Contest Rules

- The object of the The Nebraskan Medico Pipes Football Forecast is to select winners of 10 college football games to be played each week end with the total points scored by the combined teams to be used to break ties.
- The games are listed on the official contest coupon. Place an "X" beside your forecasted winner or a "T" if you predict a tie. Leave the blank opposite teams you predict to lose blank.
- One may enter only one entry blank per week. The contest winner will be published Tuesday of the following week of the game.
- All postponed games will be eliminated from the contest.
- No member of The Nebraskan is eligible to participate in the contest; otherwise the contest is open to all Nebraska University students and members.

The Pause That Refreshes

Minnesota's McNamarras Praise NU Forward Wall

By "COKE" FRIEDMAN

Guess by this time most of us are sober enough to be able to read this column, and I think those who aren't (those lucky fools) are not missing anything anyway. (I should get 100% school support on this statement.)

Wonder what the boys from Boulder especially those under 21, will think of Nebraskan when they visit here next year, after having spent a delightful nine months just within walking distance of the "pubs".

Can't say anything about school spirit after the way the students cheered and yelled at the C.U. game. Hope all those students aren't just "fair weather friends." Your reporter was one of the unfortunate few that wasn't able to make the trip to Colorado. Had to go up to Minneapolis, Minnesota on official business. Stayed next to the Phi Gam house, home of Bob and Pinky MacNamarra, and talked to some of Bob's and Pinky's frat brothers. They said that Bob and Pinky had great respect for Nebraska's line, and thought that this year's team was one of the best Nebraska teams that they had played against in recent years.

With the close of this column comes the end of "The Pause That Refreshes." Time for the "old Coke" to start studying. See you at the game, "COKE"

Huskers Underdogs In Tiger Tilt; Giles Hiked; Two Linemen Lauded

By MAX KRIETMAN
Sports Staff Writer

A capacity crowd of 35,000 is expected to jam Memorial Stadium tomorrow for the important meeting between the Missouri Tigers and the Nebraska Cornhuskers.

Coach Don Faurot, in his 29th year at Missouri, is considered the father of the famed split-T. Saturday's game will see the master and his machine in action, plus his favorite passing weapon, the spread. This offense is used to great advantage by Faurot, as there are three expert passers in his camp.

Passing Game

Vic Eaton, starting quarterback, Tony Scardina, number two signal-caller, and halfback Jack Fox do the flipping. Scardina led the conference in passing as a freshman in 1951. Since then he has been plagued with injuries. Eaton then took over the quarterbacking for the Gold 'n Black. Fox, a south-paw thrower, has played with the second team for three years. A good passing game can very well be expected from MU. Eaton and Scardina have thrown 61 passes, completing 32 of them.

The Tiger running game has been divided pretty evenly. Halfback Ray Detring is leading the Bengals with 120 yards gained.

Bob Bauman, Scardino, and Fox have all been close, with 93, 80, and 73 yards. Fox is the leading scorer with 21 points. Bauman and Jack Hunter are next with 12 tallies.

For their outstanding play last week, guard Charlie Bryant and tackle Don Glantz were selected as all-American candidates. Both men have been playing stellar roles in the success of the NU line this year. Glantz is game captain this week.
