Thomas Nolan has been appointed agent at Omaha, vice W. H. Burns, taking effect February 1st, 1884.

Invitations are out for the wedding of E. Motes to Miss Dora Kilns. The wedding is to take place March 9th at Clark's hall.

A lamp lighter, while extinguishing the lamps on St. Mary's avenue Sunday morning, had his leg broken by his horse falling upon him.

Officer Smith yesterday found a demure looking colored man with a costly robe in his possession and lodged him in the city jail on suspicion.

Gen. O. O. Howard delivered a lecture at Hastings on the night of the 22nd, upon the battle of Gettysburg, and the Hastings Journal comments upon it at length.

Sheriff Spearman, of Sarpy county, yesterday arrested a young man by the name of Petty, who is thought to be implicated in the B. & M. train robbery at Bellevue, Neb.

Four lots adjoining the Woodman Lined Oil works were yesterday condemned by the city and sold to their owners as assessed by the commission appointed for that purpose.

John S. Collins and Daniel Kenniston were on Monday last appointed appraisers by County Judge McCulloch to serve on the special commission to assess damages for right of way for the Bell railway.

In police court yesterday a disturber of peace was fined $5 and committed in default of payment; one plain Stomach was sent to jail for five days, and a vagrant was given four hours to leave the city.

The proposition to vote bonds to build a court house in the Bluffs was yesterday submitted to the voters of Pottawattamie county. The result was very close but the latest report indicate that the proposition was carried.

In the district court yesterday suit was instituted by Wendell R. King against Warren Switzer to recover $1,600. Plaintiff alleges that amount was collected by defendant on a judgment of which he was creditor and not accounted for to him.

Rev. John Williams, pastor of St. Barnabas church, has just issued his annual letter to his parishioners. It is well worded and full of good advice, which, if followed, will have a tendency to keep the feet in the narrow way.

A coatline belonging to a Mr. Sinclair, who lives at the head of St. Mary's avenue, was stolen Monday. The thief did not even take the precaution to leave the clothes with which the line was lined, but carried the whole business off.

At the Union elevators, in this city, sixty-one car loads of corn were received on Saturday and sixty car loads Monday. The warm weather of the past few days shows up the soft corn, and as it thaws out it is found that there is lots of it.

Jessie Small, who was shot at the road-house a few weeks since, was only fourteen years of age when she was driven from home by a brutal step-father, and immediately entered upon a life of shame. She was scarcely sixteen when she met her tragic death.

The room of the district court yesterday, where Judge Neville was sitting in the trial of the case of the state against George, was filled to overflowing, and the sheriffs were called upon several times to make passage ways for those coming in or going out.

MASKED BALL.

Gay Revelers at the Turn Verein Hall Last Night.

Gambrianus and Terpichore.

Some time before the hour advertised for the opening of the entertainment at the Turn Verein hall last evening, the merry maskers thronged the streets leading to the hall and from 8 until 10 o'clock almost a continuous stream of carriages emptied their human freight at the entrance on Tenth street. Promptly at the hour named, 8 o'clock, the evening's festivities began with music by the two orchestras engaged for the occasion.

Both the old and the new halls were thrown open. The grand march took place in the new hall, from which a portion of the dancers marched to the old hall where an excellent orchestra discoursed music.

The programme for the evening consisted of eighteen dances and were interspersed with theatrical entertainments by the home talent so well known and appreciated by the German citizens. The best hit of the evening was the introduction of the Minner's Zingstergayner or comical sword theatrical, rendered for the first time in Omaha. They are representations of the original Punch and Judy shows of England with this difference: The figures are headless and fastened against a painted background with openings made for inserting live human faces.

The program of the evening consisted of eighteen dances and were interspersed with theatrical entertainments by the home talent so well known and appreciated by the German citizens. The best hit of the evening was the introduction of the Minner's Zingstergayner or comical sword theatrical, rendered for the first time in Omaha.

The figures are headless and fastened against a painted background with openings made for inserting live human faces. These carried out intelligently and in a manner highly entertaining. The paraphernalia for this modern and improved rendition of Punch and Judy was prepared by Mr. Pechtel, whose skill as an artist is worthy of special mention.

The characters of this novel yet exceedingly attractive entertainment were perfectly copied by Mr. Baureis and Madam Pauls. A cabinet of wax figures, a la Mrs. Jarley of London fame, were unveiled to public view between dances, and, also, a pantomime representing a patent barber shop, in which three customers, becoming somewhat unmanageable, were placed in stocks that were painfully suggestive of "ye olden time," in which the crusaders placed their implements of torture upon all of a contrary belief.

THE MASKERS. No less than four hundred maskers thronged the halls and galleries of the Turn Verein building. The figures they represented were counted by the score. There was the Indian, cowboy, scout, hunter, miser, desperado, Mexican peasant, poet, pious Jew, young lady, and the gentlemen, while the ladies took such characters as Night, Morning, ballot girl, fairy, milk-maid, Girl of the Regiment, shepherdess, negress, Indian princess, Judine, etc.

From the inception of the grand Margdariga entertainment, at about 8 o'clock last evening, until nearly break of day this morning the gay revelers tripped the light fantastic toe or sought pleasure in long and frequent discourse with that much honored old patriarch of the German, Gambrianus. Every available space overlooking the floors was occupied by eager on-lookers, who for want of masks were forbidden entrance within the magic lines wherein the gay revelers held, as if by some subtle fascination, the eyes which worshipped at her shrine.

The night was one round of unintermitted pleasure for all participating. The affair was a success financially, and all regretted its termination even at an hour when night was fast fading into morn.

THE SOUTH OMAHA LAND SYNDICATE. Instead of issuing stock this company is to issue bonds. Three series of bonds are to be issued, the first, of $500,000 having been issued and taken. These bonds bear five per cent interest and are payable semi-annually in gold, in New York.

The officers of this company are as follows: A. H. Swan, president; Thomas Swobe, secretary; Frank Murphy, treasurer. The affairs of the company are managed by a board of trustees, consisting of A. H. Swan, W. A. Paxton, Thomas Swobe, Frank Murphy, Charles W. Hamilton, P. E. Iler and James M. Woolworth.

This company has invested in a large amount of land in South Omaha, and will lay it out in town lots.

UNITED STOCK YARDS COMPANY. Out of the South Omaha Land Syndicate, grew the Union Stock Yards Company. This company has a paid up capital of $1,000,000, and is a consolidation of the Council Bluffs yards and the yards south of this city.

The officers of the company are as follows: W. A. Paxton, president and treasurer; A. H. Swan, vice president; J. H. Donnelly, secretary; J. M. Woolworth, attorney. The directors are W. A. Paxton, A. H. Swan, Frank Murphy, P. E. Iler, J. A. McShane, B. F. Smith and Thos. Swobe.

THE OGAALLA LAND AND CATTLE COMPANY. Following close upon the heels of the Union Stock Yards Company came the Ogallala Land and Cattle Company, with an authorized capital of $2,500,000, and a paid up capital of $2,500,000.

The incorporators of this company were: W. A. Paxton, A. H. Swan, Geo. Sheildley, P. E. Iler, C. A. Richter, Charles E. Anthony, Joseph Frank, John H. Donnelly, Zachariah Thomsen and M. C. Keith.

The officers are as follows: Augusto Richard, New York, president; Thomas Swan, Cheyenne, vice president; William Clark, New York, treasurer; Charles E. Anthony, Washington, Ills., secretary; John H. Donnelly, Omaha, assistant secretary; Zachariah Thomsen, Ogallala, superintendent.

This company now own about 100,000 head of stock and are constantly increasing their herds. Now while the above companies are comprised of nearly the same men, yet they are separate and distinct, and the business transacted by each one is of a nature entirely different to that of the others.

SLAUGHTER HOUSES. The Union Stock Yards company has decided upon the plan for a slaughter house. The building will be a large one with a capacity for slaughtering five hundred head of stock, and will cost, when completed, between fifty and sixty thousand dollars.

Operations will be commenced as soon as the weather will permit, and when once begun it will be speedily completed.
