ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS.

WAR OPENED.

The Hold-Over Members of the Council Indicate Hostility to Vanghan,

How He Can in Turn Make it Interesting for Them.

There has been some curiosity felt as to how the council would work with W. R. Vaughan as mayor. It is a democratic council and he is a democrat also, but as is well known there have been dissensions in the party and some of the leading democrats have been openly anti-Vaughan. The meetings of the old council on Friday and Saturday nights indicates clearly that there is a disposition among the four hold-over members to rasp Vaughan. In the first place they raised the salaries of the city attorney, city auditor and other officers, but no raise was made on the mayor's salary. This was not because the council thought the salary of $600 high enough, for less than a year ago they tried to raise Mayor Bowman's salary to $900, but THE BEE showing up the law that the salary could not be increased during his term of office, the council took it back. They raised the salary of the city attor ney, who is anything but a Vaughan man, and then turned about and employed the retiring city attorney, to whom the council has shown little respect, to assist the new attorney with the raised salary.

A still worse drive at Mayor Vaughan is the cutting down of the police force to five members and a chief. It was gen-erally known that Vaughan favored an increase in the number rather than a decrease, and as he has the appointing the council evidently desired to cut him down as a mere matter of personal spite. Of course no one pretends that the city, scattered as it is over a whole township, can get along with five policemen.

The council having thrown down the gauntlet, Mayor Yaughan has an exceilent chance to make it interesting for all concerned. If he has but five policemen he ought to pick out men of grit enough to pull some of the gambling houses and houses of ill-fame, and bring to the front all in the houses, whether they be officials or not.

Mayor Vaughan should also investigate some of the transactions of the past year. He should inquire into the $100 which Ald. James drew on the back pay resolution, which was afterwards rescinded. He should inquire by what authority Dan Eicher has been drawing $25 month as purchasing agent for the city. He should inquire whether city officials have any legal right to be interested in city contracts; whether the mayor can sell safes to the city, and whether he can draw money for office rent while desk room is furnished in the city building. He should inquire how it is that the city clerk has been Faid $100 a month for some time, and that the ordinance maksuch a raise was not amended until last Friday night. He should inquire how Alderman Keating can be allowed extra compensation on account of some committee work. Mayor Vaughan ought not to let these matters pass by without investigation, and if there has been any money paid out illegally he should take steps to recover it. Now that the council has hoisted its flag, Angostura Bitters are endorsed by all the leading physicians and chemists, for their purity and wholesomeness. Beware of coun-terfeits, and ask your grocer or druggist for the genuine article, prepared by Dr. J. G. B. Siegert & Sons.

Mayor Vaughan should sail in, and let he public have the benefit of whatever facts can be had by this falling out.

The Boston Bicyclists

Wilmot and Sewell the bicyclists, who have created so much interest here have gone westward. They are certainly wonders in their line. They are both Bostonians and their appearance as performers on a bicycle is a matter of chance largely. Wilmot has a large drug store in Boston and Sewell was connected with the Boston Herald, occupying a lucrative in her new relations. position besides having some considerable property. They have bicycle riding for amusement as have hundreds of others and as they increased in skill they begand to attract some local attention. They practiced together until their proficiency in their double acrobatic acts on the bicycle excited much wonder, and denands became pressing for them to give exhibitions. For some time they refused, but a year ago they were tempted to do so by flattering promises, and since they have appeared at a number of places in the east. They recently decided to take a trip west, more for sight seeing than anything else. They appear-ed at Milwaukee and were intending not to stop between there and Denver, as it was only a chance that they did so. Manager Chapman of the rink here went down to the incoming train to see Birdie Bliss the wonderful boy skater, whose father is the well known conductor. Wilmot and Sewell were on the train, and Mr. Chapman at once made them an offer to stop over here for two nights. It was a good stroke of enterprise on Mr. Chapman's part, and they proved one of Chapman's part, and they proved the greatest attractions ever offered at the rink. The Omaha rink then capther in the rink. The Omaha rink then capther an exhibition there.

like many of such performers they are not mere professional athletes, but they are young men who have shown ability in business as well as on the bicycle, and have social and commercial standing. On the 20th of last September, Wilmot, at Springfield, Mass., won the champion prize, the contest being open to the world. He has been riding ever since bicycles were first brought out in Boston. He at one time made 218 miles nside of 25 hours. Sewell has practiced in athletic exerises for years, and is a member, and has been an officer, of the Union Bicycle club

The Creston Gazette is reliably formed that an engineer of that city, in the absence of his family, took a bath. The Gazette says it also appears that the man did the same thing last fall. Since the last exposure, the engineer has been discharged by the Burington master mechanic.

In his early and prosperous years, one Alexander Scott owned the major part of East Des Moines. He was wealthy, and it was said that he could not scatter his income as fast as it accrued. H deeded to the state the lot upon which the capitol now stands without cost. He brought misfortune upon himself in time gambling and drink were the instruments of his downfall. He died a pauper and was ouried in a pauper's grave, almost within the shadow of the capitol dome. No monument marks his grave; a wooden headboard alone distinguishes it from the surrounding level.

A shooting affair occurred at Morning Sun, Louisa county, on the morning of the 11th inst., which resulted in the death of Wade Campbell at the hands of J. Frank Sterrett, the particulars of which are given as follows: Campbell and Sterrett, boys about 16 years of age attended the public school at Morning Sun. A quarrel occurred during the re cess, and Campbell choked and shook Sterrett, who was no match for him in personal encounter. While this was going on Sterrett, with his left hand on Campbell's breast pushing him back, pulled a small pistol with his right, and putting the muzzle close to his antagonist's breast fired, the ball passing through his own thumb and entering Campbell's breast, cutting an artery close to the heart and producing death in twenty minutes. An inquest was held this atternoon, the jury returning a verdict of malicious home cide. Sterrett was held in $1,000 bail to appear before the grand jury at the next term of the district court.

HER CURIOSITY SHOP.

The Unfortunate Disease of a Beatiful Western Woman.

LEADVILLE, Col., March 9 .- Some time go a young miner of wealth fell in with a lady, Miss Maudie, and took her to a party at Kokomo. She would not dance but kept in retirement as a looker-on. The party broke up, the young fellow the happiest of the whole lot. He thought he had found a jewel of rare value, and prized it accordingly. His dream was of short duration, for a change came over its spirit the next day when an officer arrived from 'Frisco who wanted the fair maiden to accompany him to 'Frisco on the charge of larceny. Investigation showed that every rag she had on at the party the night previous was stolen. The dress she wore on that occasion was a beautiful silk, and fitted her gracefu form to perfection. It was the most ele gant dress at the party, and Miss Maudic was the envy of all the other ladies. That dress was not made for her, neither had she bought it, and this was true of every article of clothing she wore from the sole of her foot to the top of her head. This discovery prompted the officer to search her trunk, and in it was found every imaginable article that could be put into a trunk, from a baby's rattle to a set of false teeth. It seems that the officer who had come after her was authorized to let her go on the return of the stolen articles, which, together with the fact that sylvania the other day, was reported in the had a reluctance to throw a bright looking young girl into jail, secured her freedom, and she at once sought other fields for the purpose of displaying her wonderful genius. It is believed by many that the girl cannot help stealing, that it is a part of her nature, and that she is one of that unfortunate class of people known as kleptomaniacs.

A Substitute for the Organ.

New York Tribune, March 9. A considerable number of persons as sembled in Chickering hall yesterday afternoon when Mr. Baillie Hamilton, a young Englishman, exhibited his new musical instrument, the "vecalion." This instrument is designed to fill the place of the large pipe organ in any church where economy of space and money must be considered. The instrument played upon yesterday occupied a very small space, having not more than 10 by 15 feet front-age, and had 16 stops, including couplers. Nevertheless, Messrs. Henry Carter and George W. Morgan, organists, produced from it effects of tone, volume, and variety of timbre quite equal to those of an organ three times as large. The in-strument is played with a key-board and blown with a bellows, and, ex-cept for its size, presents the same ap-no pipes.

The sounds are produced by a series of metal vocal chords, each of which vibrates in a short tube corresponding in ratio to the size of the human tarynx when producing like notes. Those tones which are above or below the compass of the human voice are produced by mathematical calculation as to the position the larynx would be in if it were capable of producing these sounds. Technically, Mr. Hamilton's invention is a new appli-cation of the principle of the free reed. The tones of the instrument were exceedingly tender in quality, yet sonorous and powerful in volume when used with the pearance as an organ. It has, however, swell. They blended most effectively with the voices of Miss Emily Winant and Signor Emil Coletti, who sang several selections of sacred music. The combi-nation of smallness in size and comparative inexpensiveness of cost with power,
