Leonard Singer, senior in the College of Business Administration, has been named circulation manager. His appointment came with the resignation of Dave Majors.

Special Committee Requests Ideas For Spring Activities

"What's Up?"

"Big Idea"

By JUDY BOST
All grouchy grippers have a chance to speak now, or forever hold their peace. The committee planning a spring activity for the campus has issued a plea for suggestions.

Students have complained consistently because the University has no spring event comparable to Colorado's CU Days. The sky is the limit on suggestions and committee members will seriously consider any they receive, according to Mike Shugrue, committee member.

Student Opinion

Tom Woodward is chairman of the committee which was chosen by the Student Council. The committee operates aside from the Council.

Any suggestions will be printed in The Nebraskan, which should act as a damper on rambunctious ones. The committee wants to know student reaction to suggestions and would appreciate comments, Shugrue said.

If the idea is successful this year, committee members hope that it will become a tradition. Future members of the world of higher education should have no grounds for believing the University is a dead-beat school and inhabited solely by educated non-socials.

The spring activity should be something that every student on the campus will enjoy and not representative of one or a few groups, Shugrue said.

Committee members are canvassing students for ideas and suggestions for a social event, and suggestions may be submitted to The Nebraskan.

Other committee members are Jo Knapp, Marv Stromer, Ann Kokjer, Jim Cederdahl, Don Novotny, Ken Philbrick, Mike Shugrue, Joyce Taylor, Al Overcash, Courtney Campbell, Roger Berger, Dick Fellman, Sara Hubka, Jack Rhoden and Muriel Pickett.

Previous suggestions have included combining such spring events as the Kosmet Klub Spring Show, Ivy Day, E Week and various other spring events such as All-Sports Day. Iowa State College also has a spring celebration, "Veisha," which includes parades, floats, decorations and a big dance and open house or exposition at all departments.

Film Panel To Discuss World War

"Are We Drifting Toward World War III?" will be the topic for discussion at the Film Forum Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in Love Library Auditorium.

A discussion between Sen. Warren Magnuson (D-Wash.) and Rep. Charles Brownson (R-Ind) will be featured in the film. Marquis Childs, news analyst, moderates the film panel.

Magnuson is serving his second term in Congress. He authored the idea of concluding a Pacific pact similar to the Atlantic Pact. The treaty, he urged, would be an effective way of stopping Communist gains in the Orient.

Brownson has served two terms in the House. He saw action in many theaters of operations in World War II, rising to the rank of Lt. Colonel.

The film will be followed by a live panel discussion with A. T. Anderson, associate professor of history, and Colin Jackson, visiting professor of political science.

Last semester, Anderson went to Turkey with a team from the University which laid the groundwork for setting up a university in eastern Turkey on the American model.

Jackson is a graduate of Oxford University in England. He has just arrived at the University following extensive travel through southern Europe, the Middle East, North Africa and the Far East.

Dr. J. L. Sellers, chairman of the history department, will serve as moderator.

The Film Forum series is sponsored jointly by the departments of history and political science, the bureau of audi-visual instruction and the Union seminar committee, of which Ellen Pickett is chairman.

The Outside World Tachens Abandoned

By DICK RAUSTON
Staff Writer
Evacuation of Chinese Nationalist troops from the Tachen Islands began Sunday night under cover of the U.S. Seventh Fleet. The operation has thus far been peaceful, with no signs of Communist opposition.

The Communists have been warned that any attack on the Tachens while the evacuation is in progress will be interpreted as interference with the mission of the Seventh Fleet and will bring instant retaliation. The Reds have seized upon this announcement as new evidence that the United States is guilty of "a war provocation against the People's Republic of China" and of gravely threatening "the peace of the Far East."

Chinese Nationalist President Chiang Kai-shek announced Monday that the evacuation of the 1500 troops from the Tachens was necessary for a redeployment of Nationalist forces in preparation for a counter-attack against the mainland of China.

UN Action For Cease Fire?

The possibility of new diplomatic moves within the United Nations to bring about a cease-fire between the Chinese Reds and the Chinese Nationalists in Formosa was reported in Washington. U.N. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. said there may be an announcement of such a move this week.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith, top Republican on the Senate Foreign Relations Far Eastern Subcommittee, said he would support the move because he believes it would have an "tremendous impact" on world opinion. He said the world would then be served notice of efforts of the United States to obtain peace. If the Russians should veto such a move, he added, it would also make it clear to the world where they stood.

Charley's Aunt

Tickets are now on sale for the Nebraska Masquers' production of "Charley's Aunt" which will be presented Feb. 9-12 in the Arena Theater, Temple Building. Tickets may be purchased from any Masquer for $1.

Applications for production crews will also be taken during the tryout periods.

The play, directed by Max Whitaker, will be produced March 29, 30, 31 and April 1, 2 at Howell Theater at 8 p.m.

'Bloomer Girl'

Tryouts for parts in the annual Kosmet Klub Spring Show, April 21 to 23, will be held four days beginning Feb. 22.

"Bloomer Girl," a musical comedy which ran on Broadway in 1944 for almost 700 performances, has been announced as this year's show. This comedy about a hoop-skirt manufacturer starred Celeste Holm on Broadway and the music was written by Harold Arlen.

Bill Walton, who has directed various University Laboratory Theater productions and is presently directing the Masquers presentation of "Charley's Aunt," will direct the show. Mary Sigler and Bob Antonides will assist.

Miss Sigler, who taught for three years at Fremont before coming to Lincoln, will be technical director. A teacher at David City and Lincoln High and director of the Lincoln Men's Chorus, Bob Antonides will serve as musical director.

Any student desiring a copy of the script may obtain one from Von Innes at the Pi Kappa Phi house. They will be distributed later from a Union booth.

Asked About ROTC

The first question Stromer was asked was his opinion, as a prospective Army Second Lieutenant in June, of the Formosan question. President Eisenhower was also anxious to know a college senior's views on proposed manpower cuts, a change in the ROTC program, and wanted a student's evaluation of the entire ROTC program.

An added purpose of these discussions will be to give the President an appraisal of the prospects in business and professions facing graduating college seniors. Eisenhower said that it was "all well

Stromer Meets Eisenhower

"President Eisenhower immediately puts everyone at ease," Marv Stromer commented after his interview with the President in Washington, Feb. 1.

Stromer had been asked by the President to participate in a special committee of college seniors to discuss a college student's views on international and national affairs. He was flown to the capital city Jan. 30 and returned after a three-day visit.

He confessed that he felt nervous when he first walked into the President's office, but that President Eisenhower immediately shook hands and asked to be called Ike. Stromer observed that Ike looked "very haggard and tired," compared with the time he saw the President in 1952.

Interviews President
At the time of Stromer's visit, the tension of the Formosan situation was in the air and the President's rigid schedule shortened the time for discussion with the college students. Eisenhower was working nearly a 12-hour day and was unable to have a round-table discussion with the group.

The students met for lunch Monday afternoon and then each had and good for Congress to make the policy, but it is the graduating student who is affected," Eisenhower told Stromer to "fire away" with any questions he had. Stromer chatted for a while with

Nelson Jensen Receives NU Chem Award

Nelson R. Jensen Jr. was presented an award for outstanding chemistry freshman student at the University. The award was presented Saturday night at the Phi Lambda Upsilon, national honorary chemistry society, annual banquet.

The society also announced seven new members. They are William E. Franklin; Warren Murdock; Dr. John H. Pazur, assistant professor of chemistry; Dr. Robert B. Johnston, assistant professor of chemistry; John C. David; Norman Miller and Gerald K. Menzie.

George Round, director of the University's Public Relations Department, spoke at the Society's banquet about his trip to Turkey.

Corn Cobs

Corn Cobs will meet Tuesday at 5 p.m. in Union Room 316. Attendance is required.

Society Features 7 Films

Tickets for the annual Film Society movies are now on sale in the Union. Society membership is $2.50 for students, $3 for faculty and $3.60 for local patrons.

The seven foreign movies will be shown at the Capitol Theater, 1523 O St. The first film is the French movie "The Strange Ones," Feb. 23 at 7:30 p.m. The plot is taken from Jean Cocteau's play, "Les Enfants Terribles."

The English movie "Kind Hearts and Coronets" starring Alec Guinness will be March 2 at 7:30 p.m. This satire of ghoulish humor features Guinness portraying eight characters, each murdered in a distinctly unique way.

The German picture "Eroica" will be on March 16. The film tells the story of Beethoven's life.

An American movie "The Louisiana Story" will be shown March 30 at 7:30 p.m. The film is a story of the impression made on the life of a young Cajun boy by the drilling of an oil well in Louisiana bayou country.

"Leonardo De Vinci," an art movie, is April 13 at 7:30 p.m. The film includes De Vinci's observations, speculations and experiments besides showing his famous paintings, sculpture and drawings. The cartoon "The Fifty-first Dragon" will also be shown. The color cartoon is the story of Heywood Brown.

April 27 will be the French movie "Symphonie Pastorale" based on the Pulitzer Prize winning novel by Andre Gide. It is a story of a pastor who befriends a blind girl.

"Hello, Elephant," an Italian movie, will be May 4 at 7:30 p.m. This film is the story of a baby elephant who creates a crisis for a schoolteacher and his four children.
