

THE DAILY BEE.

COUNCIL BLUFFS.

Thursday Morning, Nov. 22.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES: By Carrier... $30 cents per week... $10.00 per year.

MINOR MENTION.

See Joseph Reiter's fall goods. Additional local on seventh page. Cheap Railroad Tickets at Bushnell's.

Robert Wade is to appear here Thanksgiving night. Ten coopers wanted by Joseph Ross, upper Broadway.

Remember the mail carriers dance next Wednesday evening.

Rev. J. J. Lemen is to talk on "Spiritualism" next Saturday evening.

Justice Vaughan has made Marvin White and Elizabeth A. Dykes husband and wife.

Notarial seals--Best solid metal base $3.00. Novelty Works, Fourteenth street, Omaha.

The new buildings on Main street south of the court house are being pushed right along.

A. M. Bennett, arrested for getting drunk and alarming his wife, has had his case continued until Monday next.

President Harris, of Red Oak, has called a meeting of the state fireman's association to be held in Des Moines, December 19.

The funeral of James Sadowaki, who was killed at the Union Pacific yards Monday, took place yesterday afternoon from the residence on Third avenue.

Mrs. Sadowaki, whose husband was killed by the cars Monday, and who is in a delicate condition herself, is reported as rallying faster than was expected.

The postoffice building is undergoing some minor improvements, but by the way, isn't Council Bluffs to have its new government building pretty soon?

The police have received notice to be on the lookout for a pair of mules stolen from Joe Smith in Andrew county, Mo., and when last heard of headed for Council Bluffs.

Marshal Jackson has been filing informations against the delinquent saloon keepers, and bringing them to time. The extra costs are about $4 for not paying for license promptly.

Justice Abbott was yesterday busy in hearing the case of David Rat'liffe, in whose house it is claimed that some of the lumber stolen from the Hall school building was found.

There was a quiet little wedding at the parlors of Kiel's hotel yesterday, the contracting parties being Mr. K. C. Mass and Mrs. Dora Hook, both of Silver Creek. Justice Vaughan officiated.

The public library is growing. About seventy-five books were added last month and the directors are already talking of getting larger rooms, the number of visitors being also on the increase.

A. G. Brown, an employe of the gas company, while at work on Washington avenue yesterday, was some way struck by a horse and received some severe injuries, mainly to one of his legs.

Isn't it about time that the Union Pacific fulfilled some of the promises made when it got the city council to give up Union avenue? Where are the half-hour trains, the double track, the freight house, etc.?

O. B. Birk and John Shively were arrested yesterday for disorderly conduct, in having the night before kicked over some boxes and oyster cans in front of Louie's restaurant, and making night hideous generally.

A number of the ladies who are interested in the girls' sewing school, which meets every Saturday afternoon in the parlors of the Congregational church, are preparing to give the girls a big Thanksgiving dinner, and the plan is receiving liberal and hearty support.

Elizabeth Whitney has commenced suit against the city claiming $5,000 damages, because of injuries received by falling on a defective sidewalk on Seventh street, between the creek and Myrster street. Her injuries were a broken collar bone and some bruises.

the company, were to submit an agreed case, but nothing has come of it. The Union Pacific owns the street railway now, and as that company has received some large donations from the city, it seems as if in equity the company should at least maintain its own tracks, but if not, it should not dig out the dirt already filled in, and leave great holes in Broadway, to be filled up again. There are enough holes already.

The lecture to be given this evening by the Rev. T. S. Mackay, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, will doubtless be a treat, and Dohany's hall should be crowded. It need not be said that Mr. Mackay is one of the finest public speakers who ever lived here, and additional interest will be added to the lecture by its being illustrated by a large number of pictures thrown upon canvas fifteen feet square by means of the stereopticon, which will be operated by Mr. Barke.

One of the strong points urged for giving the Union Pacific a $40,000 avenue, was that it would be so much more convenient for merchants to deliver freight at the corner of Broadway and Union avenue than to haul it clear to the transfer, and persons wanting to cross from one city to the other in a carriage could drive onto a "ferry" car and go right through. The "ferry" cars do not run through, and the only direct way to drive to or from the transfer has been gobbled up. It looks as if the Union Pacific was a little absent-minded about its promises so readily given. Where are the freight facilities, too?

Kasson and Emerson, the young men whose cases have attracted considerable attention here, were before Judge Aylesworth yesterday. It will be remembered that they were arrested for stealing a railway ticket from the Chicago and Rock Island office and that when arrested Kasson had a gold watch which had been stolen from Mrs. Horten's house where he had been boarding. It was shown that Emerson sold the ticket, but that he did go for Kasson and believed that it was all right. He was therefore discharged, while Kasson was held under $3000 bail to answer to the grand jury. On the charge of the larceny of the watch, he was also bound over, the bail being fixed at $200. Being unable to furnish bail Kasson went back to jail. His relatives to prominent men in this state, but his family and friends seem to have lost faith in him, and seem disposed now to let him go his way and look out for himself.

The slowness of the city in replacing the bridges swept away by the floods of last spring, speaks very badly for the enterprise of the town. In almost any other city under the sun, the damages done by such a flood would have been repaired at once, even if extraordinary measures had to be resorted to. Every stranger visiting the city has before him this striking illustration of the lack of enterprise, and business, too, is affected by it. For instance, there are here two as large and excellent flouring mills as can be found anywhere in this part of the country, but farmers complain that in bringing in grain, they cannot conveniently visit more than one of these, the absence of bridges forcing them to make a roundabout journey in order to reach both. Farmers get the idea, naturally if not justly, that they are thus deprived of competition, and whether this or not, they want the privilege which every one wants, of getting prices from more than one place, before buying or selling. The city cannot afford to let public improvements drag along. In public matters the city is showing fast growth but in bridge matters there is a bad lack of "zip."

An Unwritten Story. Lecture at Dohany's Opera House, Thursday evening by Rev. T. J. Mackay, illustrated by oxy-hydrogen stereopticon. Admission only 25 cents. Reserved seats 50 cents. For sale at Bushnell & Brackett's.

Home at Last. THE BEE, a few days ago, chronicled the fact of an old lady arriving here from Oregon, in search of her son, George L. Dyer, and failing to find him, the old lady was cared for at the home of the friendless. It now appears that the old lady, who is so advanced in years that she has lost much use of her memory, was sent through from Oregon, and was to be met here by her son-in-law, Mr. J. V. Bishop, of Springville, Iowa, who was to escort her to her son, who lives in Davenport. Mr. Bishop was taken ill, and was unable to come here. He accordingly telegraphed to Mr. Jones, who lives here, and who married a granddaughter of the old lady. Jones was at the transfer when the old lady arrived, but as he nor his wife had ever seen her, they missed her, and the old lady wandered about the city, while Jones telegraphed Bishop that she had not come. There was considerable telegraphing done between Oregon and the Iowa relatives, and in the meantime the old lady was cared for here in the home of the friendless. She being traced to this city, her son came on here and has now taken the old lady to his home in Davenport. It is probably the last trip the feeble old lady will take, until she goes to that home from which no traveler returns. She will doubtless spend her declining days at her son's home. If there had not been such an institution in Council Bluffs as the home for the friendless the situation of the old lady here would indeed have been pitiable.

Real Estate Transfers. The following deeds were filed for record in the recorder's office, November 21, reported for the Bee by P. J. McMahon, real estate agent: D. W. McCauley to Henry Bollier, lots 9 and 19, block 1, Voorhis' add; $1,500. J. P. Cassidy to L. S. Hatell, s.w. 1/4, township 19, section 77, range 43; $300. S. F. Covell to W. S. Covell, part lot 45, original plat; $200.

County treasurer to Mary Raum, part s.w. 1/4, township 25, section 76, range 44; $4.35. Total sales $2,204.35.

COOPERS WANTED. Joseph Ross, on upper Broadway, wants ten good coopers at once.

A MUDDY POOL.

It Is Difficult Just Now to See the Bottom.

More Predictions of a Railway War.

The railway talk is now mainly centered on the topic of the threatened withdrawal of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul from the Iowa pool. The Chicago Times terms the affair a fiasco, and gives the following details and prediction: The adjourned meeting of the Iowa Trunk-Line association, which was to have been held yesterday at Commissioner Midgely's office, was rendered unnecessary by the withdrawal of the Milwaukee & Northern, which runs direct from Burlington to St. Paul, and from there an indefinite postponement is announced by the commissioner. The situation does not lose its gravity, and all of the lines interested are getting ready for a fight. The Burlington, Rock Island, and Northwestern are all in excellent positions not only to defend their Council Bluffs business, but also to make it exceedingly warm for their competitor on St. Paul business. The Northwestern has an exclusive line direct to St. Paul, but the Burlington & Rock Island will have to work together over the same line. Each of the roads owns one-half interest in the Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Northern, which runs direct from Burlington to St. Paul. The Rock Island there has a further advantage in a traffic arrangement over the Albert Lea route, running from Liberty City to St. Paul.

If matters are not fixed up before the expiration of the thirty days' notice, the Iowa pool will necessarily go to pieces, and in its downfall will be carried the Central and Northwestern Traffic associations. These are merely traffic agreements to maintain rates, and when the pool collapses there will be no occasion to maintain rates in these associations. The Southwestern Railway association can only be affected by an extended war, it is thought. It existed long before any Iowa association was dreamed of, and has weathered several stormy seasons among its northern neighbors. The cutting of rates to the Missouri river will naturally effect through western business, and the result of such a war as this promises to be would be a general demoralization of great magnitude. Some are inclined to regard the actions of the Milwaukee & St. Paul as a mere "bluff," but the general feeling is that serious business is intended by the dissatisfied line.

THE NEW DYEWORKS. F. R. Hurlbut has opened, at No. 34 Pearl street, a steam dyeing and French dry cleaning works. Plumes and trich, velvets, silks, satins, gents' clothing, merchant's shelf worn goods, all made as good as new. BUSINESS BEFORE PLEASURE. The firemen of Iowa are invited to a Practical Consultation. The following call for a meeting of the Iowa Firemen's association is unique, in that it strikes at one of the chief defects in the usual gatherings, that of too much sport and too little business: To the Firemen of Iowa: During our June meeting at Waterloo, many of the best firemen of the state expressed themselves as dissatisfied with the work of the association, claiming that they were deriving no benefits from its meetings; that the one item of speed was the only one receiving attention; that the hundreds of other things, equally as important, were never mentioned. During the last two months we have received many letters from firemen all over the state, urging the calling of a meeting of the association, and after due consultation with the board of control, have decided to call a meeting of the association at Des Moines, December 19 and 20, 1883, during which time we desire to hold five meetings; one at 10 a. m.; one at 2 p. m.; one at 7:30 p. m. the 19th, and one at 9:30 a. m. and 2 p. m. the 20th. The meetings are designed for earnest, practical work. Junketing, sight-seeing and speech-making we desire to defer until tournament time, in June. Think up and note down everything beforehand there will be of interest and profit to your brother firemen. No fee of any kind will be required from those now members of the association. Those joining the association at this meeting will have no dues to pay at our June meeting. Arrangements have been made with the railroad companies to return delegates for one-third fare, making round trip equal two cents per mile each way. Every fireman is invited to be present. For further information, address any one of the present board of control. E. A. HARRIS, Pres. Iowa Firemen's Association.

Handsome Picture Cards. Messrs. C. B. Jacquemin & Co., are distributing some of the handsomest steel plate engraved picture cards published. The better part is the notice attached by which they inform the public of the reduction in the prices of their goods, and as the holiday season is approaching it will pay all to give them a call.

Rev. Oliver Emerson died on the 17th inst. at his home in Miles, Jackson county, of Bright's disease, making 71 years. He was the pioneer preacher of the section, having come to Iowa as a missionary in 1840, preaching his first sermon in Davenport.

Broken hearts and funeral expenses may be avoided in every case of diphtheria by using Dr. Thomas Jeffries (Council Bluffs, Iowa) preventive and cure. Send for it at once. No physician required.
