RAISING THE BLOCKADE. From Last Evening's Dec.

GETTING IN RUNNING ORDER. The roads from the east and north, centering at Council Bluffs, are making the most earnest endeavors to get their passengers through to the transfer depot. The C., B. & Q. railroad was the most fortunate in having -The ladies of the Presbyterian church a track upon which passenger cars will give an entertainment consisting of could be run, and sent down two trains this forenoon to the depot. The Wabash utilized the C., B. & Q. track and sent one train from their depot to the transfer. The water on the track at places was over the car wheels, but the trains went through without accident. Up to twelve o'clock to-day the Northwestern road had not reached m. and the train returned to Omaha. the transfer with any of its passen gers, but since that hour it has been reported that a train was made up and started over the C. B. & Q. track.

About two hundred passengers were transferred by the two former roads, who came over the river on the dummy train about half past twelve o'clock. They all described the situation of affairs at the Bluffs to be of the most deplorable nature. Two young gentlemen who came in on the C. B. & Q. train Saturday night, said that they found out at Red Oak, Iowa, that it would be impossible to reach the Bluffs by way of their track, and that a train which had gone on six hours before was obliged to So they laid there until the train ahead returned, when both trains were put in one and it came on to the Bluffs by way of the Rock Island road. The hotels at the Bluffs have been overflowing, but now are becoming less thickly occupled. Among them is Enos Cole, his wife and five children, who have been living on a rude staging put up on the roof of their house, in Harding's timber, some two and a half miles below Boyd's packing house, since Friday last. Mr. Cole has been supplied with the necessaries of life by his brother, who has reached him in a small skiff. Several boats started from Council Bluffs to rescue them but were obliged to turn back

DELAYED MAILS.

The last complete mail from the east was received at Omaha postoffice Friday night last and included the mail from all the eastern and southern roads. Two Northwestern pouches were received this morning, this being a small fraction of that road's mail for some single run. The mail from the south and southeast was received on Sunday. This came by way of St. Joseph and Grand Island and included the St. Louis papers. The last mail leaving the Omaha office for the east was dispatched on Saturday, but is believed at the office to be still at the transfer depot at Spoon Lake, the Chicago roads having made no arangements for the transfer of mails n either direction, though they have tity of mail is now in the office for eastern points, and this afternoon an effort will be made to get through on the east-bound trains. At noon to-day no mail to Lincoln and vicinity had been received or sent since Friday. Western mails are all right, and the postmen are making their regular trips. CROSSING THE BREAK. From Lest Evening's Bee. Last evening's Union Pacific train from the west arrived with about its usual quota of passengers, the majority of whom submitted gracefully to Omaha hotels. A few, most of whom were destined to Council Bluffs,

THE TRANSFER HOTEL was still cold, cheerless and unlighted, the three pumps at work in the cellar only keeping the water at a stand still and above the fire box of the boiler surface. The platforms on the west side of the depot were found transformed to docks, at which one or two rude boats were waiting, while others could be seen approaching in the distance. One boat owner had utilized a floating piece of sidewalk as an approach to his craft, but had not removed from it an upright post bearing a small sign, "This real estate for sale as a whole or in lots, which was the subject of many jokes. NOT A PROSPEROUS SEASON. The railroad ticket agent was at his esk with overcoat and muffler on. From the hotel stretched away on all sides the cheerless expanse of water, and the usually busy railway yards were silent but for the occasional crack of some sportsman's gun, who was popping away at one of the many flocks of ducks and geese. The only train which had reached the transfer from the Bluffs had been a C, B. & Q. engine and an empty box car which came down at about 5 o'clock, pushing along a couple of cars of coal which had occupied the track, and which proved a needed supply for such stoves as the building contained. The transfer was effected at about 6:45 p.

AN INCOMING PASSENGER on the Northwestern yesterday morning and reached Omaha just before 5 o'clock last evening. The train reached Missouri Valley on time, finding there the train of the previous evening and its passengers. A train was made up and the fifty or sixty passengers from both runs, were brought in to a point two miles above Council Bluffs, where there is a bad wash-out. Here the passengers and their baggage were loaded into wagons and taken by a roundabout course to Council Bluffs, where many decided to remain, until there should be better facilities for reaching the U. P. transfer. Others, among whom were Mr. Allen, Mr. Pruyn and Mr. Burr, of this city,the two latter with their families-on attempting to procure boats found themselves at the mercy of some of whom demanded $10 a passenger, while others wanted $5. A compromise was finally effected at a ruinous figure to the unfortunate passengers. They were, however, more fortunate than some of their predecessors in the morning, who had been forced to pay those figures. On the way to the depot one boatman halted and demanded $1.50 advance tered in the Emigrant House and for each passenger on figures originally agreed upon. Another compromise was effected. A TELEPHONE MESSAGE from the Bluffs last evening brough the information that there are seven hundred or eight hundred passengers on the east side, destined to westward points. All the hotels are overcrowded and accommodation of any kind is at a premium. About one thousand persons are rendered homeless by the passengers and baggage for nearly two flood. Many of these are being entertained by friends in the Bluffs. These who have no such refuge, including many wood-choppers and wood-haulers, are being cared for at and the city bearing all the expense. The eastward bound trains on the Iowa roads left Council Bluffs on time last evening, but so far as could be learned with no passengers from this

THE FREIGHT BLOCKADE is an important leature of the flood. There are 550 loaded cars in the Union Pacific yards at Council Bluffs, a few of which are for Omaha, but the greater part for points west. The floors of these cars are well above the water and none of their contents injured as yet. Connection with the main track is severed, the company having bent all its energies the passenger keeping Many tracks in the freight yards are washed away. From Omaha to Grand Island, on the main line, all freight trains have been side tracked until the situation changes. There are 100 cars thus delayed at Grand Island and many at points east. Doubtless there are upwards of a thousand cars delayed in a similar manner on the Iowa roads or in their Council Bluffs yards. Seventy thousand ties, piled in the U. P. yard, are for the most part affoat, but are held by strong booms. Inquiry at the various hotels elicited the information that they were able some extra quarters.

Change of Agents. Mr. W. C. Seachrest, for the las fifteen months city passenger agent of the K. C., St. J. & C. B. R. R., has gone up a step, having resigned that position and accepted an assistant agency in the Union Pacific depot at Kansas City, Mr. A. W. Millspaugh being his chief. Kansas City is Mr. Seachrest's old home and the change is an agreeable one to him. His resignation took effect on Saturday and he point at a great cost, as the galvanized lelf for his home yesterday. City Attorney Manderson was called upon by President Boyd to give his as to the time of expiration of the old council, and said:

"The charter of 1873 provided that councilmen should commence their office on the first Monday succeeding their election, and hold for two years. No provision was made in this charter that such conclusion should hold until their successors were qualified. Two years ago a very grave question was presented as to when the terms of the old and new council ended and began. Under the old charter it was possible to have two councils existing in one day. The newly elected council might wish to take its office, and the old enes might wish to hang on. So, at Lincoln, last year, this change was made in the law, which provides as ollows: 'All councilmen's terms of office shall commence the Tuesday next succding the day of election upon which day they shall reassemble the court house and at Bloom & Nix- together and organize the city counon's opera house, the ladies of the cil'; and, 'a meeting of the city countown furnishing provisions for them cil shall be held the first Monday after each annual city e'ection.'

Councilman Stephenson then arose and said: "When I took an oath to support the city of Omaha and its people, it was for two years and the two years are not up. I went in on Tuesday. Every member of the present council did the same. Six members of this council are cut off from one year of service by the legislature, and another six are deprived of twenty-four hours' service.'

Councilman Bailey moved the folowing vote of thanks: RESOLVED, That a vote of thanks e, and is hereby tendered our retiring president, for the honest, able and mpartial manner in which he preided over the deliberation s of this body for the past year.

It was carried by an unanimous and rising vote. A motion was made by Councilman Daily that the council tender the city clerk a vote of thanks for the able and efficient manner in which he has performed his duties during the last year. Carried unanimously.

The journal was read and approved

After a brief discussion as to the ropriety of recording the vote of uncilman Stephenson on the vote of thanks to President Boyd (the councilman having remained sitting at the ime), and an explanation by Councilman Stephenson, that he did not to accommodate the travelers who are know the nature of the vote, the presstopping on this side, by utilizing ident declared the council adjourned
