

THE DAILY BEE. E. ROSEWATER, Editor. PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING. TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION: Daily and Sunday, One Year, $10.00; Six Months, $6.00; Three Months, $3.50; Single Copy, 5 Cents.

COBLENZING OFFICE. All communications relative to news and editorial matter should be addressed to the Editor.

BUSINESS LETTERS. All business letters and remittances should be addressed to The Bee Publishing Company, Omaha, Nebraska.

The Bee on the Trains. There is no excuse for a failure to get The Bee on the train.

THE DAILY BEE. A WEEKLY STATEMENT OF CIRCULATION. City of Omaha, Neb., 1889.

Table showing circulation statistics for The Daily Bee in Omaha, Nebraska, for the year 1889. Includes weekly, monthly, and quarterly figures.

Notary Public. George H. Teasdale, being duly sworn, deposes and says that he is secretary of The Bee Publishing Company.

The democratic pump in Montana is divided against itself.

Unless Chicago bestirs herself St. Louis will capture the plum as the boodle center of the west.

The exodus of negroes from Georgia and South Carolina will have a tendency to diminish the strain on the shotgun.

The Dakota saloons are enjoying a season of profound repose pending the enactment of laws to make free whiskey effective.

The opposition from his own party, to S. B. Rice of Ohio, the senatorial candidate, is becoming very pronounced.

A few obnoxious saloonmen, whose applications for licenses were rejected, propose to keep open in defiance of law.

The gamblers' combine claim that they do not care a fig for what the papers say about them.

The report that a rival telegraph company is about to begin business indicates that the Jay Gould system is ripe for another swallow.

Reliable information from Washington exonerates the president from shooting a black pig under the impression that it was a coon.

Frightened by the probability of the passage of the Mills bill, the late mill owners formed a trust.

It is only by comparing realty values with those of inflated cities of less population that Omaha's conservative progress stands out in relief.

There were eleven thousand, seven hundred and nineteen failures last year according to Bradstreet.

While emperors and premiers are sounding the praises of peace and good will, there is no relaxation of vigilance on the respective borders.

If the bill to reimburse persons for Indian depredations becomes a law, Nebraskans will file some tall and wonderfully constructed claims.

While emperors and premiers are sounding the praises of peace and good will, there is no relaxation of vigilance on the respective borders.

While emperors and premiers are sounding the praises of peace and good will, there is no relaxation of vigilance on the respective borders.

While emperors and premiers are sounding the praises of peace and good will, there is no relaxation of vigilance on the respective borders.

While emperors and premiers are sounding the praises of peace and good will, there is no relaxation of vigilance on the respective borders.

While emperors and premiers are sounding the praises of peace and good will, there is no relaxation of vigilance on the respective borders.

LOOK TO THE WEST. A leading New York daily has recently spoken some words of patronizing commendation for the west.

This is gracious, of course, and may be comforting to the Cassandras of Wall street. But is it not a little ridiculous in the light of history?

Whatever has been original, progressive and approved by experience in financial legislation since the administration of Buchanan has been to a very great extent the product of western brains.

It is interesting, however, to note that the east, which is, after all, only a fringe on the garment of the west is beginning to appreciate that the terms western and "wildcat" are no longer synonymous.

The Ohio legislature will meet today, and as the situation appears at this writing, Rice or Thomas will be chosen to succeed Payne.

The opposition from his own party, to S. B. Rice of Ohio, the senatorial candidate, is becoming very pronounced.

A few obnoxious saloonmen, whose applications for licenses were rejected, propose to keep open in defiance of law.

The gamblers' combine claim that they do not care a fig for what the papers say about them.

The report that a rival telegraph company is about to begin business indicates that the Jay Gould system is ripe for another swallow.

Reliable information from Washington exonerates the president from shooting a black pig under the impression that it was a coon.

Frightened by the probability of the passage of the Mills bill, the late mill owners formed a trust.

It is only by comparing realty values with those of inflated cities of less population that Omaha's conservative progress stands out in relief.

There were eleven thousand, seven hundred and nineteen failures last year according to Bradstreet.

While emperors and premiers are sounding the praises of peace and good will, there is no relaxation of vigilance on the respective borders.

While emperors and premiers are sounding the praises of peace and good will, there is no relaxation of vigilance on the respective borders.

While emperors and premiers are sounding the praises of peace and good will, there is no relaxation of vigilance on the respective borders.

While emperors and premiers are sounding the praises of peace and good will, there is no relaxation of vigilance on the respective borders.

While emperors and premiers are sounding the praises of peace and good will, there is no relaxation of vigilance on the respective borders.

form to the interstate commerce law as to all business done by them within the United States encountered little opposition.

This is gracious, of course, and may be comforting to the Cassandras of Wall street. But is it not a little ridiculous in the light of history?

Whatever has been original, progressive and approved by experience in financial legislation since the administration of Buchanan has been to a very great extent the product of western brains.

It is interesting, however, to note that the east, which is, after all, only a fringe on the garment of the west is beginning to appreciate that the terms western and "wildcat" are no longer synonymous.

The Ohio legislature will meet today, and as the situation appears at this writing, Rice or Thomas will be chosen to succeed Payne.

The opposition from his own party, to S. B. Rice of Ohio, the senatorial candidate, is becoming very pronounced.

A few obnoxious saloonmen, whose applications for licenses were rejected, propose to keep open in defiance of law.

The gamblers' combine claim that they do not care a fig for what the papers say about them.

The report that a rival telegraph company is about to begin business indicates that the Jay Gould system is ripe for another swallow.

Reliable information from Washington exonerates the president from shooting a black pig under the impression that it was a coon.

Frightened by the probability of the passage of the Mills bill, the late mill owners formed a trust.

It is only by comparing realty values with those of inflated cities of less population that Omaha's conservative progress stands out in relief.

There were eleven thousand, seven hundred and nineteen failures last year according to Bradstreet.

While emperors and premiers are sounding the praises of peace and good will, there is no relaxation of vigilance on the respective borders.

While emperors and premiers are sounding the praises of peace and good will, there is no relaxation of vigilance on the respective borders.

While emperors and premiers are sounding the praises of peace and good will, there is no relaxation of vigilance on the respective borders.

While emperors and premiers are sounding the praises of peace and good will, there is no relaxation of vigilance on the respective borders.

While emperors and premiers are sounding the praises of peace and good will, there is no relaxation of vigilance on the respective borders.

similar plea twenty-five years ago, and although they were afforded every facility to supply the market they have not produced one-twentieth of the quantity required.

This is gracious, of course, and may be comforting to the Cassandras of Wall street. But is it not a little ridiculous in the light of history?

Whatever has been original, progressive and approved by experience in financial legislation since the administration of Buchanan has been to a very great extent the product of western brains.

It is interesting, however, to note that the east, which is, after all, only a fringe on the garment of the west is beginning to appreciate that the terms western and "wildcat" are no longer synonymous.

The Ohio legislature will meet today, and as the situation appears at this writing, Rice or Thomas will be chosen to succeed Payne.

The opposition from his own party, to S. B. Rice of Ohio, the senatorial candidate, is becoming very pronounced.

A few obnoxious saloonmen, whose applications for licenses were rejected, propose to keep open in defiance of law.

The gamblers' combine claim that they do not care a fig for what the papers say about them.

The report that a rival telegraph company is about to begin business indicates that the Jay Gould system is ripe for another swallow.

Reliable information from Washington exonerates the president from shooting a black pig under the impression that it was a coon.

Frightened by the probability of the passage of the Mills bill, the late mill owners formed a trust.

It is only by comparing realty values with those of inflated cities of less population that Omaha's conservative progress stands out in relief.

There were eleven thousand, seven hundred and nineteen failures last year according to Bradstreet.

While emperors and premiers are sounding the praises of peace and good will, there is no relaxation of vigilance on the respective borders.

While emperors and premiers are sounding the praises of peace and good will, there is no relaxation of vigilance on the respective borders.

While emperors and premiers are sounding the praises of peace and good will, there is no relaxation of vigilance on the respective borders.

While emperors and premiers are sounding the praises of peace and good will, there is no relaxation of vigilance on the respective borders.

While emperors and premiers are sounding the praises of peace and good will, there is no relaxation of vigilance on the respective borders.

are gathering literary materials in remote localities. Hiler Haggard has gone to Asia Minor to collect the bones of the prehistoric South Seas and Sir Edwin Arnold is between here and India.

This is gracious, of course, and may be comforting to the Cassandras of Wall street. But is it not a little ridiculous in the light of history?

Whatever has been original, progressive and approved by experience in financial legislation since the administration of Buchanan has been to a very great extent the product of western brains.

It is interesting, however, to note that the east, which is, after all, only a fringe on the garment of the west is beginning to appreciate that the terms western and "wildcat" are no longer synonymous.

The Ohio legislature will meet today, and as the situation appears at this writing, Rice or Thomas will be chosen to succeed Payne.

The opposition from his own party, to S. B. Rice of Ohio, the senatorial candidate, is becoming very pronounced.

A few obnoxious saloonmen, whose applications for licenses were rejected, propose to keep open in defiance of law.

The gamblers' combine claim that they do not care a fig for what the papers say about them.

The report that a rival telegraph company is about to begin business indicates that the Jay Gould system is ripe for another swallow.

Reliable information from Washington exonerates the president from shooting a black pig under the impression that it was a coon.

Frightened by the probability of the passage of the Mills bill, the late mill owners formed a trust.

It is only by comparing realty values with those of inflated cities of less population that Omaha's conservative progress stands out in relief.

There were eleven thousand, seven hundred and nineteen failures last year according to Bradstreet.

While emperors and premiers are sounding the praises of peace and good will, there is no relaxation of vigilance on the respective borders.

While emperors and premiers are sounding the praises of peace and good will, there is no relaxation of vigilance on the respective borders.

While emperors and premiers are sounding the praises of peace and good will, there is no relaxation of vigilance on the respective borders.

While emperors and premiers are sounding the praises of peace and good will, there is no relaxation of vigilance on the respective borders.

While emperors and premiers are sounding the praises of peace and good will, there is no relaxation of vigilance on the respective borders.

Annual Meeting of the Nebraska Stenographers. The Nebraska State Stenographers' association held its regular annual meeting here Saturday, A. M. Hopkins in the chair.

REMARKS ON INCOMPETENTS. The Supreme Court Docket - New Fire Escape Order - Electric Alarms - Building Permits - Lincoln in Brief.

Nebraska Jottings. A board of trade has been organized at Sterling. The total of city improvements at Nelich for 1889 was $10,000.

Willing to be Sought. Don'thes the office will seek the man in 1892. It is likely that only a desire to save the office the trouble of making any tedious search impels Mr. Cleveland to make his whereabouts so well known in the meantime.

Always a Winner. The Bee as usual, issued a finely illustrated paper on New Year's day, one side of which was devoted to the buildings of Omaha, both residence and business.

Country Breezes. The Omaha Bee's annual is probably as fine an edition as was issued by any paper in the United States.

Dodging the Issue. If asofoldia, Wells of the Crete Vidette has any better argument to offer to the people of Saline county, as to why Hastings and Pope took $800 in notes from the Dades and that tax-payers are paying the expenses of those suits than picking out typographical errors in any newspaper then he had better shut up shop.

Now is the Time to Subscribe. If there is any poor sinner in the city that is not a subscriber to the only religious paper in the city he should at once get his name on the list.

Journalism Under Difficulties. We do not ask to be excused from duty since it has fallen to our lot to edit this paper, but since I am by force of circumstances compelled to do it from my farm at Mabelo, which is twelve and one-half miles from Ainsworth, with only one mail a week, I hope my friends will allow me a great reasonable excuse.

We Don't Need Copy. We have not had any copy since we took charge of the Gazette. We set everything up from the case by liver—that is, we make it up as we go along, the same as the old man got his drive of sheep.

Great Men. Mark Twain does not believe in authors' readings. The czar of Russia has become an expert performer on the violin.

Annual Meeting of the Nebraska Stenographers. The Nebraska State Stenographers' association held its regular annual meeting here Saturday, A. M. Hopkins in the chair.

REMARKS ON INCOMPETENTS. The Supreme Court Docket - New Fire Escape Order - Electric Alarms - Building Permits - Lincoln in Brief.

Nebraska Jottings. A board of trade has been organized at Sterling. The total of city improvements at Nelich for 1889 was $10,000.

Willing to be Sought. Don'thes the office will seek the man in 1892. It is likely that only a desire to save the office the trouble of making any tedious search impels Mr. Cleveland to make his whereabouts so well known in the meantime.

Always a Winner. The Bee as usual, issued a finely illustrated paper on New Year's day, one side of which was devoted to the buildings of Omaha, both residence and business.

Country Breezes. The Omaha Bee's annual is probably as fine an edition as was issued by any paper in the United States.

Dodging the Issue. If asofoldia, Wells of the Crete Vidette has any better argument to offer to the people of Saline county, as to why Hastings and Pope took $800 in notes from the Dades and that tax-payers are paying the expenses of those suits than picking out typographical errors in any newspaper then he had better shut up shop.

Now is the Time to Subscribe. If there is any poor sinner in the city that is not a subscriber to the only religious paper in the city he should at once get his name on the list.

Journalism Under Difficulties. We do not ask to be excused from duty since it has fallen to our lot to edit this paper, but since I am by force of circumstances compelled to do it from my farm at Mabelo, which is twelve and one-half miles from Ainsworth, with only one mail a week, I hope my friends will allow me a great reasonable excuse.

We Don't Need Copy. We have not had any copy since we took charge of the Gazette. We set everything up from the case by liver—that is, we make it up as we go along, the same as the old man got his drive of sheep.

Great Men. Mark Twain does not believe in authors' readings. The czar of Russia has become an expert performer on the violin.

Annual Meeting of the Nebraska Stenographers. The Nebraska State Stenographers' association held its regular annual meeting here Saturday, A. M. Hopkins in the chair.

REMARKS ON INCOMPETENTS. The Supreme Court Docket - New Fire Escape Order - Electric Alarms - Building Permits - Lincoln in Brief.

Nebraska Jottings. A board of trade has been organized at Sterling. The total of city improvements at Nelich for 1889 was $10,000.

Willing to be Sought. Don'thes the office will seek the man in 1892. It is likely that only a desire to save the office the trouble of making any tedious search impels Mr. Cleveland to make his whereabouts so well known in the meantime.

Always a Winner. The Bee as usual, issued a finely illustrated paper on New Year's day, one side of which was devoted to the buildings of Omaha, both residence and business.

Country Breezes. The Omaha Bee's annual is probably as fine an edition as was issued by any paper in the United States.

Dodging the Issue. If asofoldia, Wells of the Crete Vidette has any better argument to offer to the people of Saline county, as to why Hastings and Pope took $800 in notes from the Dades and that tax-payers are paying the expenses of those suits than picking out typographical errors in any newspaper then he had better shut up shop.

Now is the Time to Subscribe. If there is any poor sinner in the city that is not a subscriber to the only religious paper in the city he should at once get his name on the list.

Journalism Under Difficulties. We do not ask to be excused from duty since it has fallen to our lot to edit this paper, but since I am by force of circumstances compelled to do it from my farm at Mabelo, which is twelve and one-half miles from Ainsworth, with only one mail a week, I hope my friends will allow me a great reasonable excuse.

We Don't Need Copy. We have not had any copy since we took charge of the Gazette. We set everything up from the case by liver—that is, we make it up as we go along, the same as the old man got his drive of sheep.

Great Men. Mark Twain does not believe in authors' readings. The czar of Russia has become an expert performer on the violin.