Tit for Tat.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat. We are glad to see that the St. Louis Bar Association is at Jefferson again with a bill to make newspaper libel a felony. What the people of Missouri would do for their sec al, moral and intellectual improvement without the assistance of the St. Louis Bar Association it is very difficult to tell. We hope one of these days to see the St. Louis Bar Association draw up and press to passage a bill to prevent the robbery of widows and orphans by law yers who are intrusted with the management of estates; also a bill to prevent the wrecking of insurance companies and other corporations by lawyers, and other bills of that kind, which are sadly needed. The St. Louis Bar association is a very great institution, and would be much

Rasmussen, the Douglas street clothier, was robbed last night in the old fashioned double action way. About 7 o'clock two well dressed men came into the store, and one of them asked to look at a pair of pants. Ma. Rasmussen politely invited the supposed intending purch mer to step to the rear of the store. While the two were engaged in the rear, the third man walked off with the coat. Mr. Rasmussen at once notified the police, but his description of the two sharpers was so vague that no search could be succe sfully prosecuted.

A DAY IN THE COURTS.

A District Court Divorce Suit--- County

Lightning in the Prosecution of the Nuisance Cases-A Remarkable Horse,

In the district court yesterday Raymond Wigand filed a petition for divorce from his wife, Martha Wigand, alleging that she has been guilty of desertion and were married at Pensacola, Florida.

In the police court yesterday complaints were sworn out by the police egainst the following parties who are charged with violating the city ordinances in throwing sahes in the rear of their property: Richard B. Kitchen, Henry Dohle, Chas Karbach, Jos. Bath, T. S. Zetty, Ed Maurer, J. A. McShane, W. S. Shormaker, J. T. Moriarity, Frank Currier, Charles Schlank, Chas. E. Squire, B. Newman, J. C. Denize, G. M. Gray, John W. Lytie.

These measures of prosecution are taken by authority and at the instance of the board of public works, who propose to see that the sanitary regulations of the

L. W. Schroeder, resident on Cumings -Mrs. Ada Williams, a colored lady, reported at the police headquarters yesterday It appears that the defendant was suspected of stealing hogs from the pasture of Jester, which was situated very near his residence. For a long time, however, no conclusive evidence could be obtained, until finally night before last, Jester, missing one of his hogs, traced a trail of blood leading from the pasture to Schroeder's house. Yesterday a search warrant was sworn out by Jester and placed in Officer Cormick's hands for service. Upon searching the Schroeder mansion the missing porkine was found slaughtered and ready for packing.

In the county court the case of George E. Stratman against the City of Omaha was on trial. C. A. Baldwin appeared for the plaintiff and William Redick for the city. Stratman claims that some property of his, lot 37, Nelson's addition, was damaged by grading, some two feet frontage being taken away.

THE PEST HOUSE.

What the City Authorities Propo Do With It.

The small-pox patient, Peter Dunbar, has now almost entirely recovered, and is to be discharged by City Physician Lelsevring next Saturday. Thus tempoporarily, the pest house will be empty, and will be useless until such time as the dread disease shall again make its appearance in isolated or epidemic form. The question as to what shall be done vassed. An interview with Mayor Mur-

For this reason: You see, each time that there is an outbreak of the small-pox or windows in, refurnish it, and put it in tern. while it has been unoccupied, and that tramps have carried off the furniture and kitchen utansils, as well as anything else City, Sac county, Isaiah W. Deemer; oi value in the house So that we believe that by keeping the house continuer Brandt; Lost Nation, Cliaton county, lieve that by keeping the house continusummer. In that event it would be a very handy thing to have the pest house in the proper condition. It is my idea to put some competent man, at a fair salary, in the place, and allow him to remain there all the time, and have entire superintendency." It is a wonder that the pest house, deserted as it is for the greater portion of the year, is not plundered to a worse extent than is complained of at present, It will be remembered that the old pest house, which was situated in the northeast part of town, was burnt to the ground, being set on fire by some m's-chievious boys. The building was a sub-stantial affair really better than the present one, and was converted by a some what radical transition, from a fast house in o a pest house. At any rate, the idea of having a permanent superintendent for the institution is a practicable one. It will probably be carried into effect next

THE HAGEN MYSTERY.

Further Steps in the Solution of the Question [of Identity,

Ex-Coroner Maul left the city last night the case of James E Hagen, who is the man supposed to have been drowned in the Missuri river last year. A New Bridge.

For some time past there have been rumors of a new bridge which is to be built over the Missouri river at this point by a corporation of Nebraska capitalists. some foundation is now found for these reports in the fact that surveyors have been busied for the past two days in surveying the river bank for two miles in front of the city, preparatory to submiting plans for the construction of a bridge. Those in charge of the plans are very reticent about the matter, and say that for Lincoln, whither he goes to testify in the scheme has not yet assumed definite

Monday morning at Corydon, Wayne red. A mixed train on the Wabsah road had "stalled" in the snow and the conductor had neglected to send a man ahead with a flag as a danger signal. While the train was lying still the "Canon Ball" passenger train came on from

The engineer of the passenger train eaw the freight train in time to reverse his engine, but not in time to stop. Although the engine was reversed the speed of the train was not checked to any extent, because of the icy condition of the rails, and the two engines came together with a frightful

The passengers were thrown from their seats, but fortunately none of them were seriously injured, although great excitement prevailed for a time. When the passengers escaped from the train they found that the poor fireman of the passenger engine, whose name could not be learned, had not fared so fortunately as they themselves had.

In the shock the two engines had been lriven together, and the tender of the passenger engine had telescoped the cab, catching the fireman in the jaws of death and crushing from his body the vital spark. When the passengers were able to reach him, all that remained was a last week Harris & Fisher closed up their quivering mass of flesh, from which the last ray of life had fled. Strange to say, the unfortunate fireman was the only pergine plunged into its helpless adversary, that the boller heads were so joined toishment. The department was called gether that it was impossible to tell where one left off and the other began. An ides of the force of the collision may by obtained when it is known that the two engines were hauled a distance of six miles without the aid of chains or other diaries, and hence the complaint.

AN UNGRATEFUL SON.

Like the Serpent, He Bites the Hand That Feeds Him,

There are some men in this world, who are unworthy the name or image of man and such an one appeared in police court yesterday. His name is James Fox, a son of James Fox the paving contractor. It seems that matters have not been of a very friendly character betwen the father and son for some little time. In fact it has come to pass that one roof is not

The Ward-Garneau Case.

Upon further investigation we find that in some particula's the statement published in the BEE concerning the arrest of Effic Ward upon the complaint of James was the event of last evening at Kessler's Garneau was incorrect. It is but just to say that Mr. Garneau did appear in police court, with his attorney, Parke Godwin, representatives of the sturdy Teutonic at the appointed hour for the examinaher attorney failed to appear. Minden, too, is having something in the way of a sensation. According to all reports there is a gentleman there whom everyone believed, and he did not disabuse their minds of it, that he was a single man, but who really had a help mate in Omaha. She being somewhat solicitous as to his actions wrote to Minden for information in regard to him, and then, and not till then, did the truth leak out. The so-called gentleman had succeeded in making himself so pleasant that he had gained the good will of every one, but now that the truth is out they have given him the "shake." An occurrence of this kind always gives the duped ones a chance to reflect. The whole affair blds fair to be a sweet morsel for the gossips to roll under their tongue, as the names will in all probability be brought to light.
