Vanderbilt makes it an invariable custom to take a careful inventory of his immense property. His strong boxes are then opened, their contents counted, and from the total the profit for the year is reckoned. In January, 1883, he told an intimate friend, who had dined with him that day, that he was worth $194,-

> "I believe I am," said Mr. Vanderbilt "the richest man in the world. In En-gland the Duke of Westminister is said to be worth $200,000,000, but it is mostly in lands and houses. It does not vield him 2 per cent. A year from now I shall be worth more than $200 000,000, and will have an income equal to 6 per > cent on that amount." When his talking fit had left him the modern Midas repented his hasty speach and asked that it be not repeated, claiming his words were but boastful and his > wealth exaggerated. A few days ago Mr. Vanderbilt sent some papers to a gentleman with whom he had business relations. On looking over them the recipient was astonished to find the rough draft of a memorandum in the czar's peculiar handwriting. It was dated January 15, 1884, and was evidently his last balance sheet, which by oversight had been folded inside another paper. Of course the secret could not be kept and the figures reached The Journal. An error or two may have crept in on their travels, but in substance they tell the following:

Mr. Vanderbilt has registered in hi name and in coupon bonds, $54,000,000 in 4 per cents, maturing in 1907. He has ately added to these $4,000,000 in 3h per cents and yet retains a trifle over $1,000,000 in 6 per cents. The 4 per cents are worth 124, and the market value of his governments to-day is $70,580,000. But the bulk of the wealth of the king of millionaires is invested in railroad securities. He holds 240,000 shares of the Michigan Central stock, 300,000 shares of the Northwestern, including 80,000 of the preferred stock, and a block of Omaha, 200,000 shares of Lake Shore and 120,000 shares of New York Central. Besides this are similar amounts in a score of other stock, among which are Rock Island, of which he held 29,000 shares, and Lackawanna, where the todozen silver plated tea spoons, $5. 3561 W. W. Buck, Wilber, Neb., dozen siltal was 20,000 Of the others he had in all 21,840; a grand total of 930,840 shares of stocks. Of various railroad bonds there was an aggregate of $22,120,000, and of state and city bonds, $3,200,000. In miscellaneous securities, manufacturing stocks ver plated spoons, $5.

11720 Jos. Schram, Mapleton, Ia., dozen silver-plated tea spoons, $5.

6671 E. B. Mitchell, Reilly, Neb., dozen silver-plated tea spoons, $5. and mortgages the sum of about $2,000,-

000 was shown to be invested. Reckoning at yesterday's prices the value of Mr. Vanderbilt's railroad stocks is $98,750,000, of his governments $70,-580,000, of his railroad bonds $26,857, 420, of his other securities a trifle over $5,000,000. The aggregate is $201,332,

The Czar puts down an item of "real estate, etc., $3,000,000." In this is included his splendid Fifth avenue mansion, which, with its furniture and contents, cost nearly or quite $3,000.000 His magnificent art gallery, with its gems from the best modern masters, represents almost $1,000,000, the estimate being that of a local connoisseur who is familiar with the gallery. His stables on Fifty first street, occupying one of the most desirable building sites in the city, represent two hundred thousand dollars, while the equine beauties there luxuriously lodged would not be disposed of for as much more. Maud S would bring seventy-five thousand dollars at a forced sale, and her owner would not dispose of her for any price. Early Rose and Aldine are also held above price.

The czar can take life comparatively easy on an income of $12,000,000 a year, and watch his wealth pile up without any effort of his. From his government he draws $2,372,000 a year; from his railroads and bonds $4,394,320; from his miscellaneous securities, $575,695, or $10,342,015 from his investments alone. Thus every day they earn for him $28,-334 25. Every hour sees him $1,180 59 richer, and every minute means $10 67 added to his hoard. Besides this he calculates to make $2,000,000 every year by fortunate sales. His reinvestments last year, he calculates, did this.

This rich man lives well but not lavishly. Last year his ordinary expenses, he stated recently, were but a trifle over $200,000. In this is not included such luxuries as his great ball, on which he expended $49,000. His attire is modest, and does not indicate a Crossus by any means. Mrs Vanderbilt, too, although dressing richly, is by no means extrava-gant, although her diamonds cost her lord $150,000

Since Mr. Vanderbilt made out his balance sheet some unimportant changes have been made in his investments. He has disposed of some of his Lake Shore stock. Last week a firm of his brokers Messrs. Barton, Davis & Miner, were large buyers of the Rock Island, taking in one day 9,830 shares. Since then it has not been possible to dispose of any quantity of this except at considerable concessions. In his Michigan Central corner he altered also the figures of this stock. The change is merely an increase of his holdings of railroad securities at the expense of his loans and surplus iucome, for the czar does not keep a large bank account. Everything must bear interest, he believes.
