ROBERTSON wants to go abroad on a diplomatic mission; so does Dursey.

HASCALL'S still hunt for the mayoralty may surprise the natives, but he will have to work it mighty shy.

WHILE the newboys are shouting "All about the robbery!" Marshal Angel and his police are not aware that anybody has lost anything.

MR. KAUFMAN has concluded he would rather not be mayor this year, but he may consent to run again for the council if his friends insist upon it.

It is understood that Secretary Folger is to be provided with a seat on the supreme bench.

OF the 160 members of the last congress who failed of a re-election, 100 are applicants for office.

MAYOR BOYD'S appointments of registrars are a disappointment. The mayor had it in his power to improve the calibre of our registrars.

THE president has decided not to have assistant secretaries of departments attend cabinet meetings.

EIGHT dagger knives have been found in the basin at Dublin nearly three weeks after Kavanagh's story.

CONGRESS, it may be well for the railroad managers who are trying to state legislatures in dealing with fares, railroad taxes and railroad rights.

But congress is just as much if not more under the baneful control of railroad managers as any state legislature.

NEARBY farmers are complaining of the disastrous effects of the past winter upon the crops.

THE death of Alex. H. Stephens promises to plunge the Georgia feud which was only partially healed by the nomination of the dead leader.

MR. DANIEL DOUGHERTY, of Philadelphia, commenting on the recent undignified behavior of the house of representatives, said to a friend that, when Mr. Olney was speaker, if he saw a member of the house reading a newspaper while the house was in session, he would send a page to him with instructions to say: "The speaker presents his compliments, and wishes to call your attention to the fact that the house is in session."

ECONOMIC EDUCATION.

Every congressional session adds to the volume of our national education. The press with its millions of sheets scattered daily into home and workshop, brings to the people of all classes the records of the debates, intimations of public policy and a constant discussion of the economic problems of the time.

The long debate over tariff revision in the late congress and its discussion in the press, had a marked effect in educating public opinion and in materially changing public sentiment in regard to protection.

For years every demand for tariff reduction was resisted on the ground that a reduction of duties on imports would paralyze our industries and throw out of employment millions of American workmen.

Other grave problems which have pushed themselves to the front have become subjects of grave public concern.

Questions affecting society are now discussed in the United States as they have never been before.

the election and the question ought to be thoroughly canvassed among our citizens. It must be understood that a two-thirds majority will be necessary under the law to carry the sewer bond, while paving bonds can be voted by a bare majority.

The sewer bond proposition calls for the completion of the north and south Omaha sewers, the extension of the north Omaha sewer to the military bridge and of the St. Mary's avenue sewer to Farnam and Twentieth streets.

lowing it to float with the stream, but controlled by ropes. If that boat goes the chances are that the baby road goes, too.

Days of Monopoly.

These are evidently the days of monopoly. The electric lighting business, now as it is, seems to have reached a very advanced form of consolidation.

PERSONALITIES.

Senator George and General Pope Barrow wear brown jeans suits in Clark county, Mississippi.

Captain Howgate, the defaulting signal service officer, is spending the winter very pleasantly in Florida.
