JANUARY proved an unprofitable month for the insurance companies.

The aggregate loss by fire during the month was $12,000,000.

The land frauds in Dakota are to be investigated, and a good start has been made by the indictment of a large number of prominent attorneys for frauds in land office cases.

COLONEL ROBERT G. INGERSOLL has had a good deal to say about the "Mistakes of Moses," but Moses never made such a serious mistake as Ingersoll did when he invested a big sum of money in a worthless silver mine.

The Atlanta Constitution reports that there is no McDonald boom in the south. Now let us hear from the Courier-Journal, whether Louisville is in the south—or has it followed Uncle Tom across the Ohio river?

TRUTH is mighty, and will prevail. Josh Hart, editor of Truth, has obtained a verdict of $5,000 against George Alfred Townsend for libel. Townsend's reputation for stretching the truth has thus been maintained.

SO FAR as the American hog question is concerned, the indications are that a majority of the house foreign affairs committee is inclined to hold that our government cannot retaliate upon France and Germany without violating treaty stipulations.

CHICAGO proposes to take the initiative step in solving the overhead wire problem. She intends to put the wires of her new fire alarm system under ground, and remove all the city poles. City electrician Barrett, who has convinced himself of the practicability of the underground system, will have charge of the work.

HON. JAMES LAIRD, of Nebraska, who was a soldier in the Fifth corps, commanded by Porter at the second battle of Bull Run, made a ringing speech on behalf of his old leader—a speech which was greeted with tremendous applause by Porter's friends, says the Chicago Tribune.

GENERAL CROOK, who a few months ago was a much-abused man in Arizona, because he insisted on keeping good faith with the Indians, is now very highly esteemed in that territory, he having demonstrated that his policy was the correct one to be pursued. A rumor having been started that he was about to be transferred to another department, the Tucson Star declares that no "greater calamity could be visited upon Arizona than taking Crook from us."

MR. WELLER, the greenback congressman from Iowa, has introduced a resolution authorizing the president to offer a reward of one hundred thousand standard silver dollars to anybody rescuing and restoring the Greeley party to any part of the United States during this year. It seems rather inconsistent in the Iowa greenbacker to prefer standard silver dollars to one dollar greenbacks.

Isn't it about time that Omaha was doing something towards making a contribution to the pedestal for Bartholdi's statue of liberty? The probability is, however, that nothing will be done until Mayor Chase returns from the national capital. Meantime Lincoln is exerting herself in this commendable movement. She has held a meeting of her prominent citizens, and appointed a state committee of thirty, with Governor Davenport as chairman. This committee will probably call on Omaha for a contribution.

SUIT in ejectment has been brought by the Methodist Protestant church extension board of Nebraska against J. D. Johnson, of Lincoln, to recover a lot in that city. It is a test case, and if the plaintiff should win it, it would follow with other suits, laying claim to about half of the Nebraska capital. The matter has stirred up quite a breeze in Lincoln, and the Journal attempts to quiet the agitated nerves of the citizens by assuring them that "the titles to the property now claimed by the Methodist Protestant church have been examined by half a dozen of the best lawyers of the state, and all are of the opinion that there is nothing in it for the church. The church, not being incorporated, could not hold real property, and the land now claimed was simply held in trust by those who transferred it to the state. The church, it is understood, does not question these facts, but holds that authority was not given by the board for the transfer. As it was not then incorporated, it was not, in a legal sense, in existence, and therefore no authority was required to make a legal transfer."

CALLING THE UNION PACIFIC TO ACCOUNT.

Senator Van Wyck's resolution relative to Union Pacific dividends will meet with the hearty approval of the people of the United States. The resolution provides that no dividends shall hereafter be declared by the Union Pacific except from actual net earnings, and no new stock shall be issued or pledged be made on property or net earnings of the company without the leave of congress, except for the purpose of funding and securing debts now existing, or the renewal thereof, and a heavy penalty—fine and imprisonment—is provided for the violation of any part of the act by any director or officer of the company.

The Union Pacific company has for years gone on and declared dividends, without paying any attention to the reduction of its enormous debt. The net earnings of the company for 1883 amounted to $11,391,650. The dividends for the year were 7 per cent, which is equal to 14 per cent on the actual capital invested. The dividends of course go into the pockets of the stockholders, notwithstanding the company owes the United States nearly $50,000,000, principal and interest. Notwithstanding the fact that it is realizing 14 per cent a year on its actual investment, half of the investment being loaned by the government at 6 per cent, it has not had the decency even to pay the interest on its debt. The debt falls due in 1895, and the company, through the annual report of the government directors, says that it will not be able to meet its obligations, unless the bonds loaned to it at 6 per cent are refunded at 3 per cent, on the plan of the bill recently introduced by Senator Edmunds, but really drawn up by the federal railroad commissioner. That bill is simply a scheme to present to the railway kings millions of dollars in addition to the many millions already donated to them. That bill proposes to postpone for sixty years the payment of a debt which is due in a little over ten years, and besides the extension of time it reduces the interest one-half. It would simply be a monstrous robbery of the people for the benefit of the railway barons. How such a man as Senator Edmunds could be induced to foster such a bill is beyond our comprehension. That it will pass we have no fears, for it is too transparent on its face. The intention of Senator Van Wyck's resolution is to put a stop to the declaration of dividends other than from actual net earnings, it having been the game of the directors to declare big dividends simply for the purpose of robbing the road and the government. They have so handled the accounts of the road that the apparent amount of the net earnings has been much less than the real net earnings, the object being to make their payments to the government much less than they should be. Another object of the resolution is to correct this style of book-keeping and compel the company to apply some of its net earnings to the payment of its debt, and to prevent it from creating new debts by issuing new stock or mortgages.

THE VOICE OF OHIO.

Hon. Charles Foster, late governor of Ohio, has declared in a recent interview that Arthur, if nominated for president, would not carry Ohio. The Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette declares that the republicans will get the electoral vote of Ohio for their candidate, be his name Arthur, or Logan, or Sherman, or Blaine, or Grosham, or Harrison, or Hawley, or Fairchild. The assertion of Foster finds little support also among republican members of congress from Ohio. An authorized report of interviews with most of the republican congressmen from Ohio fails to sustain Foster's allegations. Judge Taylor, of the Garfield district, expresses confidence that Ohio's vote will be given to the republican nominee. Representative Taylor says that Arthur's administration has given almost universal satisfaction, and thinks he would carry the state. Alphonso Hart says that Sherman can carry the state. Logan can carry it, and so can Arthur, whose administration has, on the whole, been wise and successful. As to Arthur's administration, says Hon. John W. McCormick, it began under circumstances of peculiar embarrassment, and has been, to say the least, skillful, fair and just; and the general welfare and prosperity of the whole country have been promoted. Gen. J. S. Robinson gives it as his judgment that Ohio will cast its vote for either Arthur, Sherman, Logan, or any other republican who should be nominated. Of President Arthur's administration, Representative M'Kinley adopts the language of the Ohio republican platform of last year, it "has been wise, conservative and patriotic. It has done much to destroy the factions within the party, to banish discord from its ranks, and to bring all the elements into better and more harmonious relations."

These expressions of sentiment and opinion are many and timely, and will have their due weight within Ohio, and well as beyond its confines.

Whether John C. New has resigned is yet an open question. Secretary Folger says that he has no knowledge of his resignation other than that acquired from reading the newspapers. He has received no notice that Mr. New does not intend to return to his duties as assistant secretary of the treasury. Mr. Folger has informed the numerous applicants for Mr. New's shoes that he does not propose to think about a successor to Mr. New until he is informed officially that that gentleman transmitted his resignation to the president.

The suit of Marie Prescott, the actress, against the American News company for circulating a newspaper containing a libel upon her character—in which she received a verdict for $12,000, but which was reversed by the court of appeal—has been the cause of a bill being introduced in the New York legislature providing that no newswriter shall be held responsible for any libelous article in the newspapers which he may sell unless it be proved that he was aware of the character of such article. This bill will probably be passed, and will put an end to such unjust suits as that of Miss Prescott.

REFORM IN OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Prof. Tousey, who has charge of the public schools of Minneapolis, recommends changes in the system of instruction which point in the direction which THE BEE has again and again recommended. He leaves out, for the present, the matter of industrial education, which we have lately considered, and taking the public school as it is, has sought out and exposed its weakest points. This he affirms to be the scattering of forces, resulting in a vast deal of so-called instruction without thoroughness in anything. On one point the professor takes radical and advanced ground, and that is the prominence of the text book method over oral instruction, which has long been one of the most objectionable features of our public school system. One reason, perhaps, why few educational directors have thus far favored this problem has been because it is complicated by the necessity of securing teachers of a high grade of efficiency as well as of scholarship. Prof. Tousey, however, speaks squarely and plainly in regard to this matter. He characterizes very much of the work imposed upon pupils at present as "a mental debauch," and expresses a determination to "knock the bottom out of the text-books." The substance of the charge which he proposes is thus given, approvingly, by the St. Paul Press: To impart life, vigor, and the influence of personality to the education of the young; to make the subjects taught a natural part of the experience even of a child, instead of a mere fragment of text-book rote; to teach grammar by actual use of the language instead of by set rules and formulas, such as have tortured unhappy youth from time immemorial; to make reading a matter of intelligence instead of a comical attack upon the selections which fantastic wits have incorporated in most of the reading books in use; in a word, to make teaching a work of intelligent communication between a mind informed and one struggling to inform itself, and learning a part of every-day experience instead of an excursion into some twilight realm, to which only the teacher and the text-book maker have actual right of entrance.

It is in such movements as these that THE BEE sees promise of a reform that will ultimately adapt our public schools to the practical affairs of life, and cease to conform them to a not merely antiquated but a radically defective ideal.

THE RIVER CONVENTION.

The Mississippi river convention, now in session at Washington, is being attended by over five hundred delegates, among whom are many influential men from the states in the Mississippi and Missouri valleys. The convention has been called in the interest of the Mississippi and Missouri rivers and their navigable tributaries, and it has an important work to perform. Its recommendations will be acted upon by congress, and the amount of money needed for the improvement of our western water ways will in a great measure be determined by this body, representing at least one half of the population of the United States, and, as has been said by a contemporary, region that produces three fourths of the staples of export and pays more than half of the national tax. What we need is cheap transportation to the seaboard for our vast products of grain and provisions, and this can be obtained by means of our water routes if they are sufficiently improved. The water routes will afford competition with the railways, and thus cheapen transportation.

Of course attempts will be made to secure appropriations for rivers that are not worthy of improvement, but all efforts in this direction will probably fail. The precaution has been taken by the government to ascertain the number of rivers and harbors that are worth improving and whether the contemplated improvement is a public necessity.

The local engineers have made a preliminary examination of nearly all the rivers and harbors and have in sixty-six cases reported that the localities are not worthy of improvement and that they have reported in eleven cases that localities are worthy of improvement, but that the improvement is not a public necessity. These preliminary examinations will save the government hundreds of thousands of dollars, for in the face of these reports of the engineers the river and harbor committee will not venture to appropriate money for these proposed new works in response to the urgent demands of congressmen, who at the first instance asked the surveys to be made.

The weeding out of all the unworthy rivers leaves to the Mississippi and its tributaries a much better show of securing an appropriation that will be commensurate with the importance of these great waterways.

IN GENERAL.

Three-eighths interest in the Park mine at Ketchikan, Idaho, was recently sold for $15,000. Negotiations are also pending for the Noonday mine at $180,000.

A company has been organized here with a capital stock of $40,000, to develop some promising mining property in the Fremont district southwest of Denning, N. M. Some fine ore has been brought in from there.

The town of Caldwell, Idaho, is now about four months old. The first settlement was made on the 27th of September. Although very young it is a solid town, and there are many located who will make it a hustling city in a short time.

Just About the Size of it.

Omaha and Council Bluffs are struggling with the question of building a wagon bridge across the Missouri river between the two cities. As usual, the Union Pacific railroad comes to the front smiling and promises to strangle the infant enterprise if it is carried any further. The people up there are trying to find how they can avoid dancing whenever the U. P. whistles.

No Ohio Ideas Wanted.

To organize victory in the nation the party must first repudiate Ohio ideas about the currency, repudiate Ohio ideas about the tariff and repudiate Ohio ideas about the civil service. With these ideas success is impossible. They simply mean disagreement and defeat.
