A Go-Between's Offer to Enable a Paver to Violate the Specifications.

AND AVOID ALL RESPONSIBILITY.

The Bold Charge of Mr. C. E. Squires Before the Eoard of Public Works-Who Is the Recreant Officer?

At the meeting of the board of public works yesterday afternoon C. E. Squires, agent of the Barber Asphalt company, said hethought he had been ill-treated by the board, and in Lietter to the chairman asked that the members of that body, the secretary, the city engineer and a short-hand reporter be admitted, and that all members of the press and others be excluded.

Major Furay stated that the board was not a star-chamber body and he did not think the meeting should be executive. Mr. Squires said he could make some statements that should not be given to the public. "I want to tell you that some men have been imposed upon, and I do not think it is anything in which the public can be inter-

"I have been imposed upon in the most

Hammable manner and by the - rascal in existence, but I do not want to do anything to disgrace his family, which I would do if I gave my information to the public.
"There is an opinion," said City Engineer "that when a man becomes a ow, if there is anything I in in favor of meeting informally, hear the charges, and if they e of a serious notion, giving them to the public: but, if not, it is nothing in which the public is interested." "Now," said Major Furay, "I hate to ex-plude the press, but to get at this I guess we will have to do so." u don't ewe the press any apology," the building.

Mr. Squires rose and addressed the board, which the eyes of every member of which were east upon the floor. Each mem-ber seemed to feel that a startling announcement was to be made, and it was some minutes before their features met the gaze of the accuser. Squires' voice trembled at the outset, his face was pale, but he retained his composure throughout the ordeal and unfolded his charges with directness and force. He said that as the agent of the had force. He said that as the agent of the Barber asphaltum paving company he had been approached by a contempt-lible secundrel who, at the same time, was at the head of a family of respect-ability, the good name of which he desired to protect. This individual, he said, had told him that he was in the confidence and had a

In fact, continued Mr. Squires, this go-between promised that almost every specification laid down by the board of public works for the laying of asphaltum pavement might be disregarded, and the who was placed over the job as in would see that nobody was made the wiser of the transaction.

Mr. Squires here paused, and nearly all the members of the board looked up, some of them with amazement depicted on their coun-

Mr. Squires, continued, saying that the man had told him that by vio-lating the specifications he could in addition to his regular profits add $60,000 more, which was a goodly sum to make out of nothing, and that all he (the go-between) wanted was one-half of the illegal Profits, or $30,000! Some of the members of the board opened their eyes and others their mouths, and others still refrained from opening anything. "Do you want to know the name of the man who made this proposition to me!" asked Mr. Squires.

Mr. Kierstead shouted cut, "To be sure we do. I insist upon knowing it. His proposition, as it now appears, may affect any one of us. I am not willing it should refer to me." Major Furay jumped up and vehemently cried:

"Most certainly we want to know who this man is, and we insist upon knowing it. 19
Mr. Birkhauser was asked for his opinion on the subject, and said that he did not think he name of the party should be divulged. Just at that moment one of the hangers-on approached where the reporter stood, was observed by one of the members of the board, who immediately closed the window and cut off the sounds of the speaker's voice. Whether the name was afterwards announced or not can not be told.

The board will meet next Monday night, when the matter will again be brought up. "I can now see," said a bystander later the exceeding justice of THE BEE's exposur of the ring which dominates the council.
Why should these charges be kept private And yet, who can investigate them? The council! Isn't it possible that Squires' affect a creature of their o, will they find him guilty? I am opposed to this star chamber business, and I think The Bee and the board of public works, the latter for their own good name, should insist on publishing everything that has transpired behind their door."

They Threaten an Attorney Who Stirring Up the Animals There. For several weeks, as reported exclusively in Friday's BEE, the peaceable citizens of the suburb of Florence have been disturbed by open saloons and the contingent crowd of loafers that gathered about them. The disturbance became so marked that it was found necessary by those who desired the usual Sunday quiet to employ an attorney to take such measures as he should see fit to enforce the law. The attorney went there and found the mayor, the corporation attorney and one councilman in collusion. To obtain a warrant he found it necessary to procure a writ of mandamus from Judge Wakeley of the district court.

The warrant was against an alderman. After procuring the mandamus the attor-ncy found that his complaining witness had been intimidated by the official charged. The attoracy thereupon found other witnesses against the accused and others, and the case In the meantine, however, many citizens had been incensed by the national

The Corn and Wheat Rates. A Burlington official said yesterday that the reason corn and wheat rates were reduced | the lake, A band was in attendance. At from Kansas City, Leavenworth, Atchison and St Joseph to Chicago, and not from Omaha, is because the Alton road insisted on it down there. As Omaha is outside the Alton's territory and no other road demands anything of the sort here, it is not deemed advisable to disturb rates at this point. The same gentleman declared also that the Chicage-Missouri river and Trans-Missouri reads would not adopt the intersate commerce com-mission's order for a reduction in the wheat and corn rates to 20 and 17 cents, respectively,

The World-Herald attempted to report the Hastings congressional convention Wednes day. Its Thursday edition which reaches Hastings and points west did not contain ine of report of the convention which name ated Harlan for congress. The Beg, in its first edition, which went broadcast over the state, contained a full and complete report of that convention. Recent scoop One. Wednesday noon last warrants were sworn out for three alleged councilmanic boodlers of South Omaha. The Ber of that evening published AN EXCLUSIVE and complete report of the crocked transactions, while the World-Herald had not heard of them. That was recent scoop Two.

Friday Tus Bin simply mopped the of the order. The banquet was an cattreity informal affair and was given just previous to his departure for home in the evening. An interesting feature of the occasion was the music by the Fort Omaha band.

Those present were A. D. Jones, George M. With the wife and daughter Jennie, left Thursday in the conflagration, entailing a loss of nearly $200,000, occurred on the southern outskir's Thursday night. Friday evening this paper present were A. D. Jones, George M. Estella Kingman of Calcago as her guests Wright, E. E. France, A. B. Denn, W. L. and the succession of the succession the seriely World-Herald learned of it first by reading our report. Recent scoop Three, - Friday The Bee published the biggest piece of news ever secured from the county offices, in reference to unpuid balances of county officials. It made the sensation of the day. Yet the World-Herald had not a worl, and learned of it first through THE BEE. Recent scoop Four.

Then take Tur Ber of yesterday morning. Then take The Bee of yesterday morning, Readers found in its report of the diamond robbery at the residence of Mayor Cushing. The World-Herald last evening copied our report and rehashed it for its gullible readers. Recent scoop Five.
