Sioux City 9, Omaha 5.

Yesterday's game was very Blogg. Omaha storted out with three runs and ended up with five, while Sloux City started out with no runs and ended up with nine. And that sizes up the work of the two Fanning did the twirling for the home team, and while he was not batted hard, he was wilder than a Texas steer.

Why, just think of it! He gave eight men bases on balls and made no less than four wild pitches. It was awful!

Willis, the first man up, retired on a grounder to Powell. Canavan laced out a two-sacker and Kearns one for three, and an earned run came home. Then Andrews hit safe, and Kearns came in with another carned Andrews actually stole secwent to third on Cleveland's scratch hit and home on a wild pitch. Cleveland also stole second and reached third on a passed ball. But no further scoring was done, for Walsh flew out to Glenn and Moran

That was an auspicious start, and a mis-guided crack in the grand stand stood up on his hind legs and yelled, "We've got a pic-

In the second the atmosphere began to assume a cerulean hue. Brosnan made a hit and a passed ball sent him to second. Hanrahan, who had taken on a fresh load of ginger, was given first on balls and the next moment Cleveland made a hay-eating error and both runners scored. Genins fanned and Crossley hit her for two sacks but proceeded no farther, as Fanning's curves also extinguished Mr. Devlin.

In the third they bagged another brace, and the atmosphere began to sizzle. Monk Cline went to first on balls, but was forced out at second on Glenn's hit to the pitcher. Cleveland's second blunder gave Kappell a lift and sent Glenn to third, and both men ran home on Powell's sacrifice. Brosnan then knocked out a two bagger, but Hanrahan's out retired the side.

In the fifth the Sioux Citys acted up just awfully, the nasty things, and the Omahas went to pieces like a pumpkin hit with an ax.

Genips and Crossley made hits and Moran, who played right in a pair of eighty-ton gloves, made a murderous muff of Devlin's easy fly, which let Genins in and Crossley to second. The chimpanzee again got his base on four wide ones, Glenn made a hit, and a wild pitch and another base on balls let in three more, and the crowd said—Oh, well, there is no use repeating here what the crowd said, but they said it all the same.

In their half of this same inning Omaha had scored her other two and last runs. They were secured on Hanrahan's muff. Kearns three-bagger and Wally's third safe hit.

The remainder of the game was a proces sion of goose eggs.

Truth will do the club more good than lies." Great Scott! The idea of kicking about a little matter of swelling a crowd by a mere 2,126. What folly! Ananais, to use a modern phrase, would not be "in it" with that dirty beloved brotherhood boomer Baseball has broken into many an editorial Baseball has broken into many an editorial column this year to which it had never before gained entrance. The New York Tribune, after the opening of the season, said: "This unconquerable antagonism is no phantom, but there was a spectre in attendance yesterday. It flitted between the polo grounds and the brotherhord park. Grand stand and bleaching boards saw it and trembled. It was the chost of baseball dead and bled. It was the ghost of baseball, dead and gone, come back for the benevolent and sol-emn purpose of exhibiting itself as an awful warning to its successor. It carried a yellow and musty volume, in which the story of its rise and fall was recorded, and all wounds of which it died in the house o friends were shown—truly a melancholy tale of treachery and deceit. We hope the warning has come in time to save the baseball of today, which has reached the dangerous pinnacle, and seems to some fond and patien yes to be already tottering. If the existing rivalry and antagonism go much further the may end in practices which every decent man despises, and bring a great and costly idol tumbling to the ground."

A close game of baseball was played on the A coose game of observat was played on the Creighton college grounds last evening be-tween the Collegians and the High school Sluggers, which resulted in a victory for the former by a score of 16 to 15. The features of the game were the pitching by Snyder for the college nine in the last, three innings and the brilliant field work of Butler for the high school boys.

The Omaha management are hustling for new talent, and the public can rest assured that the weak spots in the present team will be strengthened.

Another interest-ing feature of the meeting was the passage of a resolution in response to the mayor's suggestion in his annual message, to cut down the expenses of the city. The salaries of policemen were cut down to $40 per month, the city marshal's fees were cut off, the street much surprise, as it was known in certain commissioner and janitor of the city hall were bounced and the electric street light-ing abolished. Salvationists Arrested.

DES MOINES, Ia., April 30.—[Special Tele-gram to THE BEE.]—For nearly four years the Salvation army have had free swing here, using the streets for their parades and meeting two or three times a day without interference. But the patience of those who live in the vicinity of their barracks has been exhausted, and complaint was made to the mayor today. An ordinance prohibits any ass band from parading the streets without permission from the mayor, and the army have ignored it heretofore. But the city marshal warned them today that it would be enforced. They defied the city government and started out tonight as usual for a parade. They didn't blow their horns until the parade was nearly over; then a blast brought a dozen policemen around them, who took the whole army to the city hall, troops went singing like martyrs, and when they reached the court room fell on their knees and prayed so long that the police judge had to call time on them and proceeded to business. They were all bound over to appear in court tomorrow morning

A Court on Wheels.

FORT DODGE, Ia., April 30.-[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]-A special train having an important bearing on the future of the Minneapolis & St. Louis road arrived in this city this evening. The train was practically a court on wheels, carrying the judge of the Hennepin county court of. Minnesota, before whom foreclosure proceedings against the road are now pending, together with the legal and other representatives of the old St. Louis company. The object of the trip is to ascertain whether it will be to the interests of the stockholders to have the foreclosure of the stockholders to have the sale made or try and put the road on its feet again under the present management. The court will examine the affairs of the company all along the line and make its decision when it returns to Minneapolis.

He Had No Faith in Banks. DES MOINES, Ia., April 30.-[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]-Charles Genapp, a farmer living near Ossian, Winneshick county, not having much confidence in banks as a safe place for his surplus funds, selected the top of his heating stove as a bank of deposit, and deposited his pocketbook, contain ing $5. Mrs. Genapp built a fire in the stove and when the pocketbook began to sizzle and sputter the family were at a loss to know what the trouble was. Shortly after she thought of the pocketbook, shoved back the top of the stove, and to her amazement found the book a mass of charred ashes. An examination showed the bills burned in the middle and pretty near both ends. Enough, how ever, remained to be sent to Washington for redemption.

SHOT BY A SNEAK THIEF.

Another Cowardly Assault That Will Probably End In Murder.

A YOUNG SHOE CLERK THE VICTIM.

William Visted Receives a Bullet in His Breast While Attempting to Recover His Employer's Property.

Another cold blooded crime, which will undoubtedly result in the death of the victim, was committed in Omaha last night.

William Visted, a young man of twenty-one years, living with his parents at 1416 Williams street, and employed in Bamberger's dry goods store, at the corner of Thirteenth ad Harney, was shot down by a sneak thief. It was shortly after 9 o'clock when some me on the outside of the store stepped inside and said: "A man out here is stealing shoes." The clerks hurried to the door just in time to see two men run across Thirteenth street, one of them having several pairs of shoes in his hands.

Young Visted was the first man on the sidewalk and at once gave chase, following them into the alley between Harney and Howard.

Visted, who by this time had been joined by L. Block, another clerk, cautiously moved down the altey, and when nearly half way through they discovered the two thieves standing by a telephone pole and immediately called to them to surrender.

Without a word the two men drew their revolvers and freed, one of the balls going wide of the mark and the other striking young Visted.

The people on the streets hearing the shots crowded into the alley, and during the exceeded.

crowded into the alley, and during the excitement the two men escaped. Attention was at once directed to the wounded man, who was carried to the side-walk, placed in M. Latham's carriage and driven to the central station, when Mr. Bamberger summoned Dr. Gapen, the city physician. An examination of the wound was made and it was learned that the ball had entered the right breast, three inches below the right ipple, lodging in the lung.

After applying restoratives and stopping the flow of blood the young man was placed in a hack and driven to his home. The physicians in charge regard the wound as a very serious one and state that the chances are decidedly against the young man's recovery.

NEW YORK, April 30 .- | Special Telegram to THE BEE. |- Charles V. Henkle, twentythree years old, was arrested last night at Morrisiana for embezzlement. Henkle was in charge of the office of the Globe Light and Heat company at 159 Michigan avenue which Martin Malone dent of the New York and New Jersey Globe and Gastight company, owns the controlling stock. Mr. Maloney put Henkle in charge of the Chicago office. When he returned from Europe recently he found Henkle's resignation awaiting him. He ovdered an investigation and found Henkle an embezzier to the extent of several thousand dollars. He had left Chicago, however, leaving a young wife behind him. The detective who was looking for him heard that Mrs. Henkle had come to attend a funeral

Maine Prohibition Not Invalidated. Lewis, Me., April 30.-Judge Dresser of Auburn, who has given much attention to the matter, says the recent decision of the United States supreme court by no means invalidates the Maine prohibitory law, as has been re-ported. Judge Dresser says the decision interferes with only a part of the prohibitory system. It operates against the seizure of liquor at railroad stations, but does not pre-vent seizure after the liquor is brought to shops and transferred to vessels. It merely opens the way for owners to recover liquors
