

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Saturday's bank clearings were $341,662.78. The bar docket for the June term of court are printed and ready for distribution. The different apartments of the new court house are being let, in gilt on the transom windows. A small blaze in Reeder's bakery, Twenty-third and Hurst, called on the fire department yesterday afternoon. The fire was speedily extinguished. A man, name unknown, coming over on one of the dummy trains last night was thrown off the bridge and fell from there to the ground. He was not seriously injured. George W. Roberts, resident on Twenty-fifth and Capitol avenue, reported at police headquarters yesterday that thieves had entered his barn Sunday night and stolen a valuable set of harness. A special meeting of the C. K. of A. is called for this (Tuesday) evening at 8 o'clock p. m., at their new hall, 1115 Farnam street, (Commercial College building). All members are requested to be present. J. A. Whalen, president. City Clerk Southard turned over to Mayor Boyd for signature yesterday the 4,100 certificates of the city's $100,000 funding bonds. Mr. Southard has finished signing them, it having taken him about eight hours to drop his autograph on each individual copy. The guests and immediate participants of the Westman wedding which took place on Eleventh street Thursday night, and was broken up by outside disturbance, wish to have it understood that the row was not caused by them, but by an insolent though had malicious motives in so doing. Old John Robinson's circus will be in Omaha without fail next Monday, June 1st, and will please and astonish the people here with its peerless aggregation of wonders, natural curiosities, and the strange animals of land and sea. The array of circus performers includes the very best talent of either continent. No one should fail to be present at either the afternoon or evening performance. It is learned from thoroughly reliable sources that the woman, Mary Jane Dovel, who was deserted in Howe, Neb., by her husband and was supposed to have died in this city, is still in the land of the living. She is a resident of Council Bluffs. Her boy, a bright little youngster of eight years is with her, and she avers her intention of giving him up to her husband's relations in order that he may receive proper training and education. The committee of the Grand Army posts in this city, in charge of arrangements for Memorial Day, desires all who wish to contribute flowers for the purpose of decorating the graves in the different cemeteries, to send them to Mr. A. Burmeister's store, on Dodge street, between Thirtieth and Fourteenth, not later than 9 o'clock a. m., Saturday, the 31st instant; or by sending word to Mr. Burmeister where flowers can be had, they will be called for. Win. Tuttle, a South Omaha tough struck and severely injured Paul Neuberger Sunday in a Poppleton avenue saloon. He was immediately arrested, but while being taken to jail he passed the house of his father and called for help. The whole Tuttle family, from the father down to a superannuated dog and a pair of brindle cats rushed to the rescue and took the prisoner from the arresting officer. Yesterday two policemen went to the Tuttle mansion and arrested the doctory pugilist. He was sentenced by Judge Stenberg to pay a fine of $25 and costs. Bates, the negro accused of arson in connection with the attempted burning, Thursday morning of the Eleventh street row houses, between Capitol avenue and Davenport, is still in jail, awaiting the development of further evidence. The detectives in charge of the case say that though Bates still persists in his former statements as to the party who bribed him to commit the act, they are opening new lines of evidence which tend in a contrary direction and which prove undoubtedly, in fact, that the man to be accused is not a member of the local bar at all, but in a different kind of business. The original party suspected, they say is to be entirely relieved of the odium of suspicion. As the case develops the proper party will be brought to justice. If you have a sore Throat, Cough or Croup, use B. H. Douglas's Sore Throat, Cough Drops, they are pleasant to the taste, perfectly harmless and will surely cure you. Real Estate Transfers. The following transfers were filed May 23, with the county clerk and reported for the Bee by Ames' real estate agency: William L. Peabody and wife to Thomas B. Patterson, lot 98 and a 1/2 of lot 97 of Gies' add. to Omaha, w d $3950. Idaly G. Yates and husband to Samuel Ratschenberg, 1/2 of lot 7 in Capitol add. to Omaha, w d $25. The report having gained currency that Mr. Shoemaker's appointment by Mayor Boyd was recommended, or urged by the G. A. R., we take occasion to most emphatically deny that any organized influence or even a recommendation by members of Castor Post, at least, leading to his appointment was given. CUSTAN POST. VALLIANT VISCHER.

The Story of How Two German Girls Were Saved from Ruin.

A Brace of Chicago Villains Foisted by an Old Newspaper Man— Trying to Kidnap the Innocent Creatures for Vile Purposes.

The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy train brought to this city, yesterday morning, two young ladies, German girls, who left Florence, Italy, six weeks ago, and were on their way to join relatives at San Francisco. To fully round out the somewhat remarkable story, which follows, let it be known that the names of these young ladies are Margareta Durenberger and Eliza Greutz. The former is a daughter of Baron Jacob Durenberger, who recently died at Basle, Switzerland. Her mother is also dead, and being left in that far-away land without near relatives or friends, Margareta started to make her future home with an only brother, who lives at Bethany, San Joaquin county, Cal. The other young lady, who is the daughter of very wealthy parents, her father being now burgomaster (mayor) of Statton, Germany, accompanied Miss Durenberger, and goes to visit an aunt who lives at Oakland. It so happened that on their arrival here they were in the company of Mr. Will Vischer, a well known western newspaper man, and wife, who were on route to Cheyenne, and the entire party remained in Omaha until eight o'clock last evening, when they took the overland Union Pacific train and proceeded on their westward journey. At the depot a reporter for the Bee met Mr. Vischer, and from him ascertained some facts relative to the young ladies which may be told in these lines: After leaving Chicago Sunday, Mr. Vischer and his wife noticed two very smooth talking, well dressed lake side villans, paying exceedingly close attention to the young ladies, offering them all sorts of inducements to forego their journey in the direction of San Francisco father, and accept homes at elegant country seats near Chicago. One of the hounds represented to Miss Durenberger that he owned an immense stock farm, had 400 head of fine horses, but had no children, therefore if she would go to his home and be a companion for his wife, horses, carriage, fine clothing, jewelry, money, and in fact anything her fancy craved, would be hers. Mrs. Vischer, being able to understand and talk German, heard this conversation and seeing that the girls were badly frightened, told her husband of the dangerous trap they were falling into. He went to one of the fellows and warned him that unless he let the girls alone there would be trouble. Vischer's conversation was to the effect that he, a native Virginian, had been nine years among miners in the Rocky mountains, therefore would not see innocent, unprotected females imposed on by designing scoundrels without making complaint. At that Mrs. Vischer took the girls into her arms and, and cut the two smart sales off from having any more conversation with them. The girls were so overjoyed at finding friends that they wept and went on over Mrs. Vischer as though she had been their mother, just dropped like an angel down out of the clouds. The villains, however, still pursued them, and never left the train until it reached Council Bluffs. There Mr. Vischer called an officer and pointed them out to him, a transaction which they interpreted rightly, and made themselves scarce, though they threatened all sorts of dire disaster to Mr. Vischer. After coming to the depot on this side of the river Miss Durenberger discovered that part of her money was gone and it is supposed that the lot with four hundred fancy horses must have picked her pocket. It was then learned that, by reason of their ignorance regarding the ways of this country, and inability to speak a word of English, the girls had been grossly imposed upon ever since they landed in New York. At Castle Garden Miss Greutz had been sold an emigrant ticket for first-class passage and until they reached Chicago both traveled in the emigrant cars, though Miss Durenberger had purchased a first-class ticket. But rather than separate from her companion she preferred to bunk in the emigrant sleeper. While here Mr. Vischer went to Mr. Morse and had him raise Miss Greutz's ticket to a first-class passage. Their friends were telegraphed to last night and will meet them at Ogden. Miss Durenberger is a handsome girl and highly educated. Only a few years ago she graduated from the young ladies' seminary at Paris. She is about the average height, slim, well formed figure, and would attract attention any place. Miss Greutz is also good-looking and stylish. Being the daughters of wealthy and titled parents, of course they have been pampered, petted, and kept confined, therefore knew nothing, comparatively, before starting on this trip about the ways of the world, and traveling alone in a separate first class car they had not been deceived and lured to their ruin long before now. They can thank Mr. Vischer and his wife for their deliverance from the hands of a pair of blackhearted scoundrels, who would surely have captured and carried them off to some den of sin and shame.

FAMILY MARKET BASKET.

Delicacies Afforded by the Local Markets—Prices.

The local markets are becoming well-stocked and the housekeeper has no trouble in finding plenty of material to select from in cooking; the three meals a day. The situation is briefly summed up below. FISH. In the fresh water article, white fish, trout and bass retail at 15 cents per pound; white pike at 10 cents; cropple and perch can be had for 12 1/2 cents; catfish are just coming in and sell for 12 1/2 to 15 cents a pound. As for salt water fish, codfish and haddock are worth 15 cents a pound, halibut 20 cents. Shad sells from 10 to 20 cents each. Pickled fish are not in very lively demand at 12 1/2. Eels sell for 20 cents a pound. Codfish tongues are rare, but retail for 20 cents. MEATS. The best cuts of sirloin sell for 15 cents, rump and upper part of round steak at 12 1/2. Roasting ribs, firm and juicy, can be bought for 10 to 12 1/2 cents.

Veal is extremely scarce and comes high—from 25 to 30 cents, according to the choiceness of the part. Sweet breads can be purchased at 25 cents a pair. Corn beef is selling at from 5 to 10 cents, according to cuts. Prime legs of mutton can be had for 12 1/2 cents; mutton chops 12 1/2 to 15 cents. Ham is a staple article in good demand at 12 1/2 cents in bulk, 25 cents sliced. Pork 10 to 12 1/2 cents. Sausage 10 to 12 1/2 cents. FRUITS AND VEGETABLES. The vegetable market is well stocked. Early peas instances are in fair demand at 75 to 90 cents; the Peerless and White Elephant bring 75 to 85 cents a bushel. The Colorado, of large and meaty variety, is sold at $1 a bushel. The genuine Salt Lake potatoes sell for $1 a bushel. Asparagus is worth 5 cents a bunch. Rhubarb can be bought for 3 to 5 cents a pound, water cress 5 cents a bunch. Parsley is sold at 50 cents a dozen. California cabbages can still be bought for 5 cents a pound. Fresh radishes are worth 5 cents per bunch. Spinach is worth 25 cents a peck, while cucumbers sell at from 12 1/2 to 15 cents apiece, according to size. Fresh home grown lettuce, a delightful salad delicacy at this season of the year, is sold at 5 cents a head. Fresh tomatoes are in lively demand at 20 cents a pound, while green peas are putting in an appearance and sell for 10 cents a quart; string beans 75 cents a quart. Wax beans can be bought for 20 cents a quart. Sweet potatoes are very scarce and retail for from 6 to 8 cents a pound. Green onions are selling for 5 cents a bunch, southern onions three pounds for a quarter. Bermudas two pounds for a quarter. EGGS AND BUTTER. Eggs have a standard price of 12 1/2 cents a dozen. Butter, best dairy and creamery, is selling for 25 cents a pound. POLICE COURT. Monday Morning Outfits—Rushing the Growler. Business in the police court yesterday morning was fairly lively, though no cases of special importance were called for trial. George Thurston, a granger who had just arrived in Omaha, had celebrated his entry by getting on a big spree. "Five and costs" tells the sad tale. William Avery, a Washington county farmer, who had come to Omaha with the express purpose of "tinting the town," succeeded remarkably well. He was released by Judge Stenberg and told to set his face homeward. Thomas McDermott, likewise accused of intoxication, explained that he had got a few drinks in him Sunday, had got to singing in a saloon and had ejected. He met a policeman, who very properly arrested him for attempting to render a free choice vocal selection in the open air. He was fined $5 and costs. John Doe, an ex-policeman suffered a similar infliction for a similar offense. James Crossley was arraigned for attempting to assault and battery upon the person of one E. J. Stone. The story told by the plaintiff was that he was walking past the corner of Twelfth and Howard streets, Sunday afternoon, when he was accosted by Crossley who asked him if he had money enough to "rush the growler," i. e. to pay for the beer. Jones replied that he had 15 cents which he would gladly give him. Crossley at first declined to take the money, but afterwards accepted it. He then returned it saying that he guessed Jones needed it more than he did. Just at this point, Jones claims, Crossley went up to him and struck him with some sharp instrument which he thinks was a revolver. The latter parried the accusation, however, Crossley denies, and was sentenced to an imprisonment of five days in the county jail. William Tullan, same charge, promised to leave town before noon and was released. G. D. Anderson, accused of stealing lumber from Bradford's yard, obtained a continuance of his case. John Keene, who was arrested Sunday as being suspected of firing Meyer's lumber yard, was released, as there was no evidence whatever of his guilt. Don't fail to read Motter's price list of groceries on 5th page of this issue. BEARD-SIDNER. A Happy Event in Which a Young Omaha Man Participates. Dolos P. Beard, of this city returned home yesterday, bringing his bride with him. The young lady, formerly Miss Katie Sidner, is well known here, where she lived until about a year ago when she moved with her parents to Denver. Mr. Beard has lived in Omaha since his boyhood and is well and favorably known to all its citizens. He has always been a prominent part in all marital matters in the city, he being an expert player on the guitar and several other instruments. For the past three years he has been a member of No. 1 fire company. The groom has built himself a neat cottage at the corner of Nineteenth and Izard streets and here the happy couple will settle down to married bliss. There will be a wedding reception given this evening at the residence of the groom's parents, to which a large number of invitations have been issued. The Bee extends its congratulations to the young couple and trusts that their married life will be a sunny one, and that no clouds will ever lower round the home of Beard. Army Orders. Major George B. Dandy, quartermaster, U. S. A., chief quartermaster of the department, will proceed to Fort Sidney, Neb., and Bridger, D. A. Russell, and Laramie, Wyo., on public business connected with the quartermaster's department, and on completion of this duty will return to his station at these headquarters. The travel directed is necessary for the public service. A board of officers consisting of Captain Morris C. Fols, Ninth infantry, Captain William H. Smith, Second infantry, and First Lieutenant Olin D. Mitchell, Ordnance department, is appointed to meet on June 1, proximo, to appraise the buildings belonging to the post situated at Fort B. A. Russell, Wyo., with a view to their purchase by the government under the authority of the war department of April 9, 1885. The report of all buildings will be submitted to the department commander, through the commanding officer, Fort D. A. Russell.

Mr. George Lann, superintendent of the census, has returned from Lincoln, having made all necessary arrangement for the local branch of the work of taking the census. The active prosecution of the work will commence next Monday, June 1st. The following gentlemen have been appointed to serve as enumerators for the various wards in the city: First Ward—Messrs. Ehrenport, Hansoa, Ruben and Raven. Second Ward—Frank Kaspar, John Hoyer, Chas. S. Thomas and George B. Stryker. Third Ward—Charles H. Scott, Winfield Crowell, J. H. Daniels and Dr. E. M. Blair. Fourth Ward—William Phillips, H. M. Judson, T. R. Carpenter and W. J. Mount. Fifth Ward—U. B. Balcomb, James Allen, George A. Staring and Frank Williams. Sixth Ward—J. A. Duncanson, C. G. Fields, Gustav Lindquist and D. J. Smith. The census takers have adopted the suggestion of the Bee and will be provided with badges which will distinctly announce their mission. It is highly desirable that the people of Omaha respond readily to the efforts of the enumerators and furnish them all information desired as fully and quickly as possible. It is their duty to take the census and the city census will consume about two weeks. Seal of North Carolina Tobacco is the best. A Much-Owned Mule. Last winter one Charles Westergard defrauded Mrs. Lucinda Jones in a horse trade, robbing her, as she alleged, of a valuable mule. An indictment was found against him by the grand jury. In the meantime Mrs. Jones instituted civil proceedings against Westergard in Judge Selden's court in the shape of a replevin suit. She won the suit, but could not find the mule. The other day, as she claims, she found it in the possession of a man by the name of Ramus Nelson, and seized it as her property. Proceedings of replevin were then commenced by certain parties, Messrs. Meyers and Hanz, who claim that though the mule was in temporary possession of Nelson, it in reality belongs to them. In this shape the case at present stands, and the issue is awaited by those interested with some degree of anxiety.

SOUTH OMAHA The Advantage of Settling in the New Town. The title "South Omaha" does not mean the southern part of the city of Omaha, but is the name of the thriving town commencing at the Union Stock yards on the south, and extending for a mile and a half north, nearly connecting with the city limits of Omaha. The company have again concluded to put on sale 1,000 lots, and let the purchasers of the same realize the profit which the enhanced value of these lots is sure to make. It now being a secured fact that South Omaha is destined—in the near future—to be the largest live stock market west of Chicago, there can be no doubt that this property in a few years will be worth five or even ten times the amount that it can be bought for today. Some may ask: "If this is so, why do not the company keep it and realize this profit from the growth of Omaha that it would if it were just instead the city limits, but being just outside, only county taxes are collected, which are merely nominal. The town owns and operates its own water works, which furnish an abundant supply of pure spring water. Dammy trails will run on the E. & M. and U. P. railways every hour, stopping at the north end of the town, site as well as at the stock yards. The Third street horse cars will run; Haskell's park this spring, and to the stock yards at no distant day. The high altitude and the location a healthy one. Of course there are those who do not believe that South Omaha will amount to much. This kind of people didn't believe Chicago would ever be anything better than a canbyer patch that Omaha would ever outgrow her village clothes, that there never could be any fruit raised in Nebraska, etc., etc. Who made it with? The sceptics, or those that had an abiding faith in the energy, intelligence and resources of the great country? For information, maps, prices and terms apply to the company's office, 215 S. It now being a secured fact that South Omaha is destined—in the near future—to be the largest live stock market west of Chicago, there can be no doubt that this property in a few years will be worth five or even ten times the amount that it can be bought for today. Some may ask: "If this is so, why do not the company keep it and realize this profit from the growth of Omaha that it would if it were just instead the city limits, but being just outside, only county taxes are collected, which are merely nominal. The town owns and operates its own water works, which furnish an abundant supply of pure spring water. Dammy trails will run on the E. & M. and U. P. railways every hour, stopping at the north end of the town, site as well as at the stock yards. The Third street horse cars will run; Haskell's park this spring, and to the stock yards at no distant day. The high altitude and the location a healthy one. Of course there are those who do not believe that South Omaha will amount to much. This kind of people didn't believe Chicago would ever be anything better than a canbyer patch that Omaha would ever outgrow her village clothes, that there never could be any fruit raised in Nebraska, etc., etc. Who made it with? The sceptics, or those that had an abiding faith in the energy, intelligence and resources of the great country? For information, maps, prices and terms apply to the company's office, 215 S.
