Plain Facts Plainly Spoken.

At one time a discussion of the secret vice was entirely avoided by the profession, and medical works but a few years ago would hardly mention it.

To-day the physician is of a different opinion; he is aware that it is his duty—disagreeable though it may be—to handle this matter without gloves and speak plainly about it; and intelligent parents and guardians will thank him for doing so.

The results attending this destructive vice were ormerly not understood, or not properly estimated; and no importance being attached to a subject which by its nature does not invite close investigation, it was willingly ignored.

The habit is generally contracted by the young no importance being attached to a subject which by its nature does not invite close investigation, it was willingly ignored.

The habit is generally contracted by the young while attending school; older companions through their example, may be responsible for it, or it may be acquired through accident. The excitement once experienced, the practice will be repeated again and again, until at last the habit becomes firm and completely enslaves the victim. Mental and nervous af flictions are usually the primary rosults of self-abuse Among the injurious effects may be mentioned lassitude, dejection or irrascibility of temper and general debility. The boy seeks seclusion, and rarely joins in the sports of his companions. If he be a young man he will be little found in company with the other sex, and is troubled with exceeding and annoying bashfulness in their presence. Lascivious dreams, emissions and eruptions on the face, etc., are alse prominent symptoms.

If the practice is violently persisted in, more serious disturbances take place. Great palpitation of the heart, or epileptic convulsions, are experienced, and the sufferer may fall into a complete state of idiocy before, finally, death relieves him.

To all those engaged in this dangerous, practice, i would say, first of all, stop it at once, make every possible effort to do se; but if you fall, if your nervous system is already too much shattered, and consequently, your will-power broken, take some nerve tonic to aid you in your effort. Having freed yourself from the habit, I would further counsel you to go through a regular course of treatment, for it is a great mistake to suppose that any one may, for some time, be tevery so litt'e give himself up to this fascinatine but dangerous excitement without suffering from itself consequences as some future time. The number of young men who are incapaciated to fill the duties be t every solitt'e give himself up to this fascinatine but dangerous excitement without suffering from it-evil consequences at some future time. The number of young men who are incapaciated to fill the duties enjoined by wellook is alarmingly large, and in most of such cases this unfortunate condition of things can be traced to the practice of self-abuse, which had been abandoned years ago. Indeed, a few months' practice of this habit is sufficient to induce spermatorrhose later years, and I have many of such cases under treat, ment at the present day.

Young Men

Middle Aged Men.

There are many at the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation, and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of thin milkish hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many, many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal-weakness. Dr. W. will guarantee a perfect cure in all cases and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

Denver is more fortunate than she knows in the possession of the talent's and energies of a man who has given his time and thought not merely to the perfection of his skill as a practitioner of his profession of medicine, but to the study of those profound things of science and nature which tend to the more compute understanding of the problem of life and of the laws of nature and the means of gaining the greatest practical goods to mankind from the information thus acquired in the abstract. Such a man is Dr. H. Wagner, who is located at 343 Larimer street. Dr. Wagner devoted many years to the acquisition of the knowledge necessary to his profession in a number of the leading medical shools of the most eminent and profound teachers, such names as Dr. Gross and Dr. Pancoast appearing among his preceptors. Nor di. his studies end here. They continue a in the field of the practicing family phisician and in the experiences of a man of extensive travel. He has visited every section of the United States paying studious attention to the different characteristics of the various portions of the country, particularly with regard to their effect, climatic and otherwise upon nealth and the different characteristics of the various portions of the country, particularly with regard to their effect, climatic and otherwise upon nealth and the different characteristics of the various portions of the focus of mankind, the dreaded enemy, disease. In order to render the greatest good to society, Dr. a agner decided to lay aside the general branches of practice and oring all has r pe knowledge and power to bear upon he foe which among the army of inscious leath agents is the greatest. ANOTHER CATTLE-KING DEAD.

Interesting Sketch of the Life of the Deceased Millionaire.

Story of His Western Wanderings-His Indian Bride-His Immense Wealth, Denver Tribune.

The life of John W. Prowers, the millionaire stockman of West Las Animas, Colorado, who died in Kansas City a few days ago, was an eventful one. The history of the deceased consists of chap-James E. Richardson, Custom House, New Orleans, on oath, says: In 1870 Scrofulons Ulvers broke out on my body until I was amass of co ruption. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. I became a nere wreek. At times I could not lift my hands to my head, could not turn in bed; was in constant ain, and looked upon life as a carse. No relief or cure in ten years. In 1880 I head of the Cutteura Reselles, used them and was perfectly cured.

Sworn to before U. S. Com. J. D. CRAWFORD. ters romantic and eventful. It follows

PENNILESS PIONEER,

Mr. Prowers was born in Westport, in January, 1843. Possessed of the uneasy and Bohemian disposition of many a Missouri youth at that time, he went west when young. In those days the locomotive had not placed its iron feet in that new southwest and was an unknown quantity west of the Mississippi. He formed part of a freight-er's train that accomplished in weeks a journey that is now completed in hours. Prowers was penniless, or at of indomitable energy, and possessed of constitute a successful candidate for wealth in the new west.

Arrived in Colorado, young Prowers entered the employ of Colonel Bent, a prominent Indian trader, who operated near the present site of West Las Animas, then nothing but prairie and forest. The pale faces were few in the new camps, and the Indians, though appearing friendly, were treacherous. But through many dangers Prowers bore

A CHARMED LIFE. and after a few months' residence among his new surroundings began to discover new affinities, and grew very familiar with the chiefs of the Cheyenne and Blackfeet Indians, who occasionally visited Fort Lyon. It was during one of these Indian pow wows that the trader and the redskins were negotiating guns and ammunition, tobacco and trinkets dear to the Indian heart for ponies, cattle and what was dearer to the heart of present at the council, and when the long-necked pipe of peace came round to him he took a vigorous pull at it, but meanwhile was a most interested listener, though he scarcely understood anything that was said in the Algonquin tongue. There was a language, however, with which he was familiar—

THE LANGUAGE OF LOVE.

Among the visitors at the fort was Poisoned with Potash and Mercury Is the tale of a large percentage of sick people in the world; such a large number, in fact, that it is hard to tell whether there are not as many victims to this mineral poisoning as to diseases of the blood and skin.

"I took potash," said one, "and while it partially dried up the cruption temporarily, it came near drying my vitality for all time. It drove the disease in my system, only to break out again on some other part of my body."

To such Swift's Specific is the ramady the pale face-land. Young Prowers was a case of love at first sight, and a year after that, in 1856, they were quietly married at the fort. In his letters to his family, then at Westport, he spoke of his bride in the usual eloquent style of lovers. The family were scandalized by what they choose to term a messalliance, but became ere long reconciled to his choice, in view of the fact that Amy had always proved herself to be a most devoted companion and wife. By this union came a family of ten children, seven of whom are still alive. The "little widow," as she is called, is but 35 years of age now. She is now in Kansas City.

We have tried them and found them wonderfully quick at divining the source of a mysterous crime, pa tient in testing a plan for capturing suspected persons, and-yes, uncommuni cative. There is just one reason, and only one reason, why they are not to be trusted-no one can tell who has the most influence over them. Anyhow, we can't afford to take the risk of employing them and being betrayed by them.
