Plain Facts Plainly Spoken.

At one time a discussion of the secret vice was entirely avoided by the profession, and medical works but a few years ago would hardly mention it.

To-day the physician is of a different opinion; he is aware that it is his duty—disagreeable though it may be—to handle this matter without gloves and speak plainly about it; and intelligent parents and guardians will thank him for doing so.

The results attending this destructive vice were ormerly not understood, or not properly estimated; and no importance being attached to a subject which by its nature does not invite close investigation, it was willingly ignored.

its nature does not invite close investigation, it was willingly ignored.

The habit is generally contracted by the young while attending school; older companions through their example, may be responsible for it, or it may be acquired through accident. The excitement once experienced, the practice will be repeated again and again, until at last the habit becomes firm and completely enslaves the victim. Mental and nervous afflictions are usually the primary results of self-abuse. Among the injurious effects may be mentioned lassitude, dejection or irrascibility of temper and general debility. The boy seeks seclusion, and rarely joins in the sports of his companions. If he be a young man he will be little found in company with the other sex, and is troubled with exceeding and annoying bashfulness in their presence. Lascivious dreams, emissions and cruptions on the face, etc., are also prominent symptoms.

Young Men

Who may be suffering from the effects of youthfu follies or indiscretions will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of sufering humanity. Dr. WAGNER will guarantee to forcit $500 for every case of seminal weakness or private disease of any kind and character, which he undertakes to and fails to cure.

Middle Aged Men.

There are many at the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the blad der, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation, and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of thin milkish hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many, many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal-weakness. Dr. W. will guarantee a perfect cure in all cases and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary or gans.

A FRIEND TO ALL.

One Who is Needed and Nobly Fills his

Denver is more fortunate than she knows in the possession of the talents and energies of a man who has given his time and thought not merely to the perfection of his skill as a practitioner of his profession of medicine, but to the study of those profound things of science and nature which tend to the more complete understanding of the problem of life and of the laws of nature and the means of gaining the greatest practical goods to mankind from the information thus acquired in the abstract. Such a man is Dr. H. Wagner, who is located at 343 Larimer street. Dr. Wagner devoted many years to the acquisition of the knowledge necessary to his profession in a number of the leading medical schools of the most eminent and profound teachers, such names as Dr. Gross and Dr. Pancoast appearing among his proceptors. Nor dis his studies end here. They continue d in the field of the practicing family phisician and in the experiences of a man of extensive travel. He has visited every section of the United States paying studious attention to the different characteristics of the various portions of the country, particularly with regard to their effect, climatic and otherwise upon nealth and the different forms of diseases. With the combined powers of close study, extensive observation and almost unlimited practice, Dr. Wagner came to Denver three years ago equipped as few have the right to claim to battle the foe of mankind, the dreated enemy, disease. In order to render the greatest good to society, Dr. Wagner decided to lay aside the general branches of practice and bring all has ripe knowledge and power to bear upon the foe which among the army of insidious death agents is the greatest. His wide experience had taught him what weapons to use and which to discard, and after equipping himself as his trained judgment was so well able to advise him he commenced boldly and confidently his attack. In estimating the results and success achieved, it is only necessary to know the doctor's p-sition and standing to-day. While located i Place.

Finding a Good Excuse. Vall Street Daily News.

One day three or four weeks ago a retail grocer over in Jersey sat down with his clerk and said: down, and this would be the time to fail in business." "It certainly would." "But I want a reasonable apology to give my creditors when they come down on us for an explanation. See if you can't think of something to night, and let me know in the morning." The clerk promised, and the grocer wheeled a chest of tea and a bag of coffee home as a beginning. Next morning when he appeared at the store the safe was open, the cash gone and on the desk was a note from the clerk reading: "I have taken the $2,000 and am prepared to skip It will be the best excuse in the world for your failing so flat that creditors can't realize 2 cents on the dollar."

Train Talk.

Chicago Herald. "Yes, Flood and O'Brien used to keep a saloon, and so did Mackey," said an elderly passenger who had traveled about some and hadn't forgotten it. "I was out on the coast myself back in the fifties, and there's lots of men who now carry themselves pretty high that wasn't quite so proud them days. I know a case, a man what's bloomin' out fine now, who was in them times a faro dealer. He would his own game, a squar one it was, too, and had nary a limit. The boys used to think Jim would give 'em a show for their white alley, and he had a good many friends in the camps. He had nerve, I tell ye, an' I believe it's nerve has made him what he is. Nothin' like true grit tr send a man prancin' to the front in this world. One Sunday he was runnin' his lay-out in a little shanty in cour gulch, when a gang o' teamsters from over the range tackled the game. Some of 'em were ugly drunk, and weren't very perlite in their langwidge. Bimeby the dealer raked in a big stack of up a loser. One o' the teamsters, a big, bullyin' cuas, swore he had a copper on the stack an' his bet had won! unstead of losin. Jim quietly remarked that he very rarely made mistakes, but perhaps he had his time, an' if the gentleman was sure he was right he would pay the bet, at the same pleasantly handin' over the two stacks. This made the ugly teamster think Jim was afraid of him an' his gang, an' he began to blow' bout nod dambler bein' smart enough to steal from him right before his face'n' eyes. Jim turned his box over, told the players to keep their eyes on their chips, and says quiet but solid like:

""I aim to treat every man that plays at my table like a gentleman, but I can't stand no such chaff as that, sir, and I want you to cashin yer chips immediately and git right out that door."
