Across the Campuses: Co-education Squabble Gets More Involved

Opinions vary on the Texas A&M campus as the issue of co-education becomes more involved.

One of the professors stated that if A&M wanted to be an educational institution where academics were important then co-education should be considered.

Opposition from the student angle came as one student remarked, "I feel girls would lower education standards. Sure it would be nice to have them up here, but many complications would arise. There has been some mention that if girls were to come here, the men would dress more properly."

Loyalty Oath Attack

Franklin D. Murphy, Chancellor of Kansas University, declared that he believed the "loyalty oath clause is unnecessary and improper", in regard to student loans.

The chancellor feels that the University is taking the stand that the money is being given to the student on an individual basis. Therefore it should be left up to the student whether he wants to sign the papers or not.

Soviet Scientist Visits

Soviet scientist, Nicholai V. Belov, toured the Iowa State campus. The first Soviet scientist to visit the United States, he viewed several of the laboratories on the Iowa State campus.

Arizona Turmoil

A controversy over compulsory ROTC has turned the Arizona campus into a turmoil.

An organization, students Against Compulsory ROTC, was started. Forty different petitions have been endorsed to evade the compulsory ROTC issue.

YRs Plan 'Grass-Roots' Discussion

University Young Republicans are planning a "Grass-Roots" night Thursday according to Pete Struve, program chairman.

"The program is designed to familiarize new members with our organization," Struve stated. "Students interested in joining the club can do so simply by coming to the meeting."

Committee work and plans for Vice-President Nixon's appearance at the Coliseum on Founders Day, March 28, will be discussed at this time.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the basement party rooms of the Student Union.

Because of Coed Follies practices next week, that program will be aimed at the male members of the club. "Girls may also attend the meeting, however," said Struve.

The series will feature "Art in the Western World" and "Fiddle Dee Dee." "Art in the Western World" is in color and was photographed in the National Gallery of Art in Washington D.C.

"Fiddle Dee Dee" represents rhythm in color—thousands of combinations flow across the screen in a color dance of changing patterns.

Admission is free.
