Record Number To Take Regents

More than 7,200 Nebraska high school seniors, an increase of 23 per cent over last year, will take the University Regents Scholarship examination Nov. 4.

The number of participating schools, 435, is the same as last year, according to Dr. Edward Lundak, director of scholarships and financial aids at the University.

However, 10 schools which formally did not participate have entered students this year. Several schools which took part last year have been closed or consolidated with other schools.

Based on figures from high schools which participated last year and have entered this year, the senior class enrollment this fall is about 23,000 compared to 18,700 last year.

Foreign Study Plan Set

Application periods for undergraduate foreign study in Paris, Madrid, Vienna, and Salzburg, West Germany have been announced by the Institute of European Studies.

All four Institute centers will offer both spring-semester, 1965 and full-year, 1965-66 programs for students in history, political science, modern languages and literatures, philosophy and other liberal arts and social science fields. The programs are designed for college juniors, but some sophomores are admitted in Paris and Vienna.

Formal applications are due Dec. 7 for next spring's programs and May 10, 1965, for full-year programs starting next fall. Sailings are set for Feb. 1 and late August or mid-September. All programs end in late June or July.

An Institute spokesman said the programs aim at "immersing the student as deeply as his background permits" in a European university. Total immersion is rarely practical, he said, because European university courses are so highly specialized that U.S. undergraduates can usually profit from foreign university courses only in their major or minor fields.

"On the other hand," he said, "we don't want to place the student in a 'ghetto' where he is exposed only to American-style courses taught by American professors, and must live and study only with other Americans. Whether you look at it academically or culturally, the European experience should be both excellent and different.

"Our aim is to maximize the student's confrontation with Europe and European education, within the practical limits set by U.S. college requirements."

To supplement the courses students take in the European university, the Institute's Madrid, Paris and Vienna centers each offer from 34 to 55 courses taught by European university professors in fields ranging from art history to sociology and theology. Except in Vienna, where a number of courses are taught in English for students still brushing up on their German, all instruction is in the native language.

Jobs In Europe Open To Students

Summer employment in Europe is available by direct application to the European headquarters of the American Student Information Service in Luxembourg.

Jobs range from life-guarding, to construction work, to teaching English to children of European families.

Wages are up to $400 a month, and in most cases neither previous experience nor knowledge of a foreign language is required.

Work periods offered by employers range from three weeks to permanent employment.

Students interested in working in Europe next summer should write directly to: Dept. II, ASIS, 22 Avenue de la Liberte, Luxembourg City, Grand Duchy of Luxembourg.

Enclose $2 for the ASIS 36-page booklet which contains all jobs, wages, and working conditions.

courses last the full year, and do not admit new registrants for the second semester, students in the spring-semester program there will be unable to attend regular university lectures. Instead, they will concentrate on language development and French taught courses organized specifically for American students.

In Freiburg, the principal town in Germany's Black Forest, Institute students make all their work with German students in the 500-year-old university, described as "a graduate school by U.S. standards." They receive as much as one hour of tutorial assistance for every hour of lecture they attend.

For its Vienna programs, the Institute has introduced a new requirement of at least a semester of college German or a year of German in high school. These programs also require a C-plus college grade average.

All the other centers require a B average and one or two years of the appropriate language. Applicants must also have the approval of their U.S. colleges and universities.

Students in all the centers live in private European homes or in European student dormitories. Before regular classes begin, they are given from four to seven weeks of intensive language training. The programs also include orientation, meals, and two field trips under European university lecturers.

Descriptive literature is obtainable from the Institute of European Studies, 35 E. Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill.
