Nebraska Alums Talk Things Over

By Dick Stuckey

"How are we going to stop old Thunder this half?" "Whatayamean, WE—man, I've had enough!" Some halftime talk in the alumni quarters on All-Sports Day did not sound of the old college try.

But the veterans of Memorial Stadium took twelve minutes over Seven Ups and cigarettes, felt out their sore spots and redesigned strategy for the pending last half of action.

Bill Hawkins, literally stopped cold during the first quarter, had recovered and wanted some more. Bill had his sports mixed up as he came to.

"Did you see that pheasant?" he asked the trainers and players standing over him. "Did anybody get a shot at 'im—did you see 'im?"

Reassuring Bill that there was no hunting on the gridiron, the alums had carried off the former halfback-hurdler on legs much more wobbly than those of his college career. But at halftime he was ready to go.

Many commented on Pat Fischer's reversed field touchdown run in the second quarter. "Tremendous ballplayer," they said—but Fischer, tired and punchy, put it differently.

"Those old pros know how to block," he said. It comes so natural for them, that when they see a kid still running with the ball, they're still after the defense. I know that some of them three and four blocks on that play.

"I just knocked back and forth for awhile, and then looked for someplace to go." He went.

Jim Moore, starting alum center, seved notice to future Cornhusker competition concerning Bob "Big Daddy" Brown.

On the statue of liberty play the alums sprung in the second quarter, Moore blocked Brown from the blind side. "I knew he didn't see me," Moore said, "but what I didn't know was that it didn't make any difference."

"I caught him blind, but he ran over me like a steamroller—I just as well hadn't even thrown the block—I'm not sure he felt me." But Moore indicated he did feel big Bob.

The two quarterbacks and alumni understudies to old-timer Sam Vacanti, Tom Kramer and Harry Tolly, were talking over Tolly's punt that had rolled dead on the varsity one.

"Been working on that all week, haven't you Harry?" suggested Kramer.

"Sure," said Tolly, "had it all planned—glad we got to use it," he laughed.

Larry Naviaux felt himself over for injuries. "Nothing," he concluded, "except this." And he showed a gash in the arm he suffered when the whole alum backfield rolled over Guy Chamberlin in the second quarter. "Got hit by a chair," he said, "but considering Guy, I guess I came out all right."

Jon McWilliams was checking in his gear. "Dislocated my shoulder," he said. "Guess I better quit while I'm ahead."

Big Carl Samuelson had it figured. "I think we can hold the lead. We've got a good passer—we can throw against 'em—they're weak on passes. We'll hold out." And then it thundered.

Three More Nominated For Outstanding Athlete

By Cloyd Clark

A football player, swimmer and shot putter have been added to the ranks of the Daily Nebraskan Outstanding Varsity Athlete nominations.

Pat Fischer, Joe Stocker and Al Wellman have been nominated for their outstanding accomplishments in football, swimming and track.

Outstanding Alumni griddier Pat Fischer in Saturday's All-Sports Day action could be confused about his status, varsity or alum if he wins the award.

The 5-10, 165-pound back was nominated for his outstanding football performances last fall.

The nomination letter qualifies Fischer for the award like this: "One of the smallest men on the Husker team and one of the tri-captains, Fischer was the leading punt returner and leading ground gainer for the Huskers last season."

Fischer has been selected Back of the Year by KLIN radio and was voted Back of the Week several times by the United Press International and the Associated Press.

In the varsity-alumni game Fischer was presented the Tom Novak Trophy for the Outstanding Husker senior football player.

In addition to these honors Fischer has received honorable mention on the All-Big Eight football team for the past three years.

Joe Stocker is also all-Big Eight material, but the senior breaststroker holds his Big Eight laurels in swimming.

Stocker was co-captain of the 1960-61 Big Eight squad and holds the Husker varsity record in the 200 and 100-yard breast stroke races with times of 2:31.1 and 1:08.8 and the individual medley record with 2:20.8.

Stocker is also a member of the 400-yard medley relay team which holds the varsity record of 4:05.9 minutes.

Leading Scorer

The Husker co-captain of the 1960-61 swimming team is the leading scorer on the Nebraska squad.

He has demonstrated proficiency in nearly every swimming event including back stroke, individual medley, butterfly and diving.

"Besides being a good student and leader, Joe was the most versatile and dependable squad member during the past season," is the nominator's description of the Husker merrman.

Husker shotputter Al Wellman is the fifth nominee for the Outstanding Athlete award and the second track star.

Wellman will be competing against earlier nominee and teammate Al Roots for the award. Wellman's specialty is the shotput.

The stocky weightman is nominated not only because of his standing as number one Husker shotputter and second discus performer, but because of his perseverance and dedication to the sport.

The nomination letter points out that Wellman was a "sub 50-foot shot putter" in his sophomore year and that his "hour and a half to three hours, five or six times a week, six months a year in practice," account for his excellent showing for the track team.

Wellman is also nominated for his football performances for the Huskers and his 6.2 overall scholastic record.

The letter concludes "The ancient Greeks had an ideal for manhood. They envisioned a complete individual—scholar, athlete, and friend. Al Wellman is this kind of complete individual."

Wellman, Stocker and Fischer join Al Roots and Mike Nissen as nominees for the Daily Nebraskan Outstanding Athlete award. Other nominations should be sent to the Sports Editor of the Daily Nebraskan at the Student Union.

Roots Sparks Win Over NU Freshmen

By Jan Sack

The varsity cindermen had too much depth for the freshmen as the yearlings fell, 83-46, in Saturday's All-Sports Day action.

Sparking the varsity's show of power was Al Roots, star javelin thrower. Roots hurled the spear 241-1, two inches better than his previous record breaking heave.

Individual standout for the freshmen on the track was Ray Knaub, transfer from Baylor. Ray clicked through the 100-yard dash in :09.6 and the 220 in :21.5. He edged out frosh Don Degnan in the 100 and varsity Steve Pfister in the 220.

Juris Jesifers had a busy day for the frosh as he tied for first in the high jump with Bill Fasano of the varsity at 6-1. Jesifers placed second in the javelin and pole vault and earned a third in the broad jump.

Victor Brooks, outstanding broad jumper for the frosh, turned in his usual exciting performance by jumping 24-8.

Wellman Doubles

Big Al Wellman landed a double win as he took the shot put with a 53-8 toss and the discus with a 158-10 mark. Larry Reiners placed second in the shot and third in the discus with Leon Janovy placing second in the discus and third in the shot.

In the other field event Jim Kraft sailed over the pole vault at 14-3, the best mark of his career.

Sophomore Ray Stevens failed to break the varsity record for the mile, but he did win in 4:22.7. Freshmen Woody Moore and Morris Altizio placed second and third respectively.

Stevens also won the two-mile run in 9:48.3 just ahead of Paul Nielsen of the varsity who was second in 9:48.6. Moore of the frosh was third.

In the 440 veteran LeRoy Keane and frosh Tom Saunders ended in a dead heat, clocked in :50.2. Gil Gego, also a frosh, was timed in :50.4 for third.

Sophomores Clarence Scott and Bill Kenny brought a smile to the crowd when they caught each other on the last lap and sprinted across the tape side by side ahead of frosh Andy Steele. Scott and Kenny were clocked in 1:55.7.

In the hurdle events Bill Fasano and Fred Wilke traded firsts. Fasano won the highs in :14.2 and Wilke the lows in :24.1.

The mile relay was the most exciting event on the track. Kenny and Saunders led off for the varsity and frosh respectively and handed off to Bob Knaub and Steele who ran the second leg.

The third leg was a real battle between Scott of the varsity and Gebro of the frosh. The pair ran neck and neck on the back stretch with Gebro picking up a lead before the hand off. Ray Knaub grabbed the baton for the frosh and sailed smoothly ahead of Dick Hoelscher. Knaub was timed in :48.4. Freshman time was 3:19.4.

Playboys to Meet Dents for Crown

Playboys will play the Dent College in the finals of the independent softball league in the only game of the day this afternoon at 5:20 on the Ag Campus field.
