Theory of Painting.

The members of the Western Art association met at the Lininger art gallery Tuesday evening to listen to an address by Mr. George W. Fields on "Theory of coloring in the Composition of Paintings," The different schools of are were described and their best features were pointed out. The speaker expressed some very sensible sentiments concerning the slavish imitation of anything old. Some of the best pro ductions of the old painters were good studies, but age and excellence were far from being synonymous. In art as in literature the work must have length of history, however. This the modern school of art lacks. There is much in the Flemish, Venetian, Tuacan and other older schools which might be studied and many valuable points

SHAME AND CRIME.

The Horrible Recital Before a Coroner's Jury.

The dead body of a male infant was found under suspicious circumstances in the Ainscow block Tuesday morning. The coroner was summoned, and was told a shocking story by a Mrs. R. J. Brown, one of the tenants. Mrs. Brown said that Ida Moore, a young woman from Hamburg, Ia., was the mother of the child.

The tiny body was brought to Heafey's undertaking establishment, where an inquest was held, A story too nauseating for reproduction in detail was unfolded. John Crounse and Andrew Johnson testified to finding the baby at the entrance to the

Mrs. R. J. Brown, a poverty-stricken Mrs. R. J. Brown, a poverty-stricken woman who rents a room in the rookery called the Ainscow block, testified that Miss Ida Moore came from Hamburg, Ia., four weeks ago last Sunday to board with her and be treated, as she alleged, for a lung trouble. Miss Moors, Mrs. Brown and her four children, and Mrs. Robinson an aunt of Miss Moore, all lived in this solitary room. Miss Moore, all lived in this solitary room.

THE COLISEUM FIGHT.

What a Man Opposed to Kickers Has to Say.

A meeting of the stockholders of the Coliseum building association has been called for April 12, at which time the dissat isfied stockhol ters will be given an opportunity to ventilate their grievances. Several of the largest stockholders have announced their intention of offering all their stock to any one who will take it at the price paid for it by the holders.

In speaking of this matter a gentleman who has been watching the progress of the association pretty closely re-marked that it would give the "kickers" an opportunity of showing their good faith.

Mr. Kierstead and Mr. Lindsay are the two argest stockholders in the association, and the charge that they would participate in or even countenance any crooked work as these rresponsible kickers charge them with is absurd on the face of it,
"When the meeting occurs next month
Mr. Lindsay tells me that he intends to take all the books, papers and everything else up to the Coliseum building, where the meeting will be held, and the stockholders will be given complete swing to look over them to their complete satisfaction." Clipped from Canada Presbyterian, under

MAX MEYER TALKS. His Reasons for Urging a Change of Pavement.

Referring to an editorial in THE BEE of March 10, entitled, "Bogus Paving Certificates," said Max Meyer, "I certainly do not belong to any combine, and I am one of the circulators of the petition asking for an asphalt pavement on Farnan street between Ninth and Fifteenth, as the noisy stone pavement has undoubtedly hurt the street, "I was one of a committee of five from the board of trade in 1882 sent east to examine and report upon the pavement most suitable for Omaha. After examing the pavements of eastern cities, we reported unanimously for asphalt. I have visited Paris, London and Berlin several times since 1881, and found asphalt pavements regarded as the best. At Berlin I found them removing stone blocks from many streets to make way for the smooth, noiseless and inviting

A Sixty Thousand Building. A telegram from Washington announces that Senator Manderson, tollowing the recommendations of the secretary of war, proposes to introduce a bill appropriating $60,000 for new buildings for the government corrall at Fort Omaha. This appropriation has been recommended by the commanding general of the department of the Platte, and has been endorsed by the officials of the war department, as well as the secretary. Mr. Jones of the commissary department says that this building is to be erected at the government depot in the southwest part of this city, which is commonly known as the corrall. The structure is to be of brick and will be two stories high. Its dimensions, 240x50. It will be erected at the southeast corner of the grounds, near the Union Pacific sidetracks. It is to be used as a store house for supplies of all kinds for the army of the department of the Platte, which will include provisions, clothes and harness. include provisions, clothes and harness.

TRUEMAN'S TROUBLE.

It is Detailed by One of His Sorry Bondsmen.

A Bas reporter met one of J. J. Trueman's bondsmen at the Millard yesterday morning. Trueman is the defaulting postmaster at Genoa, who was arrested Tuesday by the United States authorities and brought to this city last night. "Trueman's postoffice shortage," said the gentleman, "in round figures is $1,930. But this is not all. He represents a number of insur-ance companies and is in arrears with every one of them. He is short with the Springfield insurance company of Springfield, Mass., $63.57; with the German of Freeport, III., $78.46; with the Phoenix of Brooklyn, $76.93; Uunderwriters of New York, $130, and the Phoenix of Hartford, $86."

Colonel Moores Will Look It Up. District Court Clerk Frank Moores is still receiving letters referring to the mysterious individual who started for the "west" years ago and died somewhere, leaving a fabulous estate to somebody. The last letter is from Rev. Andrew J. Nugent, of Needersburg, Ind., who stated that his father left their Indiana home for California many years ago and had not been heard of since. He therefore concludes that the old gentleman must have accumulated an immense fortune and then died. By some mysterious cause of reasoning he hits upon Omaha as the place where the old gentleman acquired his great wealth and where he died. Mr. Nugent asks Mr. Moores to please investigate the records and see if there isn't untold wealth lying about in great chunks waiting for the Nugent family to come along and claim it. He represents that there are nine grown children in the family and pathetically requests Mr. Moores to investigate and notify him of

Mrs. Crandali's Residence? THE BEE has received a letter from Mr. L. M. Farmer, Pogallop, Pierce county, Wash., under date of February 28, 1890, stating that a young man, a stranger named Crandall. was killed there "the other day" by a falling tree. Prior to the fatality he had told the parties with whom he boarded that his mother was a widow and lived in Nebraska, but did not say what part, and that he was making and saving his money to go and see her. The letter adds that the citizens of Pogallop are very anxious to learn of Mrs. Crandail's place of residence. The papers of Nebraska may do a kindness in copying.

Catarrh

S a blood disease. Until the poison is expelled from the system, there can be no cure for this loathsome and dangerous malady. Therefore, the only effective treatment is a thorough course of Ayer's Sarsaparilla - the best of all blood puritiers. The sooner you begin the better; delay is dangerous.

"I was troubled with catarrh for over two years. I tried various remedies, and was treated by a number of physicians, but received no benefit until I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A few bottles of this medicine cured me of this troublesome complaint and completely restored my health."—Jesse M. Boggs, Holman's Mills, N. C.

"When Ayer's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me for catarrh, I was inclined to doubt its efficacy. Having tried so many remedies, with little benefit, I had no faith that anything would cure me. I became emaciated from loss of appetite and impaired digestion. I had nearly lost the sense of smell, and my system was badly deranged. I was about discouraged, when a friend urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and referred me to persons whom it had cured of catarrh. After taking half a dozen bottles of this medicine, I am convinced that the only sure way of treating this obstinate disease is through the blood."—Charles H.
