.85	$1.00	$1.20
11-15	.50	.80	1.05	1.25	1.45
16-20	.60	.95	1.25	1.50	1.70
21-25	.70	1.10	1.45	1.75	1.95
26-30	.80	1.25	1.65	2.00	2.20

EMPLOYMENT

WANTED—Tenor sax man for local dance band, playing polka and modern music. Phone 6-9218.

INSTRUCTION

GET THAT JET—Learn shorthand and get in stride. Shorthand in 30 days. 2-1482. 1118 Federal Securities Building.

FOR SALE

Almost new Remington portable typewriter. Perfect Condition. 2-4683.

HELP WANTED

PART TIME JOBS

We can place three male students in our food service department. These are non-hour positions. Hours will be 11-2. Five days per week. Duties will be carrying trays of dishes. Apply employment office 7th floor.

MILLER & PAINE

PART TIME STENO

We have a position for a part time stenographer in our personnel office. Hours will be afternoons plus all day on Saturdays. Apply employment office 7th floor.

MILLER & PAINE

STUDENT WIVES

Are you interested in obtaining an enjoyable job? The university has several desirable secretarial and typing positions open. Salaries vary with your experience and training. Vacation and sick leave benefits are liberal. See Miss Robinson at the Personnel Department in room 200, Administration Hall.

FOR SALE

1941 Chevrolet, coach; good condition for entire winter's transportation plus. Phone 60-5272.

Almost new Remington portable typewriter. Condition perfect. 2-4639.

Rooms For Rent

644 South 26—University boys. Block from bus. 2-5286.