Softball team recalls dream-like season

Nebraska's women's softball team finished a dream-like season in the spring of 1984, winning the Big Eight conference title, the regional tournament and two games in the College World Series before bowing out the eventual champion, UCLA.

Denise Eckert, a senior short-stop from South Williamsport, Penn., was named to the All-American team to highlight her third consecutive all-Big Eight season. Mori Emmons, in her first full season as a pitcher, earned all-regional honors with sophomore catcher, Stacy Sunny, and senior third baseman, Ann Schroeder.

The Huskers will begin the fall season Sept. 13 at the Illinois State Invitational, and will host the Husker Invitational Sept. 28 to 30.
