

THE DAILY BEE. OMAHA. Thursday Morning, October 18.

The Weather.

For the upper Mississippi valley, partly cloudy weather and local rains, southerly generally shifting to westerly winds, rising barometer, stationary or slight fall of temperature.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Save money. Send to E. Fearon, wholesale cigar and tobacco dealer, for price list. A caucus of the First Ward Republicans is called for Thursday, tonight, at 8 o'clock, in Metz's hall.

Safe for Sale.—A medium sized Mosler, Bahmann & Co. MFG, nearly new, at a bargain. Inquire at this office.

For Sale.—Thirty-five head horses, wagons, luggies and harness, and stables for rent at Emigrant stable, Cuming St. Geo. Derwin. 015-0033.

The W. C. T. U. will hold their regular weekly meeting Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. rooms. All members are requested to be present.

The Academy of Music last night was just as crowded as the night before, to hear "Maiden's Plein." We speak of this because the fact that two or three theatres can be kept open here all the time shows Omaha to be a metropolitan place.

The Bee published last winter a series of Sabbath evening lectures by Rev. J. W. Harsha, delivered before the young people of the Dodge street church. We understand that the subject for this winter will be the Reformation. This is timely and interesting, and will undoubtedly attract wide attention.

In the District Court yesterday, before Judge Watkins, the case of Thomas vs. Ritter, a suit in ejectment, was tried before a jury and a verdict returned for the defendant. The plaintiff did not put in an appearance at all. Webster and Gaylord appeared for Thomas, and Hon. N. J. Burnham for Ritter.

John Borland, the portly and good looking stock man of Stanton county, is in the city. Dr. Darrow is able to be about again after two weeks illness.

The electric light has been put in at John Bell's Tenth street drug store. John says to the times always.

Cold weather makes the oyster trade boom. The brands of leading Baltimore oysters are represented in this market as usual; but from the list published in another column, by the agent, D. B. Beemer, it would seem that Booth's "Oval Brand" nearly monopolizes the city trade, since from it, it appears that over fifty leading grocers, restaurants, markets and hotels use this brand exclusively.

In this connection it is stated as a fact, which any one can verify by looking, that ten cases out of every dozen arriving daily in express cars for this city and the West are of Booth's Oval Brand.

Sixth City League. A scheme is on foot to organize a base ball league consisting of the cities of Minneapolis, St. Paul, Sioux City, Ottumwa, Keokuk, Dubuque, Davenport, Omaha, Winona and La Crosse. The clubs would be organized as stock companies, with a capital stock of $25,000 each, and would be held under the strictest rules.

The firmen's annual ball, at Crouse's hall last night, was a grand affair. It was attended by about 155 couples, and the music was furnished by Irvine's orchestra. "Every thing passed off in the finest style imaginable."

A serious accident happened Monday night at the roundhouse of the Omaha & St. Paul road. A machinist temporarily employed to fill the place of an employe who was sick, fell into the pit and broke one of his legs in two places.

The convention yesterday occupied ten hours in completing its labors and would have been very tedious but for the occasional speedy little episodes which occurred.

The question is now who will the other convention nominate. It was reported yesterday that the delay in the arrival of the U. P. Denver train, No. 2, which came in four hours late, was caused by an engine and several cars being derailed at North Bend. "Accidents will happen in the best regulated families."

The heavy rain and wind storm of Tuesday night was succeeded by a day gloomy overhead and beastly underfoot. Last night it cleared off beautifully, the moon came out bright as day and the air was decidedly frosty.

A tree on Cuming street, between Ninth and Tenth, the roots of which had been laid bare preparatory to removal, fell down yesterday morning and striking on a house towered the chimney, knocked the lightning rod and put a large hole in the roof.

THE CAMPAIGN OPENS.

The First Cotillion in the City Hall.

A Lively Overture and Walk Around by the Whole Company.

The Performance Last Through Ten Long Hours.

The Posts are Filled After a Hard Struggle.

Long before 1 o'clock p. m. yesterday quite a crowd of men collected on the sidewalk in front of the city hall and in the corridors of that building, the occasion which called out the crowd being the convention of "workingmen and farmers," as it was designated in the call issued some days ago.

Quite a cluster of men were gathered in the mayor's office where the committee dispensed tickets of admission to the council room. A good deal of feeling was manifested on account of the arbitrary course of the committee in refusing credentials to delegates who claimed the right to represent wards and precincts.

The convention was called to order at 2:15 by J. R. Lewis, chairman of the Workingmen and Farmers' County Central Committee, who read the call already published in THE BEE.

The nomination of chairman being in order, several names were mentioned and considerable confusion arose, one of the delegates insisting that a number of duly elected representatives were unfairly excluded from the hall.

On their return their chairman made the following report, which was adopted and the committee discharged. Considerable confusion now arose but the motion was finally carried.

The chairman ordered that the delegates whose credentials were in doubt and so reported by the committee, be taken up by organizations and acted upon one by one.

On motion all the delegates went outside the rail and came in one by one as their names were called.

It was moved that the two delegates excluded from the hall by a clerical error be admitted. Carried.

It was moved that the temporary organization be made permanent. Mr. Lewis being called to the chair, Mr. Young made some very sensible remarks, in which he stated that if he was chosen to the chair he didn't propose to have the convention turned into a rat-hunt.

The temporary organization was made permanent. On motion the credentials referred to the convention were taken up and acted upon.

The first was the certificate of the Union Pacific freight depot working men. Mr. Black contended that this delegation came in the hands of any man but would use his discretionary powers to the best of his judgment.

The chairman stated that he had seen this delegation enter the hall by force and it would be a disgrace to admit them to the convention.

P. F. Murphy, Pat Lynch and Dave Miller were nominated. The latter named being received with hisses. The president appointed Messrs Westerdahl, Burnette and Burns as tellers.

There being no election it was moved to proceed to a new ballot. Carried. On motion the two men receiving the smallest number of votes were dropped, leaving the race between Messrs Murphy and Falconer.

The second ballot resulted: Murphy, 38; Falconer, 24. Mr. Murphy was declared nominated, and, on motion, the nomination was made unanimous.

Mr. Murphy, being called for, thanked the convention briefly for his nomination and promised all the cord for the interest of labor and to perform the duties of the office, if elected, to the best of his ability.

A recess was then taken to 7:30 o'clock. The convention was again called to order at 8 o'clock, and after some little confusion over the question of excluding all who were not delegates, the nominations were made.

The convention was again called to order at 8 o'clock, and after some little confusion over the question of excluding all who were not delegates, the nominations were made.

The grand encampment, I. O. O. F., held a session at Odd Fellows hall, in this city, yesterday, representatives of different lodges in the State being present in large numbers.

The election of officers then came up as a regular order, J. O. Chaso and Max Meyer being appointed tellers. For the office of Grand Patriarch, the following was the first ballot: L. G. Johns, of No. 7, Seward, 16; G. Rasgorshok, No. 3, Plattsmouth, 13; M. Schnellbacher, Plattsmouth, 3.

The grand lodge then went into secret session. Tuesday, Beacon lodge had a very enjoyable meeting, nearly all the members of the Grand Encampment being present.

The grand lodge commenced its session which lasts several days. The route of the procession to-day is: from the hall on Dodge street, west to 16th; south to Farnam; east to 9th; north to Dodge; west to 15th; south to Douglas; east to 9th; countermarch to 10th; north to Masonic hall.

After the procession, probably about 3 p. m., the dinner will be served. Never Give Up. If you are suffering with low and depressed spirits, loss of appetite, general debility, or any disease of a bilious nature, by all means procure a bottle of Electric Bitters.

There has been a series of runaways and accidents of late, all more or less serious, which have hitherto been unrecorded on account of the pressure of other news.

One of these was on Farnam street between 10th and 11th, when a band playing on the street frightened the beautiful team of grays driven to Krug's delivery wagon.

It was moved to elect the candidates whose names were on the list to be before the convention: J. J. L. C. Jewett, Mr. Barton, John Baumer, Jacob Houck, James Anderson, F. J. McShane, A. D. Morris and Wm. F. Heins.

The first ballot resulted: Jewett, 10; Lewis, 2; Baumer, 2; Houck, 4; McShane, 4; Morris, 3; Anderson, 2. There being no election all the candidates were dropped except those having the three highest votes, the second ballot resulting as follows:

Jewett, 16; Baumer, 26; Houck, 9; McShane, 9. It was moved to carry that on the third ballot only the two highest candidates be voted for and the result this time was an election by the following vote:

Baumer, 32; Jewett, 29. Mr. Baumer was declared nominated. It was moved to nominate candidates for clerk of the district court. Mr. Wm. H. Jjams, Wm. F. Heins, and Al Sorenson were nominated. The result of this ballot was:

Sorenson, 29; Heins, 6; Moorehouse, 19. Mr. Jjams was declared the nominee of the convention. COUNTY COMMISSIONER. The nominations for the office of county commissioner were D. L. McGuckin, J. R. Redfield, Patrick Ford, F. W. Corlies, Cyrus Morten and Mr. McCarroll.

A ballot was taken, but before the result was announced the objection was made that sixty-three votes had been cast and that there were not sixty-three delegates present.

THE ODD FELLOWS.

Session of the Grand Encampment and Grand Lodge in This City.

Election of Grand Officers and Other Business Yesterday.

TWO DAMAGE SUITS.

The City Called "Upon for $10,000 for False Imprisonment.

And the Pokrok Zapadu for the Same Amount for Slander.

The bitter fight waged by the city authorities against the establishment of a system of merchants' police, as undertaken by Superintendent Felker, is still fresh in the minds of our readers, and all will remember the successive arrests and imprisonment of several members of the force.

Among others who thus suffered from the persecution was Mr. Geo. C. Burr, who on one occasion was arrested by Officer Matza and kept in jail over night, although he offered to give bonds for his release.

Mr. Burr slept on the floor in a cell with the rest of the prisoners and during the night the rats which infest the place and are as large as rabbits crept over him from time to time, and gave him a shock from which he has never recovered.

He now proposes to bring suit against Officer Matza and his bondsmen and the city of Omaha for $10,000 damages for false imprisonment. N. J. Burnham has been employed as counsel for Burr.

A young man who is charged with having been rude to amorous in his conduct toward ladies at a South Omaha beer hall, Sunday night, is on his ear and threatens to sue the Pokrok Zapadu for $10,000 damages for libel. That paper charged him by name with having tried to force his way into a bed chamber occupied by three young ladies.

A BEAUTIFUL HOME.

The New Residence of Frank Colpetzer on West Douglas Street.

A Business Building in the New Style Opposite the Millard Hotel.

Omaha is building up very solidly. Whatever is constructed here nowadays is permanent and handsome, with an eye to the future growth of the city. Our list of residences receives an addition to-day with the commencement of a new frame house on the northwest corner of Douglas and Twenty-fifth streets, opposite Paxton square, for Hon. Frank Colpetzer.

The house fronts on Twenty-fifth street on the corner a pretty tower runs up to the level of the roof. A broad veranda surrounds the first floor and gives place for much decorative work in wood. The chimneys are all exposed and trimmed elaborately with terra cotta panels, and the steeply sloping roofs and oriel windows in the gable are covered with fancy shingles.

This house will be very large and the interior is divided into large, handsome rooms. The main hall, 12 feet broad, is approached by a vestibule. On the left of the hall is a sitting room with the octagonal tower in the corner; on the right is a drawing-room, 17x37, with a four feet bay window in front. The house is everywhere full of cozy recesses and attractive corners and all manner of ornamentation.

The dining room, with a conservatory south. On the west side of the dining-room is an immense fire place, built in an alcove, the recess allowing seats on each side, and the other end of the room is taken up with a sideboard built into the wall, very solidly and elegantly carved.

The kitchen, separated from the dining room by the rear of the pantry, is a roomy place and off from this is a large pantry. On the north side of the house is a private entrance into the rear hall, and a first-floor toilet room. The furnace by which the house is heated is placed in the stable. The basement is thus left free for other uses.

Perhaps the most beautiful feature of the house is the stairway, which circles from hall to attic, with landings and seats at intervals, lit by stained glass windows, the woodwork being delicately carved. In the second story are seven bed-rooms, a sewing room, linen closet and bathroom. The attic is finished in hard wood with painted ceiling, and will be used as a billiard room.

Opposite the Millard is a new brick block of three stories which has attracted considerable attention on account of several novel features in its front elevation. It is not yet quite finished, but some of the plans in regard to its use will interest our readers.

The East store belongs to Mr. Ben Smith, of New York, and will be run by him. The two stories to the West are built to correspond by Mr. O. C. Campbell.

They are something on the Arcade plan, an open recess being left behind the front pillars, where the floor will be tiled. This recess takes up four or five feet of the first story front, and at the rear are built broad show windows with the entrance door at one side. All the windows of the upper stories are topped with fancy panes of stained glass.

It is Mr. Campbell's intention to rent the store furthest west and use the center one himself for a restaurant. Omaha has never had such a restaurant as its population demands and it is expected that this will fill the bill. The first floor will be the public dining room. An easy flight of stairs goes to the second story where is the ladies dining room, toilette rooms for both ladies and gentlemen and three rooms to let as living apartments.

In the third story are ten bed rooms. Both the dining rooms contain private booths. The kitchen will be an entirely separate two-story brick building, running back to the alley. A circular stairway also leads from the first floor dining hall to that on stairs. The whole is very conveniently planned, will be carefully furnished and nicely decorated and no doubt will soon become a favorite resort.
