

Booking kills 'Dead' concert

bart becker

Bad news, rock fans. Despite our trumpeting the good news a week or so ago, the Grateful Dead concert has apparently fallen through. The Dead had originally been scheduled for Nov. 11 at Pershing.

However, the auditorium was booked for that night. An attempt to get the concert moved into the University Coliseum was nixed by the Dead's management.

That November week, however, will still be a full one. Uriah Heep and Savoy Brown will be at Pershing on Monday, Nov. 6, and Wayne Cochran and his C.C. Riders will be at the Royal Grove the following night.

More cancellation news. The International Circus and Ice Show which was to have been at Pershing this weekend has canceled its performances. The show's star, Karl Wallenda, injured himself in a fall a couple of weeks ago and hasn't recovered sufficiently for the show to go on.

What makes Milhous run?

Jules Feiffer: "A zapped portrait of Nixon from Vorhis to Vietnam: part camp, part Horatio Alger run amuck—the dark side of the American dream."

Kevin Sanders, WABC-TV: "Probably the most devastating attack on one man evr put together on film."

Albert Goldman: "'Millhouse' is funnier than any current comedy. The only sad thing is its truth."

That means circus fans will have to make the trip to Omaha to see the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus. "The Greatest Show on Earth" opens Wednesday at the Omaha Civic Auditorium. There will be 10 performances during the show's stay—through next Sunday.

The Union Special Films Committee is sponsoring a visit by internationally known German experimental writer, film maker, and mixed-media artist, KRIWET. His presentation, at 7 p.m. Tuesday at Sheldon, will include free movies, tapes and a discussion.

Works by KRIWET are also included, with those of Mary Ellen Solt, in the Sheldon exhibition of Concrete Poetry.

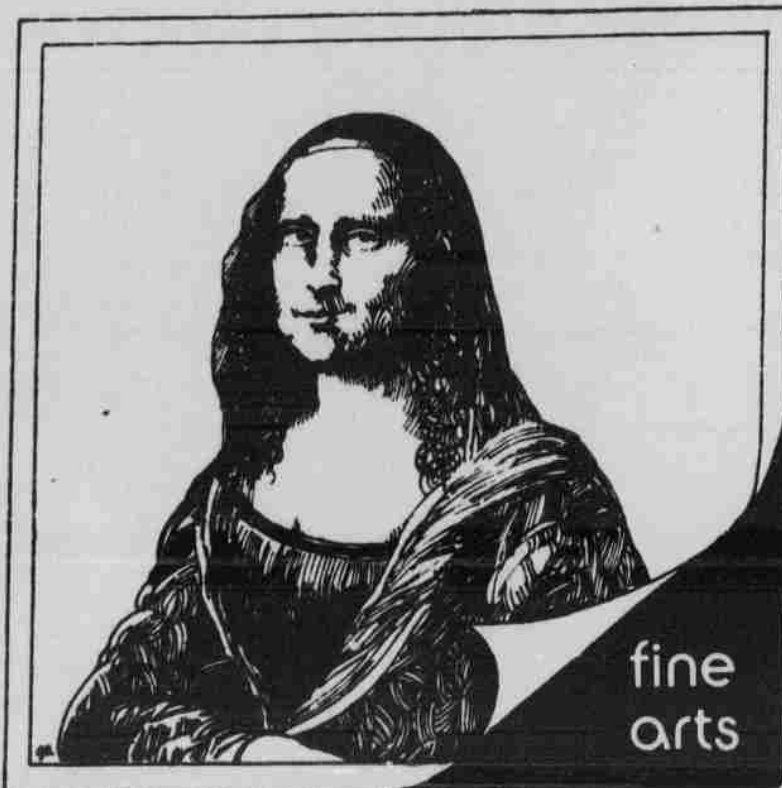

Sheldon also has a fine show—the National Exhibition of Prints—hanging until November 5.

The Front Page opens at Howell Memorial Theatre Friday night. It's the initial performance of the initial show of the season for Howell. Performance dates are Oct. 20, 21 and 23 through the 28th.

And the Weekend Film features Richard Harris as A Man Called Horse.
