In spite of the rain the children who are to take part in "The Butterflies' Ball" have been prompt at the rehearsals, which are taking place daily at Crap's music hall. It is a pretty sight to watch them go through some of their rather intricate figures, even in their every day dress. What a fairyland it will be when they all become winged creatures! The board of trus-tees of the Homeopathic hospital in Chicago has copyrighted the play called "The Butterflies' Ball," but have given Mr. Martine the privilege of producing it outside of the state for such charitable causes, as it may help.

The Fighters Fined.

William Doyle and Tom Ellis, the two principals in the noted hammer-and-tongs prize fight near the road house a few days since, were finally brought before Judge Anderson's bar yesterday afternoon to explain their actions on that occasion. There was but one witness brought up on each side, and the testimony was almost entirely corroborative. The judge ruled that the contest was an out and out prize fight, no matter what prompted it, whether money, revenge or the possession of the young lady's friendship. The fight was in a prize ring, was conducted according to the rules govern-ing such contests, and would fully come within the intention of the statutes concern ing such affairs. To let such brutal affairs pass unpunished in a civilized community would be a farce on law. He therefore fined each of them {25 and costs,

A DESERTED WIFE.

She Appeals to the County Commis sioners For Transportation.

Groaning under pain and sobbing pitifully, with the realization of having been deserted by a man who had promised a few years ago to love, cherish and provide for her, Mrs. Antonia Buck, a young woman of attractive and refined features, leaned heavily on the arm of a lady friend and with laborious effort mounted the long stair approaching the county court house yesterday afternoon, oc casionally stopping for rest. The twain visited different departments of the building before they found the chambers of the county commissioners and County Superin-tendent of Poor Mahoney, for whom they were in search. Mrs. Buck, after regaining her composure, told a pitiable tale, coupled with a request that the commissioners fur nish her with transportation to Chicago. Mrs. Buck stated that she had relatives in fair circumstances and social relations living in Chicago, and that three years ago she married the man who has so unceremoniously de-serted her. Buck, by occupation, is a carpenter and contractor, and four months age they came to Omaha. Mrs. Buck at that time was in a delicate condition, and they took up their abode in Brownell hall. The marital relations of the pair became consid-erably strained soon after their arrival in Omaha, and a few days ago Mrs. Buck met with an accident that affected her maternity. Since then she has been an invalid, and on Tuesday night her misfortmas user in Tuesday night her misfortanes were in-creased by the appearance of a strange man with a note from her husband, which, in effect, was that he had left the town and her for good, and that she would never hear from him again. This had a discouraging effect on Mrs. Buck, who, being left among strangers without a penny and the household effects mortgaged, concluded to go to her friends in Chicago with the aid of assist ance from the county authorities. The latter, inspired by a humane feeling endeav-ored to persuade her to remain until her conattion would admit of travel on the cars, but to this proposition she was decidedly adverse, saying that she had a premonition that she was going to die before long, and that she yranted to pass her last days with her rela-tives. A pass to Chicago wa sgiven her, and tives. A pass to Chicago wa sgiven her, and leaning on the arm of her lady companion she departed.

PARALYZED BY A PINKERTON.

Two Omaha Toughs Knocked Out by an ex-New Yorker.

"Reddy" Gallagher and a co-worker named Egan, who are noted for the number of times they get into difficulty when they should be at home asleep, were yesterday morning nursing sore heads and getting their eyes hand painted in order to hide glaring discol-orations. It happened thusly: "Reddy" and Egan had absorbed perhaps nine fingers each of the liquid known as "Paddy scratch your eye out," and were in a condition which must be felt to be appreciated.

Six Pinkerton men who were passing down Leavenworth street on their way to supper were selected as targets for their very sarcastic tongues but who, notwithstanding their very complimentary remarks, paid no attention to them. Emboddened by their success, the two toughs determined to beard the lion in his den, as it were, and accord-ingly struck out for the B. & M. yards. Upon arriving there they met one Moores, a former member of the Broad-way squad in New York city, and at once announced their intention of reliev-ing him of his star and then, oh! doctor, doctor! Relieve him of that star! Not much, "Reddy?" went to grass and Econ feel os success, the two toughs determined to beard "Reddy" went to grass and Egan fell a "Reddy" came up for his second dose, and i was down and up for four minutes and thirty was down and up for four minutes and thirty-two seconds, central time, and then the would-be annihilators of Pinkerton men crawled off a "leetle the worse for wear," to quote Josh Whitcomb.
