Summer in sun . . .

"It's both a physical and mental challenge," he said. "It's something students don't get in class."
The trips also break up regular routines and offer participants an opportunity to meet new people, he said.
On the average, 12 people go on each trip, Ebel said, so the trips are informal and intimate. After trips, he said, the groups often get together for a slide show of a trip.
The whitewater canoeing seminar is the summer's most popular trip, Ebel said. Up to 12 people spend five days in Northern Wisconsin developing their canoeing skills.
People enjoy the trip, Ebel said, "because it's an instructional trip at a level most people aspire to, but at a level they haven't reached."
The beauty of the area also attracts people, he said. Unlike most nearby areas, the water is clear and granite boulders lie in the streams.

The whitewater trip costs $205. UNL includes transportation, meals, equipment and instructor fees in the cost. Other programs may charge $300 to $400, which may cover instruction costs only.
The cost for UNL trips covers everything except the meals eaten on the road. UNL trips range from $45 to $205. Interested people can sign up at the recreation office. Participation is based on first come first served. People pay for half the trip when they register.
Golf entries were due May 1, tennis May 29, slow-pitch softball June 13 and outdoor volleyball June 13. Lincoln's softball roster has been filled. The city began taking applications in March.

Summer Entertainment

By JANET STEFANSKI
If you're a UNL student remaining in Lincoln this summer or if you're a Lincolnite wondering what is going on in your community this summer, the Lincoln Community Playhouse, Kimball Recital Hall and Pershing will offer some entertaining relief from the heat.
Both the playhouse and Kimball will be featuring fun, light plays in the upcoming months.
Scapino, a comedy set in modern-day Naples, will be presented at the Lincoln Community Playhouse from June 22 through 30. Written by Frank Dunlap and Jim Dale, it is an update of the French dramatist Moliere's Scapine. The plot involves the match of two star-crossed lovers, said Ross McCullough, managing director of the playhouse.
"We were looking for some basically light summertime entertainment, something fun to see," McCullough said.
Tryouts for Scapino are scheduled for May 7 and 8. The playhouse's production of Annie will run through May. The Boyfriend is Kimball's answer to light summertime entertainment. It is a spoof of the roaring '20s, and the plot is boy meets girl.

"You don't like to get into real heavy stuff over the summer," said Amy Meilander of Kimball promotions.
Greg Tailman will direct the play put on by the UNL Music Theater group. The cast will consist of UNL students and two faculty members.
Julie Andrews starred in the Broadway production of The Boyfriend, and Twiggy starred in the movie.
Dates for the Kimball production are June 30 and July 6-7, all at 8 p.m.
Derek Anderson, events coordinator at Pershing Municipal Auditorium, said rollerskating will be a steady feature at the auditorium this summer. Events scheduled include the North Central Regional Rollerskating meet, June 17 through 24; the National Rollerhockey meet, July 2 through 7; and the USA National Rollerskating Championships, July 26 through August 9.
Pershing's rollerskating rink, a rarity in U.S. auditoriums, attracts the roller-skating meets, Anderson said.
