ENGINEER'S WEEK APRIL 30

EE's To Present 'Gee-Whobbles,' 'Doo-Dads'

Ferguson Hall will blossom this spring, but in a different way than is associated with Mother Nature. On April 30, during Engineer's Open House, Electrical Engineers will present a varied program of gimmicks, gadgets, and gee-whobbles along with the serious applications of Electrical Engineering.

Among the fantasies will be an electronic watch-timer, an apparatus which will time your watch with the highest precision to tell whether and how much your watch is gaining or losing. Also featured will be a remote control height measurement; in other words, the EE's can tell you how tall you are by simply twisting a dial from across the room.

The EE's will also display futuristic lamps, lamps lighted without any wires attached. The filament will glow and there will be no visible means there to supply the electrical power needed. It's all done with high frequency radiated energy, energy transmitted through the ether.

The cost of electrical appliances per hour can be accurately observed by simply watching a set of meters. The engineers will have several common household appliances hooked-up to operate in series with a wattmeter or two calibrated read dollars and cents. Included will be some timely advice as to the loading of household circuits with too many appliances. One of the most intriguing displays will be the strength tester. This one is similar to the appliance display mentioned above, but it measures how much you are worth in dollars and cents. All you have to do is turn the handle and watch the lights flash. The EE's can also determine your relative strength according to how hard you turn the handle when the device is loaded down.

Synchronizing of alternators in a way to that done in any city power plant will be demonstrated. Many of the switches and safety devices will be demonstrated to show precautions taken by local power companies to insure continuous electrical service.

A stroboscopic display will stop a shattering disc at 10,000 rpm to show the pieces just as they leave the hub. A paper disc will be spun at no less than 10,000 rpm until it shatters.

The Electrical Engineers will ask onlookers to sit in their

"electric chair" again this year. As last year, they claim no ill effects after withstanding half a million volts. The engineers explain that the current passes over your skin instead of through your body as in the usual 60 cycle "chair."

The midget transistor will be displayed on the third floor of Ferguson Hall by some of the electronic majors. This little device resembling a pencil eraser with a few hair-like wires protruding will replace the larger glass radio tube. This little device promises to revolutionize the electronic industry.

Pointing to the inter-relationship of love and logic in healing, the speaker declared that "Jesus healed with love—and with logic. Logic, coupled with love—heals. This is because it heals 'by explaining the truth to us.'"

"The good reports commonly heard about Christian Science," he said, "are that it teaches that God is Love, that it appeals to reason, and that it is practical."

A bachelor met a girl at a party and fell madly in love with her at first sight. "You're the girl of my dreams," he kept telling her during the party and on the way home. When they got to her apartment he took the key and opened the door. And there in the middle of the living room was a dead horse. The man stared, horrified.

"Well, for goodness sake," said the girl, "I didn't say I was neat, did I?"

A spinster was shocked at the language used by workmen repairing a telephone line near her home, so she wrote the company. The foreman was requested immediately to make a report of what had happened.

The report read as follows: "Me and Spike was on the job. I was up the pole and let the hot lead fall on Spike—right down his neck. Spike looked up at me and said, 'Really, Harry, you must be more careful.'"

He sipped the nectar from her lips, As under the moon they sat— And wondered if ever before, a man Had drunk from a mug like that.

The weather man says that it should rain tomorrow. The temperatures will range from about 40 to 60 degrees.

Father (peeping timidly into a fraternity house): "Does John Jones live here?"

Voice from the inside: "Ya, just throw him on the couch."

A great big beautiful car pulled up to the curb where a cute little working girl was waiting for a bus. A gentleman stuck his head out and said, "Hello, I'm driving west."

"How wonderful," said the girl, "bring me back an orange."
