ANDREWS MAKES A GREAT CATCH

Result of Other Western and American Association Games - Turf and Diamond Notes-Miscellaneous Sports.

DESVER, Colo., April 18.- Special Telegram to Tue Ben. |- The second game of the Denver Omaha series was played today in the presence of 2,000 people, the weather being exceedingly fine. The game resulted in a victory for the home nine by a score of 10 to s. The Omaha team played a strong game, and for a time it appeared as if it would be victorious. Fanning, who pitched for the visitors, was a triffe wild, which was the cause of the loss of the game by Omaha. Andrews carried off the fielding honors for the visitors, he having made an extraordincatch of a line hit. The homo nine bunched their hits. Dairymple in the eighth inning made the first home run of the season. After the first inning the visitors had little trouble the first unitor the visitors and intervision in stealing bases on Wilson, while Thayer's throwing to second caused the home nine to stick close to first, being satisfied to wait until the ball was hit to go to second. The unput was fair, although there was the usual amount of kloking. The score:

Dense Ignorance in New York.

New Yong, April 18.-Chauncey Depew presided at the regular meeting of the New York association of Yale Alumni tonight and made an impromptu speech upon the south, touching upon some things he had seen during his recent trip. Discussing the race problem, he said that education and accumu-lation would solve it as it would remedy New York City's bad government. There are in New York, he thought, 100,000 persons as ignorant and illiterate as any negroes in the south.

A Judge's Severe Criticism.

NEW YORK, March 18.-The general term of the supreme court has affirmed the decision of the special term setting aside certain confessed judgment of Schwab & Son, lace merchants. Judge Barrett's opinion is very se-vere in criticism of methods of the sheriff's office. He says: "The sheriff's sale was a sham. The preferred creditors pretended to purchase the bulk of the goods, but never paid a penny nor received a penny's worth of the goods. The pretended partnership between the brothers was transparent at the sale and all that preceded it."

Hastings Happenings.

HASTINGS, Neb., April 15.-[Special to THE BEE.]-The people of this city are being aroused to the importance of the sewerage proposition to be voted upon April 30. Sixty ninent citizens and taxpayers have petitioned Mayor Clarke to call a mass meeting at the opera house Monday evening to intelligently discuss the feasibility of such a measure at this time. The move is timely, as the special election to vote $50,000 sewer bonds is drawing near. There is no doubt that every taxpayer in the city is anxious to see the sewerage proposition carry, but they want to be enlightened on the subject, and know what they are voting for. The ordinance contem-plates the establishment of three districts, embracing the following territory; District No. 1 takes in that portion of the city bounded by B street on the south, the B. & M. rall-by B street on the south, the B. & M. the and road on the north, St. Joe avenue on the east and Burlington avenue on the west. District No. 2 is bounded on the west by Bellevue avenue, on the east by Colorado avenue, on the south by the B. & M. railroad and on the north by Second street. District No. 3 is bounded on the west by Bellevue avenue, on the south by Second street, on the east by Colorado avenue and on the north by Fourth street. This territory includes the heart or business portion of the city;

Mayor Clarke has appointed the following named gentlemen to solicit aid for the Cheyenne county sufferers: F. J. Benedict, C. H. Paul, A. H. Cramer and J. F. Ballinger. Postmaster Heartwell will retain the eleri-cal force at the postofice for the present. There has been something over 100 applica-

Editor Grady Had a Big Heart and a Strong Sense of Humor.

Perhaps no one incident could illustrate more subtilely or more exqisitely, Mr. Grady's largeness of heart and his wonderful combination of humor and pathetic emotion, than the one which follows, says a writer in the Atlanta Constitution

On that particular Christmas eve, there was living in Atlanta an old gen-tleman who had at one time been one of the leading citizens of the town. He had in fact been a powerful influence in the politics of the state, but the war swept away his possessions, and along with them all the conditions and surroundings that had enabled him to maintain himself comfortably. His misfortunes came on him when he was too old to begin the straggle with life anew with any reasonable hope of success. He gave way to a disposition that had been He only convivial in his better days when he had hope and pride to sustain him, and he sank lower until he had nearly reached the gutter. I joined Mr. Grady as he left the office and we walked slowly down the street, enjoying the kaleidoscopic view of the ever-shifting, ever-hurrying crowd as it swept along the pavements. In all that restless and hastening throng there seemed to be but one man bent on no message of enjoyment or pleasure, and he was old and seedy-looking. He was gazing about him in an absent-minded way. The weather was not cold, but a disagreeable drizzle was falling.

"Vonder is the judge," said Mr. Grady, pointing to the seedy-looking old "Let's go and see what he is going man. to have for Christmas.

I found out long afterwards that the man had long been a pensioner on Mr. Grady's bounty, but there was nothing to suggest this in the way in which the young editor approached the judge. His manner was the very perfection of cordiality and consideration, though there was just a touch of gentle humor in his bright eyes.

"It isn't too early to wish you a merry Christmas, I hope," said Mr. Grady, shaking hands with the old man.

"No, no," replied the judge, straight-ening himself up with dignity; "not at all. The same to you, my boy."

"Well," remarked Mr. Grady lightly "you ought to be fixing up for it. L'm not as old as you are, and I've got lots of stirring around and shopping to do if 1 have any fun at home,

The eyes of the judge sought the ground, "No. I was-ah-just considering." Then he looked up into the laughing but sympathetic eyes of the boyish young fellow, and his dignity sensibly relaxed. "I was only-ah-Grady, let me see you a moment,

The two walked to the edge of the pavement and talked together some little time. I did not overhear the conversation, but learned afterwards that the judge told Mr. Grady that he had no provisions at home, and no money to buy them with, and asked for a small loan.

"I'll do better than that," said Mr. Grady. "I'll go with you and buy them myself. Come with us," he remarked to me with a quizzical smile. "The judge here has found a family in distress and we are going to send them something substantial for Christmas,"

We went to a grocery store near at hand, and I saw, as we entered, that the judge had not only recovered his native dignity, but had added a little to suit the occasion. I observed that his bearing was even haughty. Mr. Grady had observed it too, and the humor of the sitution so delighted him that he could hardly control the laughter in his voice.

"Now, judge," said Mr. Grady, as we approached the counter, "we must be discrete as well as liberal. We must get what you think this suffering family most needs. You call off the article the clerk here will check them off, and I will have them sent to the house. The judge leaned against the counter with a careless dignity quite inimitable and glanced at the well filled shelves. "Well," said he, thruming on a paper

Hardin County, Kentucky, Again the Scene of a Sanguinary Battle,

FIVE STATE SOLDIERS WOUNDED. The Desperadoes Fortified in a Barn and Surrounded by Troops-Reinforcements Hurrying to the Scene of Conflict.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 18.-A special to the Times from Harlan Court House says a deadly fight occurred this morning at 1:20 o'clock, seventeen miles east of there, in the Black mountains, between a detail of state troops, consisting of sixteen privates, and thirty outlaws who were about fortified in an old barn. Five of the soldiers were wounded, It is not known how many of the outlaws were killed, as they still have possession of the barn. A corporal was sent in after reinforcements and knows but little, as he left immediately after the firing began. The troops have the barn surrounded, and it will be impossible for those on the inside to make their escape, and the only two roads which lead from the place of action are cut off by pickets, who are instructed to allow no one to pass toward town, as it was thought best to keep the news of the conflict from the people about there until after rein-forcements had reached the place. Yesterday afternoon Captain Guither, who is the commanding officer, was in-formed that a body of lawless men, some of whom had been indicted for various offenses, were fortified against the law at the above mentioned locality and had refused to surrender to the civil authori He was asked for a detail of his men to ties. go out with some of the civil officers for the purpose of arresting them, and he at once purpose of arresting them, and he at once sent sixteen privates in charge of Sergeant Pullian and Corporal Blantin. They expected to find the men in a house near the barn, but instead were fired upon from the barn. The attack was not looked for from that point and came so unex-vected to the damoralized the soldiers for a pectedly that it demoralized the soldiers for a minute or two, but they soon rallied and sur rounded the barn and began firing into it from every direction. Then it was thought best to cease action and hold the fort until reinforcements arrived with more ammunition It is believed that a severe fight will take place as soon as the additional troops reach the place, for the outlaws are well armed with Winchester rifles and swear that they will not surrender. The soldiers are determined and want revenge for those who have been shot down. No further particulars are obtainable

Up to a late Lour tonight no further news has been received from the scene of the fighting. Adjutant General Hill says the have been between a posse and fight may have been between a posse and Willis Howard's gang or it may have been an attempt on the part of the friends of Will Jennings to rescue him. He was to have been taken to Pineville under guard of troops on his way to Missouri and it may be the fight resulted from an attempt of his friends to release him

A YOUNG MAN'S LIFE.

Henry W. Grady's Idea as to How It Should Be Guided.

Of late years Mr. Grady became more serious, and it has been truly said that he was developing faster in the last year of his life than at any previous period, says a writer in the Atlanta Constitu-With the consecration to his patriotic mission came an overwhelming sense of responsibility which left less room for the youthful effervescence of his overflowing spirits. All the fine humor and all the elasticity were there, but he was sobered and at times saddened by some ill-omened phases of the great problem he had set himself to solve.

It is worth while in this connection to reproduce a letter which shows the seri-ous side of his nature, which yet seemed because I believe in analying the gosnever to be wholly lacking in the sunny humor with which he brightened every thing. It is a letter written to Mr. Clark Howell, the present managing editor of Constitution, on his twenty-first

PRETENDER SCHWEINFURTH.

A Preacher's Account of the False Christ of Illinois.

The Rev. J. P. Brushingham's sermon it the Ada Street Methodist church last night was a description of Schweinfurth, the Rockford pretended Christ, and a narrative of the rise of the sect of the hurch Triumphant, as the Schweinfurthians call themselves.

It was a praise service, too, and the olunteer choir, under the direction of William Davis, sung the Sanctus and the Gloria in Excelsis from Farmer's mass, Lambilotte's Benedictus, Allen's "Now is Christ Risen," and the Sanctum Ergo of Rossi, whose catching martial melody has roused up many a Roman Catholic boy at vespers on a warm Sunday afternoon, says the Chicago Tri-bune. The text was: "Many false prophets and false Christs shall arise." Said Mr. Brushingham: "Erickson of California has announced that today is the last Sunday Chicago shall have to hear the gospel in, for according to him, the city will be destroyed April 14. If this be true we couldn't be in better business than in praising God in hymns and anthems as we are this evening. I was glad this last week to have the opportunity of seeing Mr. Schweinfurth of Rockford, who claims to be Christ come on earth for the second time. First, because it gave me an opportunity to re-forth and conquer. new the acquaintance I had with him at because I believe in applying the gos he real Christ came. There would be no to lay his head,' in view of the splendid building you have." Then I thought, but I did not say it: "Are you a conscious fraud or a self-deceiver?" He told mo how he had gone to preaching in the Methodist church at Alpena, where he was expelled from the conference by a committee, of which he who is now Bishop Ninde and at one time pastor of this church was chairman. Mr. Schweinfurth professed to be able to heal the sick and to raise the dead, but he does not do this often. He asked: 'What do the ministers think of me?' I didn't answer, but if I had I should have said: "That you are the rankest impostor on earth. He denied that he had $800,000 worth of property, and said that the newspapers had done him great injustice in saying

"Said he: 'My people would lay down their lives for me, and Apostle Whitney chimed in with, 'O, yes. Life would not be worth the living without you.' I was filled with an indescribable sadness as I went away thinking of the presumption of a man, a piece of common clay, endeavoring to pluck the crown from the brow of the divine Son of God, but he was perfectly calm and composed as if he were sincere. False prophets are arising. The doomscalers have fixed Monday as the date of the destruction of Chicago and Milwankee. I was in the Chicago Tribune offic the other day when a man came in saying that his wife was almost crazy about the destruction of Chicago, but she didn't know the date. A newspaper man suggested that he tell his wife that the date was April 20, and then show her the morning paper the 14th to prove that Chicago was on hand just the same as ever. "The Millerits climed on ice houses clad in ascension robes, and had to come down when the world did not come to an end. A Minneapolis false Christ tried to ascend into heaven and fell and broke his neck. Countless other pretenders have arisen. Sometimes I think we have too much religious liberty. There is too much obtaining money by false pretenses. This God-man Teed has property in Wheaton given him by some weak-minded persons. The Schweinfurth heresy originated with Dora Beekman, the wife of a Con-Beekman, gregationalist minister. She imagined that in her were the attributes of the risen Christ. Schweinfurth be-came a bishop in the Beekmanite church. Mrs. Beekman died after having promised to rise again and her body was kept until the authorities compelled its burial. Schweinfurth claimed to have stood by her as she died, to have caught a glimpse of heaven, and to have heard her voice, saving: "Thou art the Holy One and my spirit passes into thine. Go

The Party at the Paxton.

A select social and dance was given at the Paxton last night. About seventy-five couples from this city, Council Bluffs Lincoln and other towns participated in the festivities. Good music was furnished and the elegant repast was highly enjoyable. The costumes of the evening were modest and the young ladies with graceful mich and the adornment of the usual Mowers, laces and ornaments were a pleasing company. All enjoyed themselves and the party did not break up until long after midnight.

After Aristocratic Gamblers.

Judge Ryland of the Missouri circuit court some weeks ago charged the grand jury to take special notice of progressive euchre and such social games, says a Kar as City dispatch to the New York Herald. The judge then wont to Pettis coursy and enlarged upon his former last etions and included in his denunciatic s the game of "high five" and church raffles is the very thing. What next?" "Let me see," said the judge, closing his eyes reflectively-"two tumblers of strawberry jelly, three pounds of mince meat, and two pounds of dates, if you have some real good ones, and-yes-two cans of deviled ham."

Every article the judge ordered was something he had been used to in his happier days. The whole episode was scene from one of Dicken's novel, and I have never seen Mr. Grady more delighted. He was delighted at the humor of it, and appreciated in his own quaint and charming way and to the fullest extent the pathos of it. He dwelt on it then and afterwards, and often said that he envied the brokendown old man the enjoyment of the luxuries of which he had so long been de prived.

Fined for Docking Horses' Tails.

President John, P. Haines of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals caused the arrest and prosecu tion of Michael Sheehan. Martin Ryan and James Smith for docking the tails of twenty ponies at Woodsburg, L. I. March 18, says a New York dispatch to the Chicago Tribune. The horses be long to John D. Cheever of the Rockaway Hunt club, and were to be used as polo ponies. The prosecution produced the tail of a horse and showed that the operation, no matter how skillfully done, must necessarily cause great physical pain and suffering, and when supplemented by burning the stump with a red hot iron the agony must have been ex-cruciating. Judge Howlett imposed a fine of $40 each on Ryan and Smith and sentenced Sheelma to pay a fine of $50 and be imprisoned in jail for twenty days, he being the one who actually per formed the operation. In the case of Mr. Cheever decision will be rendered in a few days, ad m
