

RAINIERS CAPTURED NEAR CLATONIA

By Bob Brainerd, Olympia, Seattle, Washington

B.L.T. "Buck" Strangeman, foreman of the crew of Cold Trappers, who recently rounded up two Mountain Fresh Rainiers near the West Fork of the Big Blue, met last week with Pickrell members of the Nebraska Fresh Corps. Said B.L.T., "We captured 'em, we snapped their tops, we tapped 'em, an' we sure enough drank 'em. They are beers, no question - fresh an' friendly an' cool. Right now's their migration time o' year, meanin' there's Rainiers out there now from Brock to Broken Bow, so be on the lookout to capture you some too."
