convention, a prohibitionist mass meeting, a doctors' gathering, several outbursts of political oratory and a big fair, make it a lively week for Council Bldffs.

The democratic convention meets thii forenoon, and after simply organizing will probably adjourn so as to hear Gov. Hendricks' address in Baylss park at 11 e clock and then reconviene for business after dinner. If the weather is unfavorable the speech will begiven in some hall. W. H. Ware declines to serve as committeeman for the Fourth ward, because, he says, that position is offered him at the hands of a democratic caucus packed in the interest of an individual, and operated for partisan purposes. He don't like the kind of a primary school which the democrats held in the Fourth ward the other evening. There are others just like him.

Political Hurrah.

The announcement that Hon. John E. Kenna, of West Virginia, would speak at Bloom & Nixon's hall last evening, caused a large crowd to gather to hear him. He has served three terms in congress, and was last winter elected to the senate. He is a young man of fine physique, and showed himself last night to be a fair speaker. At the close of the speech, a reception was tendered Governor Hendricks, and many availed themselves of the opportunity to meet the man whose name is so familiar to all.

The grounds themselves presented a livelier appearance than usual on the first day. In machinery hall there were many busy workers, getting various agri-cultural machines in shape for taking the power, which is given by a big steam en-gine, and communicated by means of a large shaft running the entire entire length of the building. The showing in this department will evidently be larger and better than last year, and cannot but interest all who have anything to do with farm machinery.

Between machinery hall and the exposition building there are numerous onestery frame buildings, sheltering excellent displays of carriages, plews, etc., while the ground is well occupied by various exhibits by manufacturers of larger

The exposition building was made to bloom in all its beauty yesterday. There being wagon load after wagon load of ex-hibits delivered at the big doors, and quickly arranged in the various spaces. It is by all odds the finest building of the kind in the state, and its interior was never more attractive than now. PICKED UP BY POLICE.

A Dog Who Had More Sense Tha His Master-Experiences of a Night Out.

Monday morning the police court was rather devoid of special interest, there being but three cases, Frank Nowlan, John Collins and Charles Bennett, and they plain drunks. Nowlan claimed that he had come to town to turn the wheel of fortune, and that on returning from the beer garden Sunday night, perfectly sober, of course, he stepped inside the police station to ask where the hotel was that he was to stop at. He was told to in a full day of sight-seeing. There is a stop inside, as it was too late at night for so tender a youth to be out alone. He denied of beauty, while with a fountain, with yesterday that he was drunk at all, and green terraces in the rear, long tables upon which are spread lucious fruits, the whole has a very pleasing effect. Ban coming from the beer garden, and knockners, pendants, and pleasing drapings inquiry, a revolver was shoved under his nose with a peremptory order to "git." He got, and seeing what he supposed was a hotel, went in there to make inquiry, but found it was a police station, and was thrown in the back room.

The officers say he had evidently been drinking, and as he did not give a very good account of himself, and was knocking at the doors of private houses, they thought the city was safer with him locked up. He was turned loose again.
Collins was a farm hand from near

Neola, who having got paid off came to town to make some purchases, most of which was by the glass, and when he woke up he had not enough money left to pay his fine.

Bennet was discovered near the new railway track, Union avenue, and at first it was thought he was dead, but his big crowd can get either liquid or solid refreshments. Yesterday there was a regitated that the discoverers of the body dared J. M. BARSTOW M. D., will prove great conveniences.

C. A. Smith, of Randolph, on his way or another; he couldn't tell much about it, only he found himself minus $185. The officers, on inquiry, found where he had been wandering, and taking lanterns, after some search found the roll, which he had dropped in some weeds on the vacant lot near Broadway. He was overjoyed at finding the money and wanted to set up the bear or the cigars as an expression of his gratitude, but the two officers thought a $5 note would be better. He thought half that amount was better for him, and accordingly gave one of the finders $5 to be divided. talk about a reward led Smith to tell some sensational stories as to how the police tried to beat him out of $10.
