Soviets make concession on chemical weapons

GENEVA — The Soviet Union, in its first major arms control statement under the new leadership of Konstantin Chernenko, Tuesday made what Western experts described as a significant concession in negotiations to ban chemical weapons. Viktor Issraelyan, Moscow's chief negotiator at the 40-nation Geneva disarmament conference, announced that the Soviet Union would agree to the principle of permanent on-site verification of chemical weapons destruction by international inspectors.

He said this would speed up the process of completing a treaty banning manufacture and stockpiling of such weapons. Later, chief U.S. delegate Louis Fields said Washington welcomed the Soviet statement. However, he told reporters outside the conference wall, "while this appears to represent a breakthrough in one facet of the chemical warfare negotiations, there remain many equally difficult outstanding issues to be resolved before an agreement on an effective and verifiable convention can be achieved."

Mondale: Caucus 'stepping stone'

DES MOINES, Iowa — Former Vice President Walter Mondale Tuesday promised to use his overwhelming victory in Iowa's Democratic caucuses as a stepping stone to the White House, while Sen. John Glenn vowed to bounce back from his crushing defeat.

Before the caucuses, Glenn was considered Mondale's closest rival, but with 96 percent of the returns counted from last night's polling, Mondale had won 46 percent of the vote and Glenn only five percent. Colorado Sen. Gary Hart scored a surprising second-place finish with 15 percent of the vote. Former Sen. George McGovern also did well by taking 13 percent of the Iowa vote, third best. Sen. Alan Cranston of California had nine percent for a fourth-place finish. Glenn finished sixth, after the "undecided" vote. Former Florida Gov. Reubin Askew and the Rev. Jesse Jackson had about three percent each, and South Carolina Sen. Ernest Hollings drew less than one percent.

Omega 7 members plead guilty

NEW YORK — Three members of the anti-Castro Omega 7 underground group Tuesday pleaded guilty to reduced conspiracy charges in return for agreeing to tell the government about the inner workings of the secret organization, prosecutors said. Two of the defendants, Geraldo Necuze and Justo Rodriguez, pleaded guilty in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. The third, Jose Ignacio Gonzalez, entered his plea in Federal Court in New York. The three pleaded guilty to charges of conspiring to possess and set off bombs.

Lumpectomies, removal comparable

BALTIMORE, Maryland — The survival rate for women who undergo lumpectomies to cut away small cancers but preserve their breasts is the same over a five-year period as breast removal, according to a leading cancer surgeon. Dr. George Elias, Maryland chairman of the National Surgical Adjuvant Breast and Bowel Project of the U.S. and Canada, said in an interview that a joint U.S.-Canadian study of 2,499 women showed matching survival rates of 85 percent after five years among both lumpectomy patients and patients who had modified radical mastectomies. The study, soon to be published, also showed that women have a 12.6 percent chance of developing a second tumor in the same breast after a lumpectomy, but the recurrence rate was only five percent among those who receive radiation therapy.

Court upholds Burnett ruling

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court Tuesday let stand a lower court ruling that the National Enquirer must pay Carol Burnett $200,000 in libel damages for suggesting she was intoxicated in a fashionable Washington restaurant. The weekly tabloid said in a March 2, 1976, gossip column that the popular television star had had a loud argument with former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, giggled after spilling wine on another diner and went around the restaurant offering everyone a bite of her dessert. Before Burnett sued the Enquirer, she demanded and got a retraction that said: "We understand that these events did not occur and we are sorry for any embarrassment our report may have caused Miss Burnett."
