STILL DROOPING. Special Telegram to The BEE. CHICAGO, Ill., May 29 .- The fact that to morrow is a holiday on the board was a dampener on any higher quotations than were es tablished early in the day. The crowd in both wheat and corn were as one man disinolined to carry trade over to Monday, and early in the day began unloading. Especially was this true of wheat, though in this pit th lots were all small sized compared with the closing prices of yesterday. The decline was 1hc, the closing to-day being at 87hc for July. The opening was at 884c and the highest point 88gc. The market was governed by depressed foreign advices, the bearish feeling locally, and by heavy receipts, though those of wheat were only moderate. The conviction is spreading, however, that they are going to be heavier in a general way.

CORN, More interest centered in corn than in any other grain. July opened at 45%c—within he of its highest point—and fell off steadily to 44%c, recovering to 44%c at the close of the morning session. This is substantially a drop of 1c from yesterday.
