KK To Retain Supervision Of Ivy Day Song Contest

Innocents Reject Proposal From Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia

Kosmet Klub will again handle the Inter-fraternity Ivy Day Sing this year, Marv Stromer, president of Innocents Society, said Tuesday.

The decision was readied in an Innocents meeting Monday. Kosmet Klub's jurisdiction over the Sing is subject to approval by the Innocents, who were granted authority over the Sing by the Student Council.

"We didn't feel that Kosmet Klub had done such a bad job in previous years," Junior Knobel, vice-president of Innocents, said.

Proposal Rejected

A proposal for joint sponsorship Kosmet Klub and Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, men's professional music fraternity, was rejected. The Innocents felt that such an arrangement would not be feasible.

The groundwork done by Kosmet Klub merits the organization getting the responsibility, Knobel said.

The Innocents recommended that the Sing be an all-University event next year, Knobel said. Any decision regarding the handling of the Ivy Day Sing next year will be made by next year's Innocents, Stromer said. "Kosmet Klub will make this year's sing as good as it can be," Art Raun, vice-president of Kosmet Klub, said. Kosmet Klub president Al Anderson was unavailable for comment.

ROTC Meeting

A panel discussion on ROTC summer camp will be given by Military Police and Infantry senior members of the Provost Corps Wednesday.

The meeting will be held in Room 206 of the Military and Naval Sciences Building at 7:30 p.m.

The rules governing the Sing, altered, Jan. 20 will still hold for this year, according to Raun.

According to the new rules, only fraternity songs may be sung, the minimum number of singers will be 15 and the maximum number will be 25, and no medleys will be allowed.

No soloists will be allowed, Raun said. No one person can be made more prominent than the rest, he said. An entrance fee of $5 and the name of the song chosen by the fraternity must be submitted to Al Anderson, president of Kosmet Klub. Fraternities must also state whether their selection is original or not, Raun said.

Mortar Board will handle the details of the women's sing in the same capacity as Innocents.

Fall Petition

A petition circulated last fall concerning the definite rules and restrictions set down by Kosmet

Klub caused the re-evaluation of Ivy Day Sing administration. The petition was signed by fraternity Ivy Day song leaders in protest of the Kosmet Klub action.

An Innocent-Mortar Board committee met Friday to consider Kosmet Klub or Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia as possible sponsors of the Sing. No decision was reached at the meeting. The Innocent decision Tuesday settled the question of sponsorship for the Sing.

University Citizen's Responsibility

Physicist Compton Advocates Balance Of Activities, Studies For Students

A student who is doing his part in University activities is accepting the responsibility of citizen of the university community, Dr. Arthur H. Compton, Montgomery lecturer, said in a Nebraskan interview Tuesday.

The question of balance between campus activities and academic work must be considered, of course, he said.

Dr. Compton named organizations such as Red Cross and the blood banks as examples of worthwhile organizations in the civic community where the citizen must co-operate to further a free society.

The same philosophy can be applied to campus service organizations, which are working for a better university, Dr. Compton said.

Academic work remains the prime function of the student but it is advisable to establish a working balance between studies and activities, he added.

Preparation For Life Task

In college, the student is preparing for his life task which is more important than relatively minor student activities, Dr. Compton contended.

The student who serious—studies and enters upon task which is important to the community is doing his part, even if it is in an impersonal way, he continued.

"I do not wish to make activities seem unimportant, because they constitute one of the really essential parts of education, which are working together," he said.

It is imperative that students do what they can to understand what is now being done with other nations and within the United States, Dr. Compton said.

The real hazards of society, such as destructive wars and society breakdowns, will come to the serious active stage when the generation now in college is at the helm, he said.

Dr. Compton stated that he was convinced that Communist interests bear real ill-will against the free world.

"Hate-Communists" Philosophy The nation is at present being subjected to a "Hate-Communists" philosophy that is often dragged into issues where it is irrelevant and damaging, he said.

"It is, however, an effective propaganda device for gathering support for the government," Dr. Compton said.

Of all parts of the world, the people of the American Middle West are more at home with science and technology than any other area in the world, he said.

Recently, Dr. Compton was asked to speak at the laying of a cornerstone for a new fraternity house at Washington University.

Fraternities Have A Place He said fraternities, and other similar student groups, have a place on the campus as long as

Nine New Buildings

Medical School Plans New Center

The University College of Medicine in Omaha is growing with the addition of a new $25,000,000 medical center.

This medical center, which will include nine buildings when completed, is intended to show how several types of medical institutions can co-operate while each retains control over its own services.

Part of these buildings will be financed by the University and the rest by private firms. They are all being built on the campus of the College of Medicine, and the complete area is called the medical center.

New Buildings

The new buildings will include an addition to the University Hospital, the new Bishop Clarkson Memorial Hospital, the J. P. Lord School for Crippled Children, the Children's Hospital addition, the Crippled Children's Home, a children's rehabilitation treatment center, the Nebraska Psychiatric Institute, a doctor's office building, the Memorial Research Laboratory and several others in the process of planning.

The new Bishop Clarkson Memorial Hospital, now under construction, will cost approximately $4,000,000 and should provide 300 beds. It will replace the old Clarkson Hospital and Nurses Home which was purchased by the Lutheran Hospital and turned into the Lutheran Medical Center.

The Clarkson nurses quarters have been converted into the Lu-

Married Students

Housing Bill Given Preliminary Approval

Preliminary approval was given by the Legislature Tuesday to a bill which would allow the University and the four state teachers colleges to build housing for married students and instructors.

Legislative Bill 138 removes the provision in present state law under which the Board of Regents must set up a "dummy" corporation to issue bonds for building dormitories for single students.

John K. Selleck, Comptroller of the University, said Monday that "this act will enable us to finance student housing legally, if we think it can pay out."

Dormitory bonds are retired over a period of years from student rentals.

"It is a broad bill," he continued, "that will provide for the financial risk if it built housing for married students.

"Any University building would be modern and fireproof and would probably be heated by the University power plant," he said.

There are 1,249 married students on campus, according to a survey recently conducted by the Nebraska University Dames, an organization of student's wives. The survey revealed that a majority of married students are in favor of more housing facilities.

Married University students pay a rent of between $50 and $70, according to the NU dames report.

Selleck said that housing for young professors is another problem. They have a hard time in finding adequate housing at reasonable rates, he added.

University-owned apartment houses at 16th and R Sts., 15th and S and 16th and S Streets provide housing for University employees.

Chancellor Clifford Hardin said, "We hope it is possible to proceed with the program of University-of-Nebraska-sponsored housing for married students."

Selleck said that no definite building plans have been made. He explained that at least two-and-a-half years would pass before the unit could be built.

Other future buildings planned for the city campus include a law library addition to the College of Law building, and administrative building south of Teachers College, a pharmacy and bacteriology building, a physics building and additional classroom buildings.

Weekend Hours

Closing hours in women's organized houses both Friday and Saturday will be 1 p.m., AWS president Marilyn Brewster announced.

"We feel that since the Inter-fraternity Dance is over at midnight," she said, the additional half hour will enable all students to return in time."

financing of many projects. This provides two things: it broadens our ability to finance in new areas, and the Board of Regents can put their own name on new bonds, thus eliminating 'dummy' corporations."

State Sen. Beaver of Beemer, co-sponsor of the measure, said the act would enable sale of the of interest, and enable sale of the dormitory bonds at a lower rate of interest, thus effecting a saving.

Sen. Metzger of Cedar Creek said the bonds would be "an instrumentality of the state, but not an obligation of the state." Thus by-passing the state constitution's prohibition on state debt over $100,000.

Selleck said Feb. 28 that the University could not force married students to live in University-sponsored housing. He added that the University would be running a

The Outside World

Dulles Reports

By DICK RALSTON
Staff Writer

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles reportedly outlined a firm "no appeasement" policy toward Communist China in a report before a closed session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Dulles is said to be of the opinion that Red China is not bluffing in its threats to take Formosa. However, he didn't say whether he expected them to attempt to take the island by force or subversion. Dulles also was understood to have outlined reprisals, possibly with atomic weapons, against Red China from Korea, Formosa and Southeast Asia in case the Communists should attempt to take Formosa by force.

Crash Feared

The United States may be in the early stages of a boom-bust cycle similar to that in 1929 according to Harvard Economist John K. Galbraith.

Galbraith told the Senate Banking Committee there are "formidable safeguards" against another such crash. But he said there are "resemblances" between present conditions and those leading to the 1929 crash.

Galbraith urged that the government be ready to halt credit buying of stocks and apply other brakes if stock prices continue to rise.

Parity Bill Advances

Legislation to require price support of major crops at 90 per cent of parity, and thus ditch the Eisenhower administration's flexible price support program, was approved Tuesday by the House Agriculture Committee. Chairman Cooley said the vote was 23-11 and that it "crossed party lines." He predicted the bill would pass the House, but declined to comment on its chances in the Senate.

Chiang Withdrawal Asked

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden Tuesday called on Chiang Kai-Shek to withdraw his forces from the coastal islands off China.

Reporting to the House of Commons, on his Bangkok meeting with Secretary of State Dulles, Eden said "the necessary conditions for progress do not yet exist" for peace in Asia. Eden also praised both the United States and the Chinese Communists for relaxing tensions over Formosa.

Flood Affects 2200

Over 2,200 families have been affected by flooding along the Ohio River, according to Red Cross estimates. The crest, highest in seven years, is expected to reach nine feet above flood stage. West Virginia, Kentucky, Ohio and Indiana have been hit by the flood.

Communists 'Laughed At'

There is no possibility that Burma will join the Southeast Asia Defense pact, Burmese premier U Nu said Tuesday when he arrived in Bangkok, Thailand for a good will visit.

Queried concerning Communist rebels in the interior of Burma, Nu said, "In our country, the Communists have now become a joke—objects to be laughed at and not to be taken seriously."

Wesleyan Wins

Nebraska Wesleyan defeated Geneva, Pa., College Tuesday afternoon in an overtime to climb the first hurdle of play in the NAIA Tournament.

The Plainsmen rallied in the closing minutes of the game and went into an overtime with the score reading 76-76. Paul Fredstrom scored seven of the team's ten points in the extra period.

'Shennanigans'

Tickets may be purchased for 50 cents apiece at the Union Booth beginning this week each afternoon or at the door on the nights of the dance.

Friday night the theme will be "Shennanigan's Dance." Johnny Jay's Orchestra will provide the music for the evening. Decorations will be green and white in accordance with St. Patrick's Day.

Saturday night the "Madhatters" theme will be featured. Decorations will be around the character Madhatter of Alice in Wonderland, and Jimmy Phillip's band will play during the evening. During intermission, three Coed Follies acts will be presented. Free refreshments will be served during the evening in Parlors A, B and C.

The dances are sponsored by the Union Dance Committee.

NU Psychiatric Institute

Nearing completion on the University campus in Omaha is the Nebraska Psychiatric Institute. The new building, shown above, is part of the $6 million building program of the College of Medicine which will put the University's medical facilities on a par with those of other leading schools in the Midwest. Costing $1.5 million, the Psychiatric Institute is a joint effort of the University and the State Board of Control.

Also to be located at the medical center will be a new medical office building, built by the World Publishing Co., at a cost of $2,000,000.
