VIEWS OF EUROPE.

As Given by Hon. George L. Miller a the Opera House Last Night.

An Interesting Lecture and an Ap preciative Audience,

A ve y intellectual audience, numberg nearly three hundred, were assemled in the opera house last evening to hear Hon, George L. Miller's lecture on his travels in Europe, given for the benefit of the flood sufferers in the east, Besides the speaker there were on the stage Hon. James E. Boyd, president of the meeting, and Hon. H. T. Clarke.

The speaker was introduced by Mr. Boyd, with some very apt and fitting remarks on the virtue of charity.

The speaker premised his lecture with an apology for not being better prepared for such an occasion, stating that he would have taken down jottings by other means than his own mind, had he known -The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Cliff will he would be called on to deliver such a

My observation shall be confined mostly to England, although I visited many other countries. I saw Rome, Marino, Nice and Monte Carlo. Any one of these topics would be a pleasant theme for an hour's talk with you. When I first saw Ireland I felt thankful that I had been enabled, after many struggles, to see that beautiful isle. When I saw those perpendicular shores, when I saw those ancient citles, I saw them with in blood. The men under William the First were pirates, and there are many est climates that ever blest the earth made so by the gulf stream which flows up from the south. England owes her national strength, the strength of her in-dividuals, to the fact of climate. The foundation of England's greatness depends upon two things-religion and coal. When you go over to England you see royalty, at the summit of which is the noblest of women, Queen Victoria, next to whom is the prince of Wales, and I prayed for them regularly, although I think the prince needed praying for much more than the queen. The law of class governs everything. Eight hun-dred and seventy-four land owners in England own 5,000 acres of land each, or one-fourth of England. In England one man in twenty owns real estate, in Scotland one in twenty-five, in Ireland one in seventy-nine."

When court adjourned last evening all the evidence for the state had been adduced, and the of prisoners marched into police court testimony of one witness for the defense District Attorney Godwin made the following motion to the court yesterday: Now comes Parke Godwin, as district attorney, and praying for the empanueling of a new grand jury, makes known to your honors:

That since the discharge of the grand ury of the present term the following cases have accumulated on the crimina calendar of the police court:

The State against Simpson, charged with horse stealing. The State against Kimball, charged with horse stealing. The State against Williams, charged with burglary and larceny of $300. The State against Newell, charged with embezzlement. Of these cases the first and third have been examined in the police court and the persons accused committed to jail for the June term; the others are in process of investigation. Persons committed to jail now for the June term will, if kept there, entail unnecessary burden upon the county for heir maintenance. All these cases can be disposed of speedily and with little expense. Under section 405 of the criminal code

t shall be lawful for the court, whenever it may be deemed necessary, to order the calling of a new grand jury at any time after the discharge of the preceding one. Much of the criminal investigation by the late jury was barren and unsatisactory. Etements of discord were early manifest. Persons charged with crime and held to await its action were allowed to go free. The cause is not one of conecture. During its session rumors were ifloat of a conspiracy to defeat action against a certain person held for a serious offense. That person was not indicted. Promise has been made by one of its members to place me in possession of facts which, if shown to exist, will be employed in bringing the conduct of certain members of that body to the public

DENYING IDLE RUMORS.

Commissioner Vining Claims That No. Trouble Exists in the Trunk Line Association.

E. P. Vining, commissioner of the Western Trunk Line association has heard of nothing tending to sustain the rumors that any of the lines in his association have become dissatisfied. He says it is fair to assume that the men who signed the agreement were authorized to act for their respective lines, and that holding responsible positions they were competent to decide whether or not the alliance would be a benefit. It is hardly likely, he said, that they should suddenly conclude that it was a disadvantage to belong to it, when they entered it with their own free will, after mature consideration, and were neither beguiled nor seduced thereto. Further, the last two lines were taken in merely for the sake of her mony, and not as a matter of right. The Union Pacific, having a right to dispense its business as it saw fit, formed the tripartite agreement, and it was only to avoid complications that other lines were the same of the complete of of th On the night of the 20th, the postoffice at Dakota City was robbed. EXTENDED DEVOTION.

The Inauguration of "Forty Hours Devotion" at Holy Family Church.

A large congregation assembled Sun day morning, at 10:30, in Holy Family church to assist at the inauguration of the "forty hours devotion." It was ommenced by a solemn high mass of exposition, Father Zealand, S. J., being celebrant; Father Leason, S. J., deacon; Mr. Gartland, S. J., sub-deacon and Father Lambert, master of ceremonies The mass was followed by a procession of the blessed sacrament-one of the most important rites of the church,-and the chanting of the litany of the saints.

This devotion lasts forty hours, or until Tuesday evening, during which time the sacred species are exposed on the al-tar for the adoration of the faithful. At no hour during that period are they supposed to be left without some one to pay homage to them. The "forty hours" is instituted to prepare the hearts and minds of the people for the penetential season of lent, and that they, by their prayers, may make reparation for the nany insults offered the holy name of

For it every preparation is made, that the surroundings of the God-man may be in keeping with His holy and exalted dignity. The sanctuary presents a beau-titul scene. It is a garden of natural plants artistically arranged. On the altar stands a large cross, harp and lyre of exquisite workmanship, in cut flowers. Among the plants are interspersed numerous burning candles in whose light are reflected the rich gildings of the handsome altar, which forms a magnificent background to the whole. The picture thus presented is at once pleasing and inspiring. The work of decoration is that of Mess Lizzie Murphy and Mrs. Ed. Mc-Shane, to whose skill and taste much credit is due.

It seems that no opportunity is missed by the pastor, Very Rev. Father Shaffel, S. J. V. G., to awaken the celestial desires and administer to the spiritual wants of his people. Since his advent into Holy Family parish he has done many and great things for religion. Yet he only maintains the well earned reputation of his devout and scholarly order,
