

Amos Perrin was called home Saturday, the 18th, on account of the sickness of his mother and brother.

Miss Skidmore entertained a number of friends on the evening of October 19, cards being the amusement.

This year there are nine Seniors studying military science, five more than the largest number heretofore enrolled.

For the first time in the history of the institution, there are now over 500 students receiving instruction at the U. of N.

On the way to Cotner University the other night Miss R— says to Mr. F— I will not get tired so long as you stay with me.

Some one has intimated that Fred Gund always has his new bicycle very near to him in his wanderings in the land of sweet dreams.

Mr. VanZile, a graduate of the Kansas State Agricultural College, visited the University, Monday, 27th. He was the guest of H. A. Shannon.

Question in psychology class: "Where is the hippo-campus major?" Co-ed's answer: "I do not know, but it ought to be with Barnum's show."

In spite of the fact that the Sophomores had seven less men in the cane rush than the Freshmen they won the rush by thirteen hands to twelve.

Chancellor Creighton of the Wesleyan went to "Lilly Clay" the other night thinking that it was the Willard lecture. He left at the end of the first act.

At her home, corner of Sixteenth and L streets, Miss Schwab gave a card party the evening of October 21. Those who were present report a pleasant evening.

Rev. Parker recently interviewed the professors of the scientific departments regarding the establishing of a scientific academy in connection with the University.

Work in the art department has been somewhat interfered with the past week on account of the time the instructors have devoted to the cause of the prohibitory amendment.

The faculty committee on public lectures has not yet made any definite arrangements, but Miss Moore will probably give a course, which will be followed by one from Dr. Kingsley.

A Weismann club has been organized containing most of the scientific professors and students. It meets alternately one week at Professor Bessey's and next week at Professor Kingsley's.

THE HESPERIAN is in receipt of a program from J. S. Peery of an exhibition program of the Ogden Literary and Debating Society, which society Mr. Peery was active in organizing.

Bewitching co-ed to an admiring Soph: "Do you intend voting for the amendment?" Soph. unguardedly: "Certainly!" Co-ed, very modestly: "Then you're twenty one aren't you?"

October 19 the University chemical department analyzed forty samples of beets which ranged from eight to sixteen per cent of glucose sugar. The best of these beets were raised by Miss Rosa Boughton, and Messrs. H. B. Marsland and E. E. Nicholson.

Robert Hay, of Washington, D. C., general field geologist of the United States agricultural department, was in the city one day last week on his way to western Nebraska, where he will be engaged in irrigation work. Professor Hicks may assist him in the work.

Dr. Ely, of Johns Hopkins, has asked Dr. Warner to re-write "Taxation in American States and Cities". Dr. Warner has undertaken the work, and will bring it out in joint authorship with Dr. Ely.

It is not generally known that Miss Moore's lectures on art history are free to students and to the public; but such is a fact, and these most valuable lectures should be attended by all those interested in the study of art.

Wednesday evening, October 22, Miss Pearl Camp entertained a number of her University friends at her home, 1614 M street. The evening was pleasantly passed at progressive high five, sumptuous refreshments being served.

Lieutenant Griffith has succeeded in arranging a scheme that will give every student of the University that so desires, a chance to spend one hour and a half each week in boxing, fencing, and systematic training on the machines.

Co-ed out on vacation is introduced to a Mr. Moonisen. Mr. Moonisen, Mr. M o o m s e n. Well I have met the gentleman some place; I wonder when and where it was? Oh, I know now! He wrote a history of Rome, didn't he?"

Contrary to its custom, the University will this year print the catalogue in the fall term. It is already sent to press. This will give us a catalogue that will be useful during the year for information concerning instruction, residence of students, etc.

The boys took the band and the yell with them to the Bryan-Connell debate. We yelled for Bryan, and even he seemed to catch some of our enthusiasm. Poor Connell! In this debate he must think that he has been inveigled into the toils of a deep laid plot.

'93's demonstration in chapel Monday after the cane rush was met by a hiss from those whom they defeated. Yes, the two classes that have successively bitten the dust before '93 are able to hiss when the emblems of success are flaunted in their faces, to hiss, but to do nothing better.

The lieutenant's amateur captain recently experienced a little difficulty in manoeuvring his company. After prancing around the campus at double quick until his men were nearly breathless he wondered how on earth he could stop them. In intense agony he tore his tactics from his pocket, but in that wild rush it gave him no assistance; and, finally, in despair, he yelled out to his first sergeant, "Wha-wha-what can I do to stop them."

New way to gain society members: A certain young lady had given Mr. M— an urgent invitation to join the society of which she was a member but to no avail, she challenged him to a game of lawn tennis, which he willingly accepted. If the lady won the most games, she was to propose his name for membership in the society the coming Friday night, while if she lost he was to join any society he chose. Our fair damsel won twenty-seven games to Mr. M—'s three; so of course she carried her point.

On what a Doane co-ed calls "very slight provocation," the authorities of Doane College have withdrawn from one of their new students. The impulsive young fellow merely had an insatiable desire to shoot a few holes through a fellow student. In endeavoring to accomplish his laudable purpose he was only frustrated by the blackness of the night and the "rattled" condition of his nervous system. Although the fellow has the undivided sympathy of the co-eds, who always admire nerve, yet it is a deplorable condition of affairs when Doane must offer post-graduate instruction in the reform school at Kearney.
