The question of a fountain for Bayless park the coming season is again being broached. The park commissioners say that the fountain will be set this spring, the park appropriation tax having carried, and what they now want is to have the owners of property facing the parks do the handsome thing and contribute for this purpose. It is thought that $1,000 ought to be raised in this manner, as several of the most interested have announced their willingness to subscribe liberally.

Charles Johnson, alias Bethers, was arrested last evening on a warrant charging him with assault with intent to do great bouily injury. Johnson was one of a party of young fellows who attacked another young man some time ago as he was leaving the opera house and pounded him severely. Johnson stabbed him with s pocket knife, but the cut was not a deep one, owing to the thickness of the victim's overcost. The hearing of the others was continued to await Johnson's arrest. The case will be tried be-Johnson's arrest. fore Justice Hendricks.

Theodore P. Rickard of North Dakota, and A. C. Patheal of South Dakota, were in the city yesterday, and appeared before the board of trade in behalf of the Dakota sufferers. The railroad companies will carry the donations free from this point, and an effort will be made to secure the same terms in collecting supplies. The sufferers are out of every thing, and will gladly accept whatever grain the farmers here will kindly give. Several car loads will undoubtedly be forwarded

The notorious blackmailing adventuress, Mrs. J. Fountain, whose story was thoroughly ventilated in yesterday's Beg, found the Biuffs altogether too warm for comfort, and left yesterday for Omaha. Young Hoffman, her latest victim, skipped on an early morning train for his home in Des Momes. Mrs. Fountain apparently found the climate of Omaha rather unhealthy, as she passed through this city last evening at 5:20 on the Rock island, also en route for Des Moines. She will undoubtedly soon have Hoffman in the toils again, but she will steer for fields where she is net as well known as she is here.

The Preacher and the Mob.

The Francis Murphy temperance move ment has had a little effect even on those who have been so engaged and interested in the Helmick murder trial that one would naturally suppose they would think of little else. A tiny bit of the blue ribbon is carefully tied into the buttonhole of Judge Thorneil, who presides on the bench. The de fendant, Rev. Mr. Helmick, also flies the blue ribbon, as do several of the witnesses, as well as a number of others who are in constant attendance on the trial. The jurymen seem to have escaped.

Yesterday forenoon was taken up with the continued and sharp cross-examination of the defendant. There was little gained for the prosecution, as Rev. Mr. Helmick stuck pretty snugly to the story already narrated. Much time was taken in questioning him as to what he had sworn to at the preliminary examination, and an attempt was made to corkscrew from him statements inconsist-ent with his previous testimony. On some of the minor points this was successful.

On the opening of the afternoon session the defense sgain offered in evidence the letter so frequently alluded to, and which has caused several arguments and led to nu-merous decisions. Judge Thornell ruled the letter out the day before, because the de-fense had not made the necessary preliminary proof. Yesterday he decided that the defense had succeeded in making the necessary proof by the testimony of Helmick, and allowed the letter to go to the jury. The purpose of this letter was to show that R. Helmick was not actuated by malice but was simply performing pastoral duty. Mrs.
Porter and her daughter Ella, who afterward became Mrs. Palmer, were members of his church. In June Mr. Helmick received this letter written by Mr. Crissman, a engineering corps.

brother-in-law of Palmer's. Crissman was also a member of the church. In this letter also a member of the church. In this letter Crissman stated that the fact had just come to his knowledge that Ella Porter was infatuated with Earl Palmer. He informed Mr. Heimick that Palmer was a victim of most debasing vices, was utterly untruthful, and was a companion of prostitutes; that he deliberately ruined a girl in Illinois, and it was natural to think he would do the same thing again. He dehe would do the same thing again. He de-sired Mr. Helmick to see Mr. and Mrs. Porter and to warn them. Mr. Crissman wrote that he had no ill will against Palmer.

but deemed it his duty, though a painful one, to have the girl's parents warned. He requested Mr. Helmick not to show this letter or mention his name unless it should become necessary.

Lou Graver was recalled on some point of less importance, concerning differences in his testimony at the preliminary examination and on the present trial.

Riley Clark was then called by the state, in rebuttal of the testimony of Sullivan. Riley made a bushel of fun. There was little in his testimony of great importance, but the sallies between him and Attorney McCabe, who cross-examined him, made much merri-ment. They were largely of a personal Much interest is being manifested in those who recently signed the pledge during the progress of the Murphy meetings in this city. Among the number was Frank Trimble, whose history is familiar to- every citien of the Bluffs. In discussing the matter yesterday afternoon, a business man re-marked: "I saw Trimble yesterday in front of the Turf Exchange and a notorious bummer had him by the arm trying to get him inside to tuke a drink. City Marshal Guanella overheard the con versation and remarked: "I wish I had been there and I would have thrown him into the hole."

At this point Judge Aylesworth took a hand. Said he, "I wish you had. He would have gone to the county jail. If you find anybody trying to get Frank to drink, bring him in. It won't be well for any of these contemptible whelps to come before me on such a charge, or they will go down for thirty days. It is hard enough for a young man to conquer such an appetite without someone trying to pull him down again. We will have to make common cause in this matter, and if Trimble can be given any help he shall have it. Arrest the first man who purposely throws temptations in his way.

The Union Depot Company. The Council Bluffs railway and union depot company held a meeting Wednesday evening in the south court room of the county building to elect officers and make arrangements for the meeting with the roads supposed to be interested in the Council Bluffs union depot. The following directors were appointed: W. H. M. Pusey, T. J. Evans, Evans, Samuel Haas, N. P. Dodge, G. F. Wright, Horace Everett, W. C. James, William Moore and John Churchill. After their election the directors had a little meeting of their own and elected the following officers: President, W. H. M. Pusey; secretary, George F. Wright; treasurer, N. P.

Dodge; executive committee, Messrs. Wright Evans and Pusey. The executive committee and Samuel Hass were appointed to represent the depot company at the Omana meeting yesterday afternoon and the proxies of the stock-holders were delegated to them. The stockholders also formulated several propositions to be sprung on the railroad men today, and it was 'sincerely hoped" that one of them would be acceptable to all the parties interested. The meeting adjourned to meet again this week and hear the report of its representa-tives at the Omaha meeting as to what was done there and what the depot company might expect at the hand of the road.

The Council. The engineer at the board of trade building got even with the council in great shape last night. A few weeks ago, with the thermometer below the zero mark, he went away early in the evening and compelled the council to adjourn early to save being frozen to death. He was "toasted" for his action by the council and the press. Last evening, with the weather as mild as a day in June, he piled on the coal until the temperature in the council chamber was above blood heat, and the councilmen simply sweltered through a dreary three hours' session. The appraisers appointed to assess damages to the property owners by the reason of the construction of the Tenth street viaduct submitted a supplementary report showing the damage to tenants and lessees affected. The report recommended the fol-

The mayor vetoed the resolution allowing the assistant city attorney $20 a month rent. His reason was that he had been informed by some of the councilmen that they had voted for the resolution under a misapprehension. Mr. Bechel wanted to know who the members are who had voted under a misapprehension. Mr. Davis explained that he was one of the misguided. The resolu tion was passed over the mayor's veto. The mayor vetoed a resolution ordering gas lamps in various parts of the city for the reason that there is not sufficient funds in the treasury for the purpose. The veto was sustained and referred to the committee on gas and electric lights for investigation as to the condition of the fund.

The mayor presented a communication calling the attention of the council to the lack of organization in the city health department. He recommended the organiza-tion of a sanitary board, with at least six inspectors, for the daily examination of the condition of the streets and alleys and a daily inspector of all meat and milk offered for sale in the city. He recommended more stringent ordinances relative to the attend-ance and quarantining of cases of con-

Tom Lacy is on trial before Judge Clarkson on the charge of having touched a rural watches and $10 in the coin of the realm. The complaining witness is Henry Wallbaum, who told his story to the court through an interpreter. The tale was disjointed and a half dozen detectives were brought in to bolster up the case by showing the good nature of the jury.

The case of Mrs, Shinn vs Shields & Connor seems destined to be a "hanger" in the district court. It was commenced several terms ago. Last term it was tried but the jury failed to agree. It was placed on trial before Judge Doane Monday. Yesterday morning Architect McDonald, who is one of the principal witnesses for the prosecution, was absent and a capias was resued for him. The bailiff who went out with the capias returned with a physician's certificate setting forth Mr. McDonald's illness. The case was accordingly continued until next term.

The case of Henry Lehman vs Edholm &
Aiken was called before Judge Doane yesterday afternoon. This is a suit for $57 for wall paper, and has been in the courts until the costs equal several times the amount of the original claim. In reply to the suit Edholm & Aiken alleged that the goods were purchased from Lehman by one Meler, whom they paid for both the material and the work, and that Lehman should look to Meler for the pay for the material. The case was tried before Justice Wade and a case was tried before Justice Wade and a verdict rendered for Lehman. It was appealed and was tried before Judge Doane last term. The jury before whom the case was tried, after having been out several hours, returned and asked Judge Doane if it should make any difference in the verdict because Mr. Lehman was not put on the stand. The question made Judge Doane very indignant, and after a verdict had been given for the plaintiff, he granted a new trial on the ground that the jury was not competent to try the case. The case is now on trial.

Lewis O. Hibben has commenced suit against Constable David P. Farquhar and his bondsmen, John Thomas and Edward J. Brennan. Riley & Dillon obtained a judg-ment of $500 in the county court against Hibben, and the execution was placed in the nands of Constable Farquhar, who levied upon three barrels of whisky and advertised the same for sale. Hibben claimed he was exempt from the execution and filed an affi-davit to that effect. The constable sold the whisky and now Hibben claims damages in | Kitchen use, and would have no other. It makes the least smoke, ashes and cinders and gives the greatest degree of heat of any coal we have ever used, and is by far the cheapest and cleanest fuel in the market. We have used several hundred tons of Black Peerless Coal during the winter for boiler and
