

David Creamer/Daily Nebraskan

At left, Britta Wheeler models a not commonly seen hair style. In the other photo, Sue Cakl models a layered style.

Hey kids!

Stay tuned to the Daily Nebraskan for these coming attractions:

- Election Supplement Nov. 1
- Basketball Supplement Nov. 19
- Christmas Gift Buying Guide Dec. 4
- Finals Week Edition Dec. 17
- Don't touch that dial.

King Cool...

Continued from Page 4

"Glasses are another additive of fashion — people buy them to complement fashion and their outfits," said Donna Lee, a senior political science and speech communication major. She said glasses help people depict their personalities.

Monica Noble, a freshman marketing major, wears Bolle sunglasses. She said she wouldn't pay $70 for a pair of sunglasses. She said she wears them only in a practical sense, not for fashion, and she wouldn't wear them if it wasn't sunny.

Heidi Burklund, a junior economics major, wears cat-eye glasses. She said she picked them because they fit her face and personality. Burklund has 12 pairs of fashion sunglasses.

"Sunglasses seem to have evolved into an art form," she said. "They can extend any image you're trying to put forward."

Having A Party?
Treat 'Em Right

Try our
PARTY BAG
POPCORN
ONLY
$2.05

KARMELKORN SHOPPE
IN THE CENTRUM

Thingsville

Any Way You Look At It

- T-shirts
- rock pins
- sun glasses
- book lights
- earrings
- necklaces
- wind socks
- Nebraska Wear magnets
- stickers

- picture frames
- back rollers
- silly string
- pottery
- mobiles
- gumby
- frames
- clocks
- brass

- mugs
- gifts
- cards
- posters
- organizers
- satin items
- dream babies
- theatrical make up
- blood sucker pins
- Halloween costumes

- bears
- dragons
- unicorns
- plant rooters
- stuffed animals
- milar balloons
- oriental pots & vases
- precious moments

Thingsville Has Style

Gateway - 466-4488

Centrum - 475-1655