

—Our editor-in-chief took a trip home last week.

—“Lino,” formerly of the Omaha Bee, is now attending the Normal School.

We publish in the future the time table of the Nebraska R. R. Company. This will be an accommodation to many.

—The very pleasant weather, which has prevailed for the past few weeks, permits the students to engage in out-door sports for exercise.

—A number of the students took a trip to Topeka, on the legislative excursion train. They report having a good time at the capital of Kansas.

—THE LITTLE GROCERY around the corner. W. W. English has removed his Grocery to West 11th street, one door south of O. Call and see him.

—Quite a number of the students are getting the Black Hill's fever, and, if the malady increases, we may expect to lose some of our energetic young men.

—Whenever the Prof is unavoidably absent from the Senior class, one of the members usually takes the chair. No little ability to teach is shown on the part of some of the Seniors.

—Since the adjournment of the Legislature, the minds of those students of political tendency have become somewhat composed, and better recitations on their part follow as a consequence.

—Never have we seen the Opera House more crowded than it was at the last lecture of Prof. Collier. These lectures have advertised the University well and shown the ability of Prof. Collier in the science of Chemistry.

—The question of a suitable hall is agitating the members of the University Union. There is a movement on foot to get possession of the Palladian Hall, Saturday evenings. We think the Palladians would be willing to share their hall with the Union in this way, thus giving an opportunity for members of the societies to attend each meeting, if desired.

—A hundred stand of arms are on their way from Springfield, and will soon arrive. Our military boys are waiting anxiously for the time when they can proudly march over the campus of the University, fully equipped for service.

—By the action of the Board of Regents at their recent meeting, students will not be permitted to room in the University building. This will be a source of inconvenience to a number of students, as good comfortable rooms are not easily found elsewhere.

—We would suggest that the literary societies of the University organize a joint lecture committee. Whenever there is a lecture both societies will patronize it, and we think both are equally entitled to have a voice in the matter of selection of lecturers.

—Oh! it was pitiful. He could only loiter near the premises, and dared no further go. Often would his longing eyes momentarily behold the lovely vision; he could send tender messages by small boys; but he wouldn't catch the mumps for any thing.

—There was a cheap jewelry man in town the other day, selling gold locketts, rings, and numerous other trinkets for twenty five cents an armful. We noticed quite a number of students patronizing the man, and we expect to see the dear creatures profusely ornamented with gold and silver and rubies fair.

—It is a noticeable fact that students attend some place of worship every Sunday, with scarcely an exception. The chapel exercises every morning, and the reverential attention of many of the students to religious matters throw around the students of the University an influence that cannot fail to be beneficial.

DR. DIO LEWIS.—This gentleman, far famed as a temperance advocate, lectured before the students of the University, Tuesday morning, Feb. 13, on Health. The Doctor is an admirable example of
