LOCAL BREVITIES.

William H. Baker and Miss Ella Arnold, both of Council Bluffs, were married in this city on Wednesday afternoon, April 30, at the first M. E. church, by the pastor, Rev. Charles W. Savidge.

Why, of course, the weather ought to be cold and disagreeable. All over the city people are engaged in cleaning house, and it is a much pleasanter to have disagreeable weather about that time.

In police court yesterday four disturbers of the peace were fined $5 and costs each. One plain Slocumb was sentenced to five days in the county jail.

By the new time table of the U. P. the Grand Island train leaves yesterday for the last time. From this date until further notice there will be no Grand Island train.

Capt. McCauley, U. S. A., depot quartermaster, has announced by circular that the government buildings and grounds will be known as the "Quartermaster's Depot," instead of the "Corral" as heretofore.

Some of the reputable sporting men of the city state that by the arrest of Smith and Branch the whole nest of official corruption will be exposed to public view, and furthermore assert that it will horrify the residents of this city.

A reporter of this city has figured, that by the change of time which went into effect in this city yesterday, 9,000 hours not worked were paid for. This at an average of 15 cents an hour, which is a low estimate, will place in the pockets of the working people of Omaha the sum of $1,350,000. This is, of itself, is quite a donation party.

PROPOSED VIADUCT.

The Plans for the Proposed Tenth Street Viaduct Nearly Completed.

The plans for the proposed Tenth street viaduct over the Union Pacific tracks, which are being prepared in the Engineer's office of that company, are rapidly nearing completion and were seen by a reporter yesterday.

The plans contemplate an iron structure or bridge 1,300 feet long, starting at a point north of the intersection with Jones street and terminating at the intersection with Mason street. The first 100 feet consists of a solid embankment from which the main part of the structure extends over the streets and track at a maximum height of thirty feet. It is supported by iron columns set forty-eight feet apart in pairs. A stairway is built from the street to the viaduct at Leavenworth street and another at the depot. The roadway is to be eighteen feet wide and the walks for pedestrians project on either side for seven feet.

Between the street car rails the drive is to be paved with wooden blocks and outside of them laid with double plank. The girders, frame, and in fact all the viaduct but the drive is to be made of iron after a neat pattern and one that will abut the street to the least possible extent, the width at the base on the ground being only about twenty feet.

The profile shows the grade of the viaduct instead of being steeper than that of the street, as many have supposed, is much easier. A plan was drawn a year ago for a viaduct on Eleventh street, but it was never finally acted upon. The present plan has many supporters and many opponents. Those who favor it say that if it is not put on Tenth street it will be of little use, because people will not get out of their way to cross it. Those who oppose the plan are mainly property owners adjoining the proposed site, who claim it would damage their property and ruin business. The project is expected to come up before the city council soon.

INDICTED FOR MURDER.

McCarthy the Slayer of His Fellow-workman to be Tried Next Week.

The grand jury for the term of the district court now being held in Sarpy county made its presentments to the court yesterday. McCarthy for the killing of his co-worker was indicted for murder in the first degree. A relative of his, named McCarthy, was also indicted for robbery from the store of his co-worker. The grand jury will probably occupy the whole week.

A Sensitive Man would Use Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs. It is curing more cases of Croup, Croup, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, and all Throat and Lung troubles, than any other medicine. The proprietor has authorized Schroeder & Becht to refund your money if, after taking three-fourths of a bottle, relief is not obtained. Price 50 cents and $1. For sale by Schroeder & Becht.

An Anxious Husband.

Mr. Geo. Hoimrod, who is in New York awaiting the arrival of his wife from the old country, telegraphed to friends in this city to-day that the steamer on which his wife took passage is now three days out at sea, and that nothing has been heard from her.

Presentation.

Miss Fannie Arnold, organist and leader of the choir of St. Philomena's Cathedral, was the recipient of an elegant and costly chair Wednesday evening. The ladies and gentlemen of the choir chose this method of testifying their regard for Miss Arnold, and particularly for her earnest and painstaking efforts leading to the successful production of Mozart's Twelfth Mass on Easter morning. The presentation was made at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Corryell, on west Douglas street. It was a complete and agreeable surprise to Miss Arnold, and the donors were equally happy in having performed an act so well deserved.

THE SHOPMEN STRIKE.

The Boiler Makers Take the Initiatory Steps.

They are Followed by the Moulders and Switchmen

The Strike Agreed Upon by the Mass Meeting Last Night.

The Evanston, Laramie and Denver Shopmen Also Out.

At an early hour yesterday large numbers of shopmen were seen strolling about the streets, and upon almost every corner little knots of them might be seen engaged in earnest conversation and the determined look upon their faces and the numerous shakes of their heads told very plainly that something was in the wind. As early as 9 o'clock they were observed to gather near the corner of Sixteenth and Farnam streets and by 9:30 many of them had ascended the stairs leading into the council chamber in the city hall building. It was evident that a MEETING WAS TO BE HELD.

At 10 o'clock over two hundred Union Pacific employees had assembled. The meeting was called to order and upon motion Byron Stanberry was chosen as chairman and took the chair. A motion was then made to elect officers and proceed to business. It was announced that the boiler makers would soon be present and so it was decided to wait a few minutes for them. They did not come at that time and by motion Mr. Low, Green was made secretary.

The chairman then made a few remarks in which he stated that the meeting was not generally understood and he did not think it would be right for those assembled to take any action until a more general call was made.

A motion was then made that a committee of seven be appointed to procure a hall and notify all the workmen in the various departments of the shops to attend a GRAND MASS MEETING AT NIGHT.

The motion was carried and the following gentlemen were appointed as such committee: Messrs. Murphy, Mulhern, Patterson, Frick, Michelson, Cooper and Flannery.

At this juncture a messenger was dispatched to interview the boiler makers, and those gentlemen entered the hall and announced that they were out and proposed to stay out until the order for the CT was rescinded. They furthermore stated that they were going to notify all men along the line of their action, and that they would be appointed to notify all men in the shops who were not all ready out, that those assembled in mass meeting were out. The following named gentlemen were appointed on that committee: Messrs. Richard Trotter, Billy Mulhern, John Murphy, Pat Whalen, Mike Foley, Ralph Boone and Jim Flannery.

A motion has made that a committee of three be appointed to act in conjunction with the above committees and notify all men along the line of what had been done, but as no definite action had been taken the motion was withdrawn.

The meeting then adjourned. THE MASS MEETING. The committee appointed to procure a hall and notify the men of the meeting, gave notice in last evening's Bee that they had secured the ACADEMY OF MUSIC, and that a grand mass meeting of all the employees of the Union Pacific company would be held in that place last evening at 7 o'clock.

At the U. P. headquarters yesterday it was stated that the company would make no further concessions than they had already made, viz: an increase of five cents per hour. They seem to be quite confident that the men will not strike.

THE GENERAL IMPRESSION. The general impression is that the cut is altogether too heavy and that the men will resist it by a strike.

AT LARAMIE. It was reported yesterday that a dispatch had been received at the machine shops of the Union Pacific in this city, to the effect that all the men in the Laramie shops walked out yesterday and are now awaiting word from Omaha as to whether they shall go back or not.

The Evening Meeting. Sometime before 7 o'clock last evening a large body of men from the shops were in waiting in front of the Academy of Music, where it had been arranged to hold the meeting. At 7 o'clock sharp the doors were opened and in a very few moments the house was filled from top to bottom. Nearly a thousand men had been present. Perfect good order prevailed throughout. Nothing of the kind so often seen and heard at meetings called for such purposes, took place. The manner in which it was conducted and the character of the speeches made evinced the fact that those present came there to discuss soberly the issues which had called them together.

The meeting was called to order by Murphy, a helper in the foundry. Mr. Young of the same department, was elected chairman, who being absent Kinney, of the repair shops was substituted until he should appear. The committee from the various shops were invited to take their seats upon the

tion to allow reporters to be present at the meeting was carried unanimously. It was then carried to allow two from each department to speak, after which every one who wished might express his sentiment.

The following are the names of the members of THE COMMITTEE: John Clark, from the boiler shops; Charles Cheney, machine shop No. 1; Roland Frick, machine shop No. 2; John Ruff, blacksmith shop; Mr. Flannery, blacksmith helpers; George Jones, moulder union; J. J. Murphy, foundry helpers; Joe Stauden, round house; C. A. Vest, Ed Powers and Mr. Angell, car shops; Messrs. Cliff and Brown, paint shop; James Kennedy, locomotive carpenters; Leo Hart, tin shop; Messrs. Burke and Buck, switchmen; John Murphy, sheet iron shop; Mr. Jackson, C. B. Transfer; John Wigan, pattern shops; Mr. McCarthy, Omaha store; Ed Moriarty, freight department; Jack Donahue, lumber yards, and Pat O'Neil, of the switchmen.

When this committee had been appointed a telegram "We are with you. Give us your decision. We meet to-night," from the shopmen at Laramie was read by the chair amid cheers and applause. It was then ordered that the committee just appointed should be the EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE and business relating to the strike should be placed in its hands. The committee was then instructed to notify by telegraph all the shops along the line of the Union Pacific road of the action taken last night by the Omaha shopmen. The meeting then adjourned subject to the call of the committee. It was understood, however, that another meeting will be held sometime to-day where it was held last night.

At Denver. DENVER, May 1.—Over 500 men employed in the Union Pacific machine shops, freight houses and round houses, struck this morning against the reduction of salaries 10 to 15 per cent., ordered by General Manager Clark at Omaha yesterday. The men are determined, but no violence is anticipated. It is stated the strike will extend over all the U. P. lines in Colorado.

Too Good to be True. It was talked upon the streets to-day that a dispatch had been received in this city announcing a raise of five per cent. on the salaries of all B. & M. employes. The matter has been investigated and report has been found to be without foundation as no such advance has been ordered.

PRACTICAL PHILOSOPHY.—We are all a set of chronic grumblers, and don't deserve half the blessings we enjoy. If it's mud, we are mad, when it is cold we grumble, and so it goes from morning till night, from one day to another, and thus months and years speed swiftly by; when old age rivets his chain upon us we pause to reflect upon the situation. It is then that we realize the fact that we have been ungrateful to an ever kind Providence who has guided us through the entire journey of life. Then we hear the many regrets; "If I could only live my life over again," "If we have but one life to live on this earth; then why not make it one of bright suns, instead of dark over-shadowing clouds?"

MONTI CRISTO.

A Splendid Performance at Boyd's Opera House.

John Stetson's "Monte Cristo" company opened a three nights' engagement at Boyd's opera house last evening, the good old melodrama being witnessed by a large and delighted audience. Dumas' thrilling story was admirably presented in the most realistic manner. The company is one of the best ever organized in this country, including amongst its membership several actors of national reputation, and every one of the troupe being above the average.

Mr. James O'Neill, who, to-day, is by many considered one of the best actors on the American stage, appeared as "Edmund Dantes," and the "Count of Monte Cristo." He has an attractive presence, a pleasing voice, is perfectly at home in every situation, and throws his whole soul and energy into the play. As "Edmund Dantes," the light hearted sailor, he is filled with joy over his promotion and approaching marriage. In the character of "Monte Cristo," he appears as the gloomy misanthrope, devoting all his time and ability and cunning and untold wealth to the work of vengeance upon those who had so deeply wronged him. His acting is so perfect that he gains the sympathy of the audience from the start and retains it until the end. James O'Neill is indeed a great actor and is entitled to the reputation which he has earned by his talents. He was accorded a most enthusiastic reception last evening. Frederic de Bellevoir, another noted actor, played "Nero," and received a large share of the honors of the evening. He cleverly assumed his various disguises in which he sank his identity, and made quite a hit. The character of "Vilfort" was perfectly portrayed by George C. Boniface, whose name is familiar to all theatre-goers. Forrest Robinson appeared as "Albert," J. V. Melton, as "Fernande," James Taylor as "Danglars," and J. W. Shannon as "Caderousse," and all sustained their roles intelligently, especially Shannon, who is a fine comedian. Among the ladies Miss Eugenie Blair deserves favorable mention for her assumption of the trying role of "Mercedee," and Annie Boudinet cannot be too highly commended for her splendid work in the part of "Carconte."

The scenery through was grand, and the stage equipment elicited the heartiest admiration. It is certainly one of the finest scenic displays ever witnessed in Boyd's opera house, and the play throughout is one of the most satisfactory entertainments ever given in Omaha.

Hooping a barrel. Putting a hoop on the family four-barrel is an operation that will hardly bear an encore. The woman generally attempts it before the man comes home to dinner. She sets the hoop up on the end of the stove, takes a deliberate aim with the rolling-pin, and then shutting both eyes brings the pin down with all the force of one arm, while the other one instinctively shields her face. Then she makes a dive for the can, and catches him on the nose, and when the man comes home she is sitting back of the stove, thinking of St. Stephen and the other martyrs, while a burnt dinner and the camphor are struggling for the mastery. She says that if she had but kept her temper she wouldn't have got hurt. And he visits the barrel himself and puts the hoop on very carefully, and then adjusts it so nicely to the top of every stave that only a few smart raps apparently are needed to bring it down all right. And then he laughs to himself to think what a fuss his wife kicked up for a simple matter that only needed a little patience to adjust itself; then he gets the hammer, and gives the hoop a smart rap on one side, and the other side, and catches him on the nose, filling his soul with wrath and his eyes with tears, and the next minute the barrel is flying across the room, accompanied by the hammer, and another candidate for camphor and rag is enrolled in the great army that is unconsciously marching toward the grave.—Danbury News.
