EDITORIAL NOTES.

SINCE the foot ball game at Omaha our boys are anxious to meet some other team, and are looking about for the next victim. At latest accounts almost every one is in favor of making arrangements for a game with Doane College at some time in the immediate future.

OF the many things needed by our students, that which is most needed is competent instruction in elocution. THE HESPERIAN feels that it voices the sentiments of all students, regardless of college politics, when it says that there should be established in the University a thorough course in elocution.

IT is only fair that students should patronize those business men who advertise in the college paper. A college paper must depend for financial success largely upon advertising. A college is quite frequently judged by its paper. For this reason all who feel an interest in the success of the University should, when other things are equal, patronize those who have advertisements in THE HESPERIAN.

SOME of the trees and stumps that beautify the drill and ball grounds are to be removed sometime in the near future. This is, it seems, a step in the right direction. If the faculty desires to encourage athletic sports there is no better manner in which that spirit can be shown than by providing a suitable place for our athletes to practice. Ordinarily people do not care to engage very extensively in out-door sport when there is danger that they may be injured by coming into contact with trees and other obstacles of a like nature. Trees are all right in their proper place; but since our campus is so small, it would be better if nearly all of them were removed. It seems to us that the amount of ground available for use by those of us who are athletically inclined is entirely too small. Let the work of removing trees go on until the whole space of the two blocks west of the main building is cleared. Then there will be room enough for foot ball and base ball enthusiasts to practice without interfering with each other.
