COLLAPSED.

THE MARINE BANK OF NEW YORK. NEW YORK, May 5.—The Marine National bank has closed. J. D. Fish is president of the bank.

The capital of the Marine bank is $400,000. Its statements April 22nd last, showed a surplus of $62,340. A visit to the bank discovered some fifty disreputable depositors standing in the pouring rain around the closed doors.

The association press reporter visited the clearing house, endeavoring to obtain information from manager Camp. That official only says the clearing house committee is in session and nothing will be given to the public until it has concluded an examination of the accounts of the bank.

It is said in the street that the bank's downfall is due to real estate transactions of President Fish. Some time ago he bought Booth's theatre and is now converting it into stores.

He is also interested in apartment houses. An officer of the bank was asked whether Fish's speculations had caused the suspension; whether the bank had been doing business with Brooks so that it lost money. He refused to answer. It is believed the failure is due to a little of both.

NEW YORK, May 6.—The Post says: The suspension of the Marine National bank was announced a little after 11 this morning. The immediate cause of the failure was the banks inability to meet its debts, about $500,000, at the clearing house this morning.

Fish is second vice president of the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad, and the Marine Bank is the registration office of that stock. It is not presumed that this connection has anything to do with the bank's embarrassment, though it is understood some connection with either the Ontario & Western and West Shore bond manipulators may have had some influence, though probably only secondary to the real estate operations of the president.

THE DEPOSITOR RAN BACK to find the receiving teller had shut his window and gone out of business for an indefinite period. The paying teller was still more conspicuous by his absence, and the depositor had the consolation of standing on the steps of the bank for the next hour and telling his experience to a crowd of excited depositors who gathered within an incredibly short time after the failure of the bank was announced.

LONG ISLAND CITY'S LOSS. NEW YORK, May 6.—Long Island city made the Marine bank its depository. All its funds are there, and if the bank remains closed the city will become bankrupt. No bank in New York seems the least involved or embarrassed by the failure.

The executive committee of the associated banks held a meeting this afternoon at the clearing house, and at the close of the meeting it was announced that it was decided to drop the Marine bank from the association and cut it off from all further privileges of the Clearing house.

MANAGER CAMP said the balance due the Clearing house yesterday from the bank was $555,000, and this sum had all been paid up by the bank before the rumor of its suspension had reached the street. It was decided also to call a special meeting of the whole association to morrow to further consider the matter of the relations of the Marine bank to the Clearing house.

CHARLEY FORD SUICIDES.

One of the Slayers of Jesse James Puts a Bullet in His Own Head.

Special Dispatch to The Bee.

KANSAS CITY, May 6.—Robert Ford, the slayer of Jesse James, received a telegram to-day from Richmond, Mo., that his brother Charles had committed suicide at that place.

He has been in bad health for a long time, suffering from consumption, and this, together with remorse for his share in the affair of two years ago, is thought to be the cause of his act.

He committed the deed with a six chambered weapon, carrying a 32 ball. The shot penetrated the heart, and death occurred immediately.

He had been dependent for several days and the result is not altogether a surprise to his friends, who knew that his trouble was weighing upon his mind.

Charles Ford was the elder of the two brothers, and was born in Richmond, Clay county, Mo., twenty-six years ago.

He was raised on a farm with his brother. But little is known of his life. He entered into the Crittenden bargain with his brother two years ago, and stood with cocked revolver ready to finish the bandit, if Bob's bullet had not done so.

SHARON'S SHAME.

How Sarah Althea Changed her Handwriting to Suit the Suit.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—Expert Hyde, who had for several days the celebrated Sharon-Hill marriage contract under a microscope examination, testified to-day that he had discovered that said plaintiff's handwriting in the contract differed from her writing in other exhibits.

Seventeen words in the contract had been changed—scratched or re-written. In one place the word "of" had been changed into "wife." The ink used in re-writing differed from the original ink.

The ink used in the words "William Sharon" and "Nevada" was the same used in writing the document. The plaintiff previously testified that she wrote the document in Sharon's office at his dictation and he signed it immediately afterwards.

AMERICA'S MEDICINE MEN.

Annual Session of the National Association at Washington.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—At a meeting of the senate committee on finance an agreement was reached that the trade dollar bill should be reported adversely but not until after another meeting of the committee.

The chairman of the Washington committee of arrangements called the association to order in a brief speech.

President Flint then began his annual address. He thought that the time devoted to colleges to Greek and Latin had more profitably be devoted to the study of physics, chemistry, French and German.

The overcrowding of the profession by new aspirants was attributed to the excessive number of medical colleges. The profession must rely upon itself to correct such evils by refusing to accept student assistants and by declining to sanction doctored institutions.

The speaker suggested that the committee on education be appointed to confer with the faculties of schools and colleges in order to secure uniformity in standard requirements for matriculation and graduation.

He also suggested that the title "M. D." be made simply honorary and that it entitle a person to practice; that a resolution be adopted specifying with more precision the grounds for refusing cooperation with irregular practitioners, assuming that a sectarian name ought to place a practitioner out of the pale of the medical code.

Dr. Sayre, of New York, moved that a committee be appointed to carry out the recommendation that the international medical conference be asked to meet here in 1887.

A CHURCH HORROR.

A Colored Methodist Edifice Gives Way—Several Fatalities. MCKINNEY, Texas, May 6.—During a largely attended meeting at the Methodist church (colored) last night, the foundation gave away.

The church was thrown violently to the ground and the lights extinguished. Two lamps exploded, scattering the burning oil over the congregation. One colored woman was burned to death, another had all her clothing burned off and will die. Several others were badly burned.

A panic prevailed, and the entire town turned out, thinking a negro uprising had occurred. Recent rains undermined the foundations.

RED RIVER RISING.

SHERBORN, May 6.—There was a rise of three feet and one inch in Red river, in the 48 hours ending at midnight, and still rising.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—The American Medical Association convened in annual session this morning at the Congregational church. The delegates arrived in such numbers that previous to the hour of the meeting the vestibule of the church and entrance were crowded with a long line of members waiting to be registered.

Over five hundred delegates had registered this morning and new names were constantly added to the list. The chairman of the Washington committee of arrangements called the association to order in a brief speech.

CAMPAIN PRAYER. NEW YORK, May 6.—The National Woman's Christian Temperance Union soon send out a call to prayer in view of the presidential campaign in an address by the "christian people of America," fixing Tuesday, May 27, as the time. CHICAGO MARKETS.

A RAPID DECLINE. Special Dispatch to The Bee. CHICAGO, May 6.—The markets made a show of great strength at the opening this morning, but later in the day, under the influence of the reports of the failures at the east a rapid decline set in, and wheat and corn sold off sharply from top prices.

WHEAT. Wheat closed 1/4 lower for June, 1/4 for July than the closing on change yesterday, and declined 1/4 in addition. On the afternoon call board wheat opened 1/4 higher than closing on call yesterday afternoon, advanced 1/4 addition, declined 1/4, then off 1/4 more, on the report of the Marine Bank failure, rallied 1/4, then reports were received of the failure of a Wall street house, which turned the tide again downward, prices declining about 1/4. On the showing made by visible supply prices rallied 1/4, weakened again, rallied, but again became weak, declining in all 2/4 for June, 2/4 for July, closing 1/4 lower June, 1/4 lower July, than yesterday.

OTHER OPTIONS. The visible supply showed a decrease of 1,600,000 bushels, which makes the total less than at the similar period one year ago. May closed $2 1/4; June $2 1/4; July 95¢. On call sales 1,300,000 bushels June, closing 93¢; July 94¢.

CORN. It was fairly active and unsettled, opened a shade higher, advanced 1/4 to 1/2 over the opening figures, declined 1/4 to 1/2 in sympathy with wheat, fluctuated and closed 1/2 lower than yesterday. The visible supply showed a decrease of 1,400,000 bushels. May closed $3 1/2 to 3/4; June $3 1/2; July 71¢. On call sales were 500,000 bushels, May advancing to 54¢. Other options were steady and unchanged.

CATTLE TRADE.

Active, and prices were generally stronger on fair to good sort of cattle. The quality was only fair, considerably below the average of last week. Stockers and feeders continue light, and the demand is also limited, especially for light and little things. Dressed beef dealers were buying a good many of the nice handy steers of 900 and upwards.

SHEEP. Ten loads of Nebraska sheep averaging 118 lbs. at $6 37 1/2.

THE U. P. PECK OF TROUBLE.

Ames and Dillon Deny Selling Any Stock of Late. BOSTON, May 6.—The Transcript says of the statement that Fred S. Ames and President Dillon had sold their Union Pacific stock: "We can say positively Ames has not sold a share of Union Pacific for himself or family for three years past. There were sent from New York last week 975 shares and 740 shares were received there, making a net loss of 235 shares." Dillon has been the largest holder of Union Pacific stock, but has been increasing his holdings until lately, when he was obliged to turn his ship. He now, according to the best advice, holds 25,000 shares and will continue to hold them. The same paper says: "The question of the July dividend has not been considered by either the executive committee or the directors, nor will it be for some weeks. The Union Pacific can divide its surplus earnings amounting now to more than 13 per cent. on its share capital. Without the intervention of any statute and before July arrives will have made its earnings applicable to dividends."
