The instigators of this compliment were Miss Washington, Mrs. McClenans and Mrs. Butler, who thought some recognition was due Mr. and Mrs. Kirchafoll by reason of their long and honorable residence in Omaha, and the occasion will long be remembered as one of the most pleasant, both by them and their guest, Miss Craig.

-The season for the shipment of cattle from western points to eastern markets has begun, and it looks like business when it is stated that twenty-four cars of cattle were received at the Omaha stock yards Wednesday from Coe & Carter. These yards are owned by C. R. Schaller & Co., and are managed by L. M. Anderson, Messrs. Coe & Carter express themselves as highly pleased with the manner in which the train load of cattle were handled at these yards. The cattle were shipped to Chicago last evening over the C., M. & St. P. road.

-On Tuesday evening a small item was in serted in THE BEE to the effect that it was reported that the city council had determined to allow the paving of 16th street to proceed, and the consequence was that the next morning about one hundred men and twenty teams assembled at the intersection of Cass and 16th streets, expecting to find employment. They remained there until about 9 o'clock, and then dispersed. Their appearance had encouraged the residents of that locality to think that business was about to begin and the fiasco caused great disappointment. It is now almost impossible that the work can be completed in time for the state fair.

-During the afternoon proceedings of the convention in the City hall Wednesday the attention of several delegates was called to an editorial in The Herald, abusing the colored race. Mr. W. G. Robinson, of Otoe, with his gold eye-glasses on his nose and a copy of the paper in his hand, mounted a chair and called the attention of those present to the article. which he read. He spoke of the paper as "a slimy, unworthy, vulgar, dirty sheet, that ought not be supported by any colored man, and one who would degrade his manhood. The editor who wrote it was a knave and an aidede-camp of the devil. He has been known to elbow around colored men on election day, urging them to vote the democratic ticket. He was also an exile, and as one man remarked down south where he came from, the black men would not even associate with him."

-The bible class of the Y. M. C. A. which met at 9:15 a. m. Sunday morning was well attended and after the opening hymn and prayer all opened their bibles to the "Lords prayer," and the hour was spent in studying the sixth petition which reads: "And lead us not into temptation but deliver us from evil." The young men then divided into parties going to the different churches. At 1 o'clock the usual service was held at the jail, and a very earnest appeal made to the prisoners to turn from their evil ways and to seek pardon from the Lord. Notwithstanding the pouring rain in the atternoon which rendered it impossible for ladies to venture out, yet a few faithful workers assembled in the association room and the hour was spent in considering the thoughts the hour was spent in considering the thoughts suggested by the first pealm. He took his seat among the delegates and soon beckoned one of them over to him and a whispered conversation was held, after which the delegate spoke to the chairman who announced that all business before the convention was suspended to hear from Mayor Champion S. THE GERMAN SCHOOL.

Exercises of Laving the Corner Stone.

Addresses by George Haarmann and Hon, E. Rosewater.

At five o'clock quite an assembly ladies and gentlemen had gathered at the scene of the ceremony. The building has already reached the second story, and the corner stone was laid some twenty feet above the ground. Contrary to the ancient and established custom it was laid at the southwest cor-

The opening overture by the Musical Union orchestra, was a fine selection, and was followed by an address by Mr. G. A. Haarmann, the substance of which was

In laying this corner stone of our German American school, we are performing a duty which is one of unalloyed pleasure to our German-American citizens. Because in doing this we transplant to our glorious free and enlightened republic some of the finest German sentiments. We bring, as it were, together the old German masters and poets and other celebrities, face to face with the modern master minds which are coming into better chances of gaining a livelihood prominence every day in our republic. But besides this we do something which is of far greater importance and that is in this nobie institution we shall unite all the different German factions, and it will be the means of dispelling all the cobwebs of prejudice which have hitherto tended to create a feeling of distrust amongst our German citizens. The education proposed to be given will be of the most liberal character. The pupil will be taught simultaneously the German and English languages in addition to all the other usual educational branches, which make up a liberal education. He thanked, in the name of the Germans, all those who, with untiring energy and great personal inconvenience had contributed so nobly to make this enterprise such an unqualified success, and in conclusion he urged on all those interested in the future welfare, not only of Omaha but of the state of Nebraska, to be unceasing in their efforts to render this institution as great a success as it presaged at the commencement." [Applause.]

The song, "The Lord's Own Day," was then sung by a grand chorus from the Mænnerchor, Concordia and Turner soci eties and immediately after the corner stone was laid by Mr. Henry Pundt, president of the German association.

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentle-MEN: As I was walking down the street this afternoon on my way home I met a convention is called for the purpose of procession that greeted me with a good permanently contributing somthing that deal of music. There was a peculiar will improve and elevate the condition of seund such as we very seldom hear now the colored people in the United States. in this western section. There was in the first place some beating on the tom to accomplish the desired end: some hontom and the tramping of a number of feet. A long procession composed of Indians with their squaws—the bucks being on horseback. When I beheld this seene I was struck with the contrast that it presented to the music that we are according to accomplish the desired end: some honestly think that book learning is the crying need of the colored people. With all such I differ.
