MINOR MENTION.

N. Y. P. Co. Council Bluffs Lumber Co., coal, The Congregational Sunday schools are arranging for a union picnic on August 14. The ladies of the Berean Baptist church give a social this evening at the residence of Mr. Buswell. The district court room is being thoroughly cleaned out, preparatory to the next term, which opens August 25.

The council failed to get a quorum last night and adjourned until next Monday night, the date of the regular monthly meeting. County Commissioner Graham and Alder man Lacy investigated the work done by the contractors in the Canning hill cut yesterday Captain D. B. Clark has made the necessary preliminary arrangements for the annual meeting of the old settlers to be held at Glenwood August 28. Colonel Daily is giving the Dodge Light Guards a thorough course of drilling preparatory to their appearance at the annual en-campment at Des Moines in August.

In the superior court yesterday the case of Marcus vs Dohany was on trial. This case arises over the building of a party wall between the opera house and Marcus' store. All members of the W. C. A. are earnestly requested to meet at 10 o'clock this morning at the residence of Mrs. John T. Baldwin, to arrange for the funeral of our sister, Mrs. O. M. Brown. Mrs. Gaines, secretary.

The attempt of the democrats to secure ex Governor Click of Kansas for an address here this evening has failed, the distinguished gentleman telegraphing to Mr. Wells Cook, the committeeman, that it would be impossi-

The Model base ball club went to Blair again on Sunday to get satisfaction for their defeat on the previous Sanday, when the score stood 5 to 11 in favor of the Blairs. They get it. The score this time was 13 to 4 in favor of the Nebraskans.

Services will be held each evening this week in the tent on the corner of Avenue B and Twenty-fourth street by Eders Hansene, Butler and Dodson, Elder D. K. Dodson spoke last night at 8 o'clock. The services are free to all and everybody is invited.

A meeting of all wheelmen in the city is desired tonight at the Y. M. C. A. rooms, at the elevator entrance to the Merriam block on Pearl street, at 7:30 o'clock, to ride about the city. Bring your ordinaries or safeties and enjoy a moonlight ride to the river. One of the reporters stated that Hall, who murdered his wife and tried to kill himself, is recovering rapidly and "will soon be able to be up and about." He might be "up" by and by, but there is not much chance for him to ever get about over any great extent of Nearly a full wagon load of vagrant canines were sent to the canine hereafter via the water route in the rear of the city build-ing yesterday. The bound is now described, but the dog catcher will start on his rounds again today, and it will soon be filled again with its howling tenants. Secretary Clayton has received the credentials of nearly all the delegates to the national farmers' congress, and is preparing to have them published. There will be about five hundred of the delegates and the pros-pects are now that fully as many visitors and alternates will accompany them

There have been some slight changes in the police force. Officer Johnson has been granted a leave of absence for a week and Officer Noves has taken his piace. Officer Crafts has been changed to Officer Peterson's beat on Lower Broadway and Special Officer Belknap put in his place on Middle Broad-

A railway employes' picnic will be given at Wahoo, Neb., Saturday, August 16. It will be under the auspices of Brotherhood of Locomotive Fireman No. 123 of Omaha, and Switchmen's Mutual Aid association No. 33 of Council Bluffs. The tickets for the round trip will be $1. The train will leave the Broadway depot, Council Bluffs, at 7:30, and Omaha at 8 o'clock in the morning, and will return in the evening.

A large Newfoundland dog died on upper Broadway yesterday from the effects of a dose of poison that he had found somewhere. The agony of the poor bru'e, and his intelli gent and piteous appeals to the crowd for help, were very affecting. Various antidotes were given him, but the poison had been too thoroughly assimilated. He tried as hard as he could to thank the strangers who were trying to relieve him, and he died wagging his tail in gratitude for the kindness shows

The committee to whom has been assigned the duty of making arrangements for getting visitors here during the session of the na-tional farmers' congress from Nebraska and western Iowa wiil meet at George F. Wright's office at 10 o'clock this morning to complete their work. The committee consists of W. H. M. Pusey, George F. Wright, H. W. Tilton, C. W. Suyder and Thomas Bowman. One of the things to be attended to is the arrangement of an excursion for the dele

The Blethers boy, the young tough who assisted in stealing a number of shirts from Culley's dry goods store on Saturday evening, was brought over from Omaha yesterday arternoon by Officer Fowler and lodged in the y jail. He was confined in the Omaha jail day Sunday, and consented to come across the river without the formality of a requisi-tion upon the promise that he should have a nice upstairs parlor in the city jail until his case was disposed of by Judge Mc-Gee. He will be arraigned at the morning

Mrs. S. M. Williamson entertained a large number of her friends and acquaintances at her residence, 315 North Seventh street, in an agreeable manner last evening. A large night blooming cereus opened its fragrant petals in the presence of a large company. There were four full blown blossoms that bursted into bloom almost simultaneously and spread their fragrance over the entire neighborhood. The plant is very thrifty and has a large number of buds on it that will be fully developed in a few days. The flowers were removed and placed in alcohol and given to the guests,

A party of Fremont, Neb., gentlemen, headed by F. W. Lange, chief of the fire department, C. L. Williams, police judge, Charlie May, R. A. Twist and Charles Johnson, were in the city Sunday to look over our pleasure resorts, and determine whether or not they possessed sufficient attractions to justify their annexation to Fremont for fre quent pienic and pleasure parties. They visited as many of the parks and resorts as they could during the day, and left in the evening highly pleased with the city and everything they saw. They came particularly for the purpose of selecting a place for the annual picnic of their fire department, and hastened home with the declaration that they hastened home with the declaration that they would endeavor to have the parks moved to Frement or a large portion of the people of Frement brought into the parks.

The fellow who stole Motorman Jacobson's watch and money from the billiard room at 134 Broadway yesterday is still at large, but the reporters learned last night who he is and all about him. His name is "Doc" Cooley and he is a restaurant waiter. For the past week and up to noon yesterday he was engaged at the Model chop house on Pearl street. He has been in the city a long time and has been living on Sixth street back of the opera house. He is a short fellow, clean shaved, short hair and about twenty-five years old. Another waiter named Perkins was with him yesterday afternoon and left the restaurant with him. When the police were looking for him on Upper Broadway the two fellows were sitting for an hour at the Broadway depot waiting for the train and talking about having won $15 in a game of poker at No. 134. They took the train for Omaha. Perkins is a tall, stim fellow with llow cheeks, light hair and blonde mus

THE OMAHA BEE NEWS ABOUT THE BLUFFS.

The Sudden Death of Mrs. O. M. Brown Causes Profound Sorrow.

CLAIMED HER ERRING DAUGHTER.

An Expressman Who Will Fight for His Rights-No More Checks at the Postoffice More About Leprosy.

The death of Mrs. O. M. Brown, which occurred at an early hour yesterday moraing, came as a startling announcement to the many friends and acquaintances in this city, Few knew even that she was ill and they did not look for so sad and sudden an ending, She has for some time been troubled with an affectation of the heart, though in good general health. A few weeks since in company with Mrs. George A. Keeline she visited friends in Dakota and spent some time at the Hot Springs. She felt improved by the trip and there was nothing to indicate that she was in any different state of health from isual until two or three days ago when she was taken ill. It proved to be a severe case of peritontitis, but she was apparently in a fair way to recover, when late Saturday afternoon heart fallure began to be apparent and in a few hours death came. The shock to her friends is a terrible one, for it seemed but a tay since she was moving about in her accus tomed circles, netive, warm-heartes, helping in every good work.

Mrs. Brown was the eldest of three daughters of Judge and Mrs. G. A. Rohinson. She was born in La Salle, Ill., May 6, 1850. While but a babe her family moved to this city and iere she has resided ever since. Twenty-one years ago, on her birthday anniversary, she was married to Captain O. M. Brown, and no cappier union was ever consummated. Their devotion to each other was marked and the severence of the tie is so sudden and so severe as to call forth the tenderest expressions of sympathy for the stricken husband.

The sorrow felt throughout many circles in this city is not a more passing one. Mrs. Brown was more than a leader or a favorite n social circles. Her heart was in sympathy with all who were in suffering or distress. In all works of charity—she was carnest and active, yet not ostentations. At the risk of in-trusion upon details which are rightly pri-vate, it may be instanced that picking up the morning paper her attention was called to the fact that a family in a certain part of the city was in sore distress. While others were thinking how and when relief could be sa-cured, Mrs. Brown was out and about the work, and in an nour or so she could have been seen approaching the desolate home with great bundles of supplies in her carriage. Two years ago she joined a band of noble women who are engaged in charitable work, and within that time she has contributed, as the result of her own exertions and unselfish ingenuity, over $400, besides doing much towards securing aid from others for the same cause. Such are but instances of the daily life of this noble one, whose death comes as a less to many outside of her own home. She was an active, devoted member of St. Paul's church, and in all the work of that orranization she showed the same carnestness and self-forgetfulness.

The arrangements for the funeral will not be completed and announced until communication is had with friends in the east.

Claimed H r Erring Daughter. One Saturday afternoon about three weeks go the patrol wagen was called to the corner of Broadway and Pearl streets to convey two young girls to jail. They were arrested by an officer for prostitution and street walking, after having been repeatedly warned to keep off the streets and especially out of Bayliss park. Neither of them was over eighteen years old and both had some traces of modesty left and were terribly humiliated when the patrol picked them up in the middle of the afternoon on one of the most crowded street corners in the city. At the city jail ney gave the names of Cora Patterson Flora McGimpsey, and claimed to be from Walnut, Ia. They were kept in the upper rooms of the jail for several days and an fort made by the police to find their parents It was found that the McGimpsy girl had told the truth and was from Wainut, but the other had not. McGimpsy's brothers came to the city and took her home, and the other girl was discharged after promising that she would leave the city and lead a better life. She dropped out of sight for a few days and hen returned to the city. A second warning from the police department that she would be sent to the reform school if she remained in

er to leave entirely, or successfully avoid Yesterday a woman who gave the name of Yesteruay a woman who gave the name of Mrs. Peterson, from Clinton, Ia., came to the police headquarters and made inquiries about her daughter Clara, aged seventeen. She had seen a copy of The Brz giving an ac-count of the arrest of the Patterson and Mc-Gimpsy girls, and feared that Cora was her daughter. She said the girl had left home in the early part of the summer to visit friends and when she left there she did not return home, and all the letters her nother wrote efficited no response. She de-scribed her erring daughter, and Chief Carey at once recognized her as the girl, Cora Peter-son. Mrs. Peterson was asked to remain at the station for a few mements, and a special officer was detailed to hunt the giri if she was in the city. The first place visited was Belle Clover's on Broadway, and the girl was found Clover's on Broadwhy, and the girl was found there. She was taken into custody and brought to the station. The mother was almost heart-broken when she met her daughter and learned where she had been found. The girl was very willing to return home, and wanted her mother to go to the house of prostitution with her and help her get her trunk and clothing, but this was forbidden by Chief Carey. Both mother and daughter were kept at the station, while an officer was sent to the house after the trunk. Record Will Protect fils Rights. The case of Harry Beecroft, the expressnan who was arrested on Friday afternoon and again on Saturday morning for alleged violation of the new ordinance prohibiting the standing of express wagons on Broadway and intersecting streets, is likely to result in some extensive litigation. Beecroft's office is located on Broadway and he assumed the right of hitching one of his teams in front of his place of business, a right that is not denied any other citizen or business man. But the police placed a very wide construction upon the ordinance, and assumed the hitch ing of the team there was a violation for the reason that the vehicle was a licensed wagon. and the two arrests followed Mr. Beccroft's determination to enjoy the privileges that are accorded other business men. The case was called in the police court at the session last evening, but was continued on account of Mr. Beecroft having a very sick child.

Mr. Beecroft has employed counsel and is determined to protect his rights. He threatens to take the matter to the supreme court if he is defeated in the lower court He says he has lived in Council Bluffs thirty years and has never been arrested for any offense against any of the taws that are designed for the observance of all.

No Checks for M ney Orders.

A notice has been posted at the window of the money order department of the postoffice, calling attention to the law forbidding the postmaster or his clerks from creceiving checks, drafts or notes for money orders. The government is very strict about this matter, and does not allow the postoffice to do angthing but cash business in its line. "I found there were too many folks who had no idea that there was any such law," remarked George Phelps. "A man will rush in after banking hours, buy a money order, and then offer his check. How am I to know whether the check is good or not! If it snould prove to be of no account I would have to take the money out of my own pocket. Suppose that I knew the man to be all right and the check was as good as gold and should take it instead of cash, the next man that wanted to pay with a check might be doubtful, or I might not be well enough acquainted with him to take the chances. refuses to take his check he would feel in sulped and go off mad. The law is all right and it puts everybody on a common basis, but even with this law, which fixes a heavy pen-alty for necepting a check, there is much trouble. A business man offered his check the other day for a money order and he was so mad because I wouldn't take it he went and complained to the postmister about me. So we've posted up the law that all may see for themselves that we can't do it.

More About Leprosy. To the Editor of The Bas: Being a reader of Tim Bur, and also a disciple of the healing art, I was naturally interested in the history of the case of leprosy narrated in the Sunday issue, in which we are assured it was a genuine case of leprosy. Now, reasoning from the most marked symptoms given of the case, we think it entirely too scaly. The fact of there having been able to gather up the "half a dust pan full of scales" from the bed in the morning would strongly suggest to us another well-known cutaneous disease. and not leprosy. Now we have three recognized forms of lepresy, muscular, tubercious and anæsthetie. In none of these forms is there anything like the amount of scaling as spoken of above, but in popular eczema in the stage of exfoliation such a scaling might really occur. In this form eruptions on the face are not common, which appear to have been absent in the above case. The doctor's arsenical treatment in the last named disease would be much more effective and appropri-ate than in leprosy, it being one of the old tried remedies used in cutaneous diseases long before the name of Hahnemann appeared n medical literature. The duration of leprosy is from five to fifteen years. The prognosis is without doubt very unfavorable. few authentic cases appear to have been cured, a great many have been benefited, but by far the largest number of cases prove fatal. There is no recognized specific for lep-

The Flowers in the Park. When the new fountain was started in Bayliss park the idea was conceived that it yould be pleasant to have the urns at its base filled with flowers and plants. The predicion was made that it would be a useless expenditure of time and money, for the flowers would be plucked and the plants torn to pieces by the unappreciative public. The experiment was tried, however, and it is a great success, There has been hardly a flower disturbed, and the urns are as beautiful as when first filled. The public has proved itself capable of having flowers, Two or three little urchias were noticed the other day commenting upon the beauty of the plants and flowers and preparing to make a botanical investigation. One of them had already pulled off two or three leaves when Park Commissioner Graham came along. In ad, big-hearted Scotch way he the lad if he had any idea whose plants those

The lad opened his eyes with a wondering stare.

"Yes, they're yours. They belong to everybody, and they are just as much yours as they are Mr. Pusey's, Mr. Officer's or anybody else. Now, if you had flowers and plants at home would you be pulling off the leaves and spoiling them?"

"Of course I wouldn't."

"Well, those flowers here and the plants belong to you as much as to anybody, and you oughtn't to be spoiling them. You ougut to watch them and keep anybody from hurt-I never thought of it that way. You bet you I won't let anybody bother with them, I didn't know they were part mine, and that we all owned them. So they belong to us,

A Preacher on Parks. There was some little talk yesterday growing out of street reports as to utterances made by Rev. Mr. Franklin in his Sunday morning sermon regarding parks. The impression was received by some that the reverend gentleman attempted to score the park commissioners and others for the practice of frequenting the parks on Sundays. Mr Franklin denies that there was any such scoring given. He was endeavoring to show in his sermon that man's outward walk and conversation should conform with his professions of Christianity. He alluded incidentally to the indications of a constant attempt to draw men away from a proper observance of the Sabbath, the tinkling of the car belis, the strains of so-called sacred concerts, the throngs rushing to Manawa and the parks, etc., were all cited as incidental evidences of the tendency of the times. When asked about the matter yesterday Mr. Franklin remarked that while he be lieved there was altogether too much laxity in regard to Sunday observance, yet he did not want to be fanatical on the subject. He had not been preaching against the parks, or claiming that it was sinful to go to them, but he did not believe in having the motor company hire a band to put in the park in order to draw the people there in crowds, and thus make money for their own pockets.

It was this attempt to gather up the people n crowds by offering amusements and sports for the purpose of money-making, which he did not believe in. "Why, when a concert is given on Sunday they call it a sacred con-cert," he said. "They call everything that is for Sunday sacred. A short time ago they advertise i a sacred dog fight for one Sunday in South Omaha."

An Enterprising Thief.

Yesterday afternoon while Motorman James Jacobson and some companions were playing billiards at 134 Broadway asneak thief came in and appropriated the contents of Jacobson's vest, which was hanging on a chair near the table where they were playing. The vest contained a silver watch and $15 in cash. As he went out the rear door he picked up a valisa belonging to Heary Hanson containing some clothes and other property.

The articles were missed in a few moments after they were stolen and an officer called. Patroiman Noyes answered the call and was put on the track of the thiof. In the weeds

the rear of the building he found the A warrant was issued for the fellow and all patrolmen were given a description of but up to a late hour he had not been captured

Cut With a Razor.

The regular Sunday night fight at Big lake

resulted in the slashing of a colored man named J. B. Patterson by another darkey, whose name was not known to any of the people who were there. The cutting was done with a razor during a fight between the two men. All that is known of the affray was learned from the friends of Patterson, who said he came down from the lake about midnight and got to his room en Lower Broadway nearly exhausted from loss of blood and bleeding furiously from a wound six inches long in his left side, and told them that it was done by "another nigger." When asked who he was and if he got away, Patterson re-plied, "Not much. I give him mosh as he give me, and you'll find him, I guess, up there in the brush, a dead nigger, sure."

Patterson's wound is similar, but not so severe as that inflicted upon Albert Smith not long ago at the same place and by the same means. His clothing protected him some and the raisor struck the lower rib on the loft side, which alone perhaps prevented disembowelment. The police have made no investigations. Big lake is beginning to have a bad name, and is used almost exclusively on Sunday for "coon" picuics. Beer and whisky are sold at places just outside of the city limits and of course beyond the jurisdiction of the police, and the places are per-mitted to be run and frequented by a very mitted to be run and frequente rough and dangeroues element.

James Rainbow of Silver Creek township was in the city vesterday. He has been at work most enthusiastically securing contributions of grains and other products for the exhibit to be given here in connection with the meeting of the farmers' national congress next month. The energy shown by him, and the interest he manifests, is winning success. It is instanced as an example for the city folks who are apparently so indifferent about the matter. Council Bluffs can not afford to allow its friends in the country footido them in the preparations for the reception and entertainment of these distinguished guests who will come from almost every state in the union. There should be a large sum of money raised here without difficulty to enable committee to properly arrange this display, and to provide the other necessaries to show off this city and county at the best.

With the probabilities of the usual delays in all contracts it does not seem very likely that the building will be done even by that time. The work cannot be commenced until the con-tract is signed, and if there is delay about this on the very start, the question arises when will the children of that neighborhood be accommodated with the desired school?

The family of Dr. Koutz, the well known capitalist, has for nearly two weeks been mystified over the disappearance of the comely girl named Mary Sterling who had been working for them as a domestic. About fourteen days ago Mrs. Koutz gave the girl 25 cents with which to buy some groceries. The girl went up stairs to put on her hat and was heard afterwards coming down the steps. That was the last seen or heard of her. As she did not return Mrs. Koutz went up to the girl's room and found everything in con-fusion, her clothing being scattered about and her money-some $70-gone. On the front door step was found the piece of money. The

The Platform.

The republicans of Nebraska referate and condtally endorse the fundamental principles of the republican party, as enunciated by a succession of national republican conventions from 18% to isss, and we believe the repul-Hean party capable of dealing withevery vital issue that concerns the American people, whenever the rank and file of the republican party are entranneled in the exercise of their political rights.

We most beautily endorse the action of the republican concress in passing the disability pension bill and the republican president who approved the same; and regard it as an act of justice too long delayed, because of the opposition to all just pension legislation by a democratic president and a democratic congress; yet we do not regard it as the full recognition of the great debt of obligation which the government and the people we to those hereic men by reason of whose sarrifaces and devotion the union was saved and the government restored.

we hold an honest popular ballet and a just and equal representation of all the people to be the foundation of our republican government, and demand effective legislation to secure integrity and purity of elections, which are the foundation of all public authority. We favor such a revision of the election laws of the state as will guarantee to every votor the greatest possible secrecy in the conlaws of the state as will guarantee to every voter the greatest possible secrecy in the easting of his ballot, and secret he punishment of any who may attempt the cerruption or intimidation of voters; and we favor the Australian ballot system for all incorporated towns and cities, applicable both to primary and regular elections, so far as it conforms to our organiciaw.

We oppose land monopoly is every form, demand the forfeiture of uncarmed land grants and the reservation of the public domain for homesteaders only.

We recognize the right of labor to organize for its protection, and by all lawful means to secure to itself the greatest reward for its trift and industry.

The Argentine Republic Revolt. LONDON, July 27 .- A dispatch to the Time from Buenos Ayres regarding yesterday's revolt says the first steps at overthrowing the government was taken by the artillery joined by some civilians. Part of the infantry afterwards joined them and the firing became heavy. In the afternoon the revolutionary government issued a decree ordering the mobilization of the national guard. Late in the afternoon attacks were made by government troops on the citizens' battalions, but the troops were repulsed, Many policemen, artillerymen and citizens are dead. The minister of war is reported killed. (Here the cable dispatch to the
