GATH'S REPORTS.

Business and Stock Aspects of the Assassination

2

I fell in with a United States Sena-tor from one of the western states death cannot dispirit. How are you I fell in with a United States Senathis morning whose observations and knowledge are too important to me to disobey his instructions to use what he said, but not to say he said it. 1 met him near Broad and Wall streets, and he said:

"If Garfield gets stronger, as he has been doing, for another week, look alleged that he would spend $10,000,-000 to hold the market up if there should come a panic from this crime."

"Quite probable," said the Senator. "The firmness of the London market was in a great measure due to orders cabled from here." "I am told that since Garfield's assault the Western Union telegraph company has work in a since Garfield's senator from New York, and you don't hold up his hands at all.' We don't company has made its dividend of two per cent. out of the remarkable increase of business, both press and private. "What class of stocks do you ex pect to share in the boom?"

Well, almost all of them. I understand that the recent consolidation in the West and the Southwest have so diminished expenses that, in the case of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad, they have saved $112,000 in affair. salaries there. Besides, when the roads are in links under different manby a poor sick German, who has been camping out in the mountains for his agements, there is an immense amount health.
