

Track Records Threatened

OU Could Snap NU Win Skein

Nebraska's cindermen lay an undefeated season on the line Saturday when they clash with the Oklahoma, defending Big Eight indoor champs, in the final indoor meet of the season. Meet time is 2 p.m. in the East Stadium.

Many of the track events will be closely contested and several meet records could fall by the wayside.

The 60-yard dash will be decided among Husker Steve Pfister, and Mark Sullivan and Dick Dorsey of the Sooners. Pfister and Sullivan both have turned in times of :06.2.

In the 600 Bob Wilcox of Oklahoma has a mark of 1:12.5 and could break the meet record of 1:13.1.

Sophomore Bill Kenny will carry Nebraska's hopes in the 1000. Kenny finished well ahead of the nearest man against Colorado and Kansas State. Buddy Stewart will be Kenny's biggest threat.

Records Could Fall

Meet records could also fall in the pole vault, shot put, and high jump. J. D. Martin will be out to regain the stadium record which was taken from him by George Davies of Oklahoma State in the first meet of the season.

Mike Lindsay, Big Eight champ in the shot put, should have no trouble capturing first place. Lindsay may be able to break the meet record of 57-10 3/4 which he set in 1959.

The high jump meet record and stadium record will be threatened. Sooner Mark Brady turned in a 6-6 3/4 against Kansas last week. This mark would break the meet record of 6-4 3/4 and the Stadium record of 6-5 1/2. Fred Wilke and Vayden Anderson of Nebraska are expected to bring in the second and third spots.

Husker Ray Stevens could provide the Huskers with a double win in the mile and two-mile events. Stevens main competition in the mile will be Lee Smith and Paul Ebert, who has a time of 4:16.5. Ebert will also double in the two-mile race.

"We already concede three first places to the Sooners in the pole vault, high jump, and shot put," said Ike Hanscom, field events coach, "but the broad jump will be wide open."

All the contestants in the broad jump have leaps of 23 feet or better. Bob Knaub and Wilke have marks of 23-8 and 23-0 respectively. Steve Swafford of Oklahoma has a 23-6 1/2 leap. Don Warrick a 23-5 3/4, and Tom Raley a leap of 23-1.

Linda Joyce Is Pin King

Linda Joyce in the women's division and Ralph Holmstrum in the men's division were the top bowlers in the finals of the campus bowling tournament held in the Student Union.

Miss Joyce bowled a nine-game total of 1401 and Holmstrum rolled a 1741 for nine games. Miss Joyce's 463 series and 179 game were also tops in the women's division.

Phil Griess bowled the high game in the men's division with a 232 and Holmstrum had the high series with 601.

BIG MEN IN KU LINEUP

Nebraska will find out Saturday night whether Jayhawkers Wayne Hightower and Bill Bridges can effectively cover a man moving on the outside.

NU Hopes to Break Long Drouth at KU

By Hal Brown

Nebraska has never won a basketball game in Allen Fieldhouse at Kansas and if they are to do it this year it will be of the major upset variety.

The Huskers won the last game ever played in Hoch Auditorium on the Jayhawk campus with a 66-55 win in 1955. Kansas moved into the present arena a few days later. Saturday's game will be the first of two unenviable assignments for the Huskers this weekend. After the Kansas game Nebraska returns home to face Kansas State Monday.

The Wildcats and Jayhawks are tied for the top spot in the Big Eight with 8-2 records. Nebraska is in seventh place with a 3-7 mark.

Nebraska broke a seven-game losing streak with an 83-61 victory over Oklahoma in the last outing Monday night. The Huskers nearly upset the Jayhawkers in their Lincoln meeting before Kansas pulled out a 38-33 win. The score was tied at 15-all at the half and with eight minutes left in the game Nebraska led, 26-24.

Hopes for Same Defense

Husker coach Jerry Bush said he hopes the Jayhawkers use the same type of defense that was employed here.

Bush said that both he and his players are convinced that Wayne Hightower and Bill Bridges, the big men in the Kansas lineup, are not as effective trying to cover a man moving on the outside.

The Nebraska mentor indicated he would start the same lineup Saturday night that opened against Oklahoma. This would find Tom Russell and Ivan Grupe at forwards, Bill Bowers at center with Rex Swett and Jan Wall in the backcourt.

Grupe broke into the starting lineup against the Sooners when Jim Kowalke injured an ankle against Oklahoma State. The Husker from Byron scored 15 points in his starting debut.

Bush was elated with the Huskers showing against Oklahoma. "After seven straight defeats it would have been real easy for our lads to figure that this season was over," Bush said. "Instead, they got off the floor and really played effective basketball."

Nebraska Faces Illinois In NROTC Tournament

By Cloyd Clark

The Navy ROTC basketball team will go to Chicago this weekend to play in the National NROTC basketball tournament.

The Nebraska sailors will face the University of Illinois ROTC team in the first game of the Chicago tourney. The tournament is composed of the four winners of the regional tournaments.

To qualify for the tournament, Nebraska beat the Kansas ROTC team, 61-59, in the regional tournament held in the Coliseum in January.

Tuesday night, the Navy squad whipped the Dents, 39-29, to advance to the quarter-finals of the all-University intramural tournament in the independents division.

Mike Stacey, 6-5 center, has been the season's high scorer with a 20-point average.

Lt. William F. McCauley is the coach of the Chicago-bound hoopsters.

Three Meets Set For NU Mermen

Coach Dick Klass's swimmers face a full round of action this weekend as they conclude the regular season before going into the Big Eight championships March 2-4.

The Husker mermen will meet Pittsburg State of Kansas at 7:30 p.m. Friday and will take on Grinnell and Kansas State in a triangular Saturday at 3 p.m. Both meets will be in the Coliseum Pool.

Sunday the Huskers will participate in an AAU meet at the Coliseum with preliminaries beginning at 10 a.m. and finals getting under way at 3 p.m.

Phi Psis Disqualified

Kappa Sigma defeated Beta Theta Pi, 55-52, and Beta Sigma Psi downed Ag Men, 45-28, Wednesday night in battles between the undefeated in the Fraternity-A division of the intramural basketball tourney.

Phi Delta Theta thumped Alpha Tau Omega, 34-16, in the Fraternity-C division. The ATOs, losers to Phi Kappa Psi earlier in the tourney, were advanced when the Phi Psis were disqualified.

Ed Higginbotham, director of intramurals explained that the Phi Psis were disqualified for using one of their own men as an official. Higginbotham also said the official used a fictitious name.
