

THE CITY.

The bank clearings yesterday amounted to $56,132.00.

M. J. Freeman has filed a complaint against R. W. Tompkins for defrauding a landlord.

The eleventh street motor trains are running south only as far as Martha street because of the sewer which is being laid on the former street.

Five car loads of tin plate from England were received at the custom house for the Armour-Cudahy company, Lee, Clark-Andersen, and Rector, Wilhelmly & Co.

In the county court yesterday in the case of the Union Stock Yards bank vs August F. Basche, judgment was rendered in favor of the plaintiff for the sum of $1,000 and costs.

The board of education will open bids Monday night for the erection of three one-story buildings of two rooms each, which will be located on the Saratoga, Hickory and Central park sites.

A brilliant flash of lightning about 6:30 a. m. struck a motor car on Twentieth street near Bristol and burned out the dynamo. Persons who saw the accident say the flash extended two feet from the car.

Low Hill is confined to his room by a severe sprain of the muscles of the back sustained by indulging in a game of tennis. The patient declined to be moved for a few days, but is now pronounced to be recovering rapidly.

The cavalry horses used by the soldiers at the recent rifle contest held at the Bellevue range were sent to Fort Niobrara last night. They were sent out in charge of Sergeant Jeffries and Corporals Bedus and Ballard.

At 3 o'clock yesterday morning burglars entered the front room of the residence of G. F. Nicholas, 1115 North Nineteenth street and stole his trousers, 1 1/2 watch and chain with a lock attached, $5 in money and a number of railroad passes.

A petition was circulated Monday, asking that two additional voting precincts be established in the Seventh ward. J. J. Mahoney is looking after the matter and will present his petition at the next session of the city council.

Robert Tompkins left Omaha Monday and proceeded to Papillon. There he represented himself as a DDE reporter and succeeded in getting a worthless check cashed on the credit of that institution. As a result, he was confined in the Omaha county jail yesterday for a thirty days sentence.

A great deal of Judge Hestley's time and patience was consumed yesterday afternoon in hearing the case of Alberta Duffron, charged with resisting an officer. It was argued that the woman assaulted Constable Casey when he attempted to serve a warrant, but the court decided in favor of the defendant.

Postoffice Robbed. Chief Clerk Creamer of the mail service received notice yesterday morning from the postmaster at Blue Springs that the postoffice at that place had been robbed of $150. A post-office inspector was sent from Omaha to investigate the robbery.

Pharmacist Examiners. The examining committee of the state board of pharmacy will meet at the Millard hotel today for the examination of applicants for registration as pharmacists.

The board consists of Henry Cook, of Red Cloud; Max Becht, Omaha; Henry D. Boyden, Grand Island; James Reed, Nebraska City; L. E. Riggs, Lincoln.

Van Houten's Cocoa—Delicious, made in Italy.

The Fraught Contributions.

T. M. Shallenbarger, treasurer of the Bradshaw relief fund, has made public his report of the donations received by the committee to August 1, 1890. The total is $9,497. This does not include the amounts received by the Bradshaw relief committee at York, of which N. M. Ferguson is treasurer. The report of the latter will be made public in a few days.

Marriage Licenses.

Judge Shields issued the following marriage licenses yesterday: James K. Williams, Omaha, 25; John Ramussen, Omaha, 25; John S. McGee, Omaha, 24; Marie Miller, Omaha, 19; Vincent Marzetti, Omaha, 23; Mary Hase, Omaha, 21; Guy W. Goodrich, Omaha, 22; Sophia H. Carlson, Omaha, 22.

His Experience in Texas.

William Hutchinson of Benton, Mo., while dealing in cattle and horses in Texas last September, was taken with a very severe attack of cholera morbus and diarrhoea, continuing for several days. A local druggist advised him to take Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea cure. The second dose relieved the pain, and he was able to take plain water. He is now taking Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea cure, and he now takes pleasure in recommending it to others. For sale at 25 and 30 cents per bottle by druggists.

To Become a Jesuit.

Mr. William Doran, son of Mrs. P. H. Caroy, left yesterday for Florissant, Mo., where he will enter the novitiate with a view of becoming a member of the religious order of Jesuits. Mr. Doran is an Omaha young gentleman. He was a student of Creighton college almost from the time the institution was opened until a few years ago when he entered the Jesuit college at St. Mary's, Kan. In company with several other Omaha boys, notably the sons of Major J. B. Furry, Mr. Doran graduated at the close of the last scholastic year, since which time he has spent several months abroad. He is a highly educated young man and will become a useful member of his chosen order.

He will be accompanied by his father to the novitiate.

The Rev. Wm. Stout, Wheaton, Ont., states: After being inefficiently treated by seven different doctors for several years, I was cured by Burdock Blood Bitters. Write for proof.

Funeral of Mrs. Grebe.

The funeral of Mrs. Henry Grebe, sr., which was held from the family residence yesterday afternoon was largely attended by the old settlers of Omaha and Florence, and the numerous friends of the deceased.

The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Kuhns of the New Lutheran Evangelical Lutheran church, of which the deceased had been a member.

The rich black casket was imbedded in cut flowers, sent in by friends who had known the deceased for many years.

The remains were interred in Prospect Hill cemetery, and being followed by a procession of nearly fifty carriers, were committed to the earth.

The pall bearers were Charles Karbach, Henry Ball, Henry Lehmann, Joseph Karbach, W. F. Lorenzen, C. Schmitt, F. Klefner.

Everything Goes Wrong. In the bodily mechanism when the liver gets out of order, indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation of the bowels, impure assimilation are certain to ensue. But it is easy to prevent these consequences, and remove their cause, by a course of Burdock Blood Bitters, which stimulates the biliary organs and regulates its action. The direct result is a disappearance of the pains beneath the ribs and through the chest, sweetest sleep, yellowing of the tongue, and sour odor of the breath, which characterize liver complaint. Sound digestion and a regular habit of bowels are blessings also secured by the use of this celebrated restorative of health, which is its best guarantee of safety from malarial epidemics. Nerve weakness, chronic constipation, are relieved by it, and it improves both appetite and sleep.

THE DEAD LIST.

J. H. O'Reilly, One of the Most Gifted of Irish-Americans.

The announcement of the death of John Boyle O'Reilly, the editor of the Boston Pilot and one of the most gifted and popular Irish-Americans in the country, shocked his friends in this city as it did throughout the world.

Mr. O'Reilly had never visited Omaha, but he had been met by many of our leading citizens and was known by many more through his books and the beautiful poems which frequently found their way into the local press.

The cause of death, whether heart failure or an overdose of alcohol, will probably never be discovered. Together with his family Mr. O'Reilly had been spending the summer at Hull, near Boston, Sunday night Mrs. O'Reilly was ill and Dr. Latham was called to attend her.

At 2 o'clock in the morning the doctor was called a second time by Mr. O'Reilly who informed him that part of the medicine prescribed at the first call had been spilled. Another dose was given and, as Mr. O'Reilly left the house, he complained of being fatigued and, if Mrs. O'Reilly should fall asleep, he would take something himself to see if he could not get some hours' sleep. At 4 o'clock Mrs. O'Reilly, who had been aroused, missed her husband and found him down stairs in an unconscious condition. The doctor called at 6 o'clock, although she had taken little or no food, it was almost empty. It is supposed that Mr. O'Reilly drank some of the medicine which produced death.

Mr. O'Reilly was born at Downpatrick, County Meath, Ireland. His father, William O'Reilly, was a distinguished mathematician and scholar and was for thirty years master of the Nottingham Institution, Downpatrick, a British charitable institution, which was founded in 1792. He was a man of fine literary attainments. The son exhibited the talents of these parents, and the passionate patriotism of his mother found an echo in many of his verses, while her memory has been perpetuated by some of the sweetest poems that have come from his O'Reilly's pen. She died while he was in prison.

It was in this way young O'Reilly found himself imprisoned on the charge of treason against the British government. In 1860, when the revolutionary movement began in Ireland he was compositor on a leading English newspaper. In May of that year he returned to Ireland and was confined in the Tower of London. He was later removed to the South Prison of Wales. O'Reilly, who had a crack cavalry regiment of the army, his intention being to spread republican principles among the soldiers and his own men, he was arrested and held in prison for several months. He did his work so thoroughly that at the end of five years he was arrested for high treason, the government having discovered the insurrectionary movement by informers. His trial began on the 27th of June, 1868, and he was found guilty on five capital charges. He was sentenced to imprisonment for life, which sentence was afterwards commuted to twenty years penal servitude. The remainder of the year 1868, and the greater part of the next year, he spent in various convict prisons in England, working in chain gangs.

The man is mainly infatuated with the woman and for a time she was in love with him, the neighbors say, and their conduct scandalized that portion of the city.

A Notable Report. "For disordered menstruation, anaemia and sterility, it may properly be termed a specific." Extract from Dr. W. P. Mason's report on his waters of Excelsior Springs, Missouri.

THE INSTITUTE.

A List of the Visiting Teachers in Attendance Upon It. The Douglas county teachers' institute has entered upon its routine work and a regular program has been arranged. In the morning there will be classes in arithmetic, physiology and hygiene, civil government and history, and in the afternoon lessons in drawing, grammar, bookkeeping, penmanship and dictation.

The corps of teachers comprises Prof. Long, who is principal of the high school, Kansas City, who will have charge of the classes in arithmetic, grammar, civil government and dictation; Miss Riley of Lincoln will give instruction in physiology, history and drawing, and Prof. Rohrbaugh will have classes in penmanship and bookkeeping. County Superintendent Matthews has general supervision.

A few of those in attendance are from places outside of the county and there are twenty-two teachers from high school and the various commercial colleges. Sessions will be held daily during this week and next week from 8:30 a. m. until noon and from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m.

The following are those in attendance: Kate A. Gardner, Kate McDan, Mary Longman, Jessie King, Manlio Weasa, Bertha, Neider Johnson, Margaret Pollard, Mrs. W. C. Allen, Annie E. Leach, Marie E. Bruner, Minnie M. Swartzlander, Bertina L. Merman, Mrs. Minnie Hill, Cora E. Stewart, Harriet Brewster, Josie Richards, Laura G. Craighead, Nora A. Cox, Louise McMonies, Jennette McKay, Mary J. Dutton, Carrie Currie, Jensen, Mary D. Knight, Helen Pierce, L. W. Hind, Mary Van Scoy, Emma Nicholson, Lucy M. Weir, Mrs. Jennie Walker, Mrs. A. M. Thomas, Jennie Noyes, Marion B. Noyes, Pearl Ayres, Ed Pollard, Webb L. Bronson, Buchanan, George M. Mellins, Editha, Redwell, T. E. Dubois, F. Compton, C. S. Lowe, Fred Robinson, C. H. Koonz, A. E. Charles, James H. Giffard, J. W. Allen, S. C. Adams, Giffard, A. L. Reice, J. C. Ray, H. J. Hess.

Returning to Boston Mr. O'Reilly soon glowing with romantic enthusiasm and writing with realistic fire called the attention of the literary world to this young author. He became a contributor to the Galaxy, Scribner, the Atlantic Monthly and Harper's, and frank, earnest personality secured the friendship of Wendell Phillips, John G. Whittier, James Russell Lowell and other standard Americans.

His countrymen have seemed to put more faith in him than in any one else, not alone for his poetry, but for his usefulness and generous consideration for the interests of others.

Mr. O'Reilly was one of the founders and was president of the Paprus club, besides being a member of the St. Botolph, the Charles Table and other literary organizations. In 1878 he married Miss Mary Murphy of Portland, Me., of whom he wrote in the dedication of his "Songs, Legends and Ballads": "Her rare and loving judgment has been a standard I have tried to reach."

His first book was dedicated to the captain who rescued him from Australia, but the volume came too late to meet the eyes of the kind-hearted old Yankee shipper. The news of his death in August reached Boston the very week the book was issued. Mr. O'Reilly's third volume was dedicated to his mother and his fourth to his four daughters.

It is thought that a memorial meeting will be held by the Irish citizens of Omaha to do honor to the memory of the deceased poet and patriot.

Chapter 1: Weak, tired, no appetite. Chapter 2: Took Hood's Sarsaparilla. Chapter 3: Strong, cheerful, hungry.

The Haberg Inquest. The inquest at Burdick's undertaking rooms over the remains of Peter Haberg, the carpenter who committed suicide by hanging, developed the following: Haberg had boarded at various times with Peter Peterson and Andrew Langan and these with John Nelson were the only witnesses. Haberg had made confidants of them and told them that when he lived in Sweden he had fallen in love with a girl and had been engaged to a girl to whom his mother had some objection. They were separated and he came to this country. The girl lived in Sweden but in correspondence with him put refused to come although he had sent her money to do so.

Haberg was industrious and had acquired considerable property. He owned a farm near Creston, Ia., from which he received an annual rental of $300. He also owned lot 4, block E, Prospect Place, which he had traded for a farm near Rock, Ia., from which he received $240 per year in rent. He also owned a lot in Little Rock, Ia., from which he received $1,400 from his mother's estate in the year 1875, so that he was in comfortable circumstances.

Shortly before his death, he drew all his money from the bank, but no trace of it could be found. There was some talk about Haberg's gambling, but none of the witnesses could testify as to the truth of it and it is supposed that he had turned his possessions into cash and sent the money to his sweet-heart in Sweden, after which he took his life.

The dead man had no relatives in this country, but had a brother and sister living in the southern part of Sweden in a little hamlet called Irom.

Among his possessions was a Knights of the Shire sword, but one of the friends of the dead man said Haberg had told him that he bought the sword as an ornament.

The jury returned a verdict to the effect that the deceased had come to his death by his own hand by hanging himself while in a state of temporary insanity caused by disappointment in love. The body was buried immediately after being discovered.

Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills. An important discovery. They act on the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. They speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles and constipation. Spleen for men, women and children. Smallest, mildest, sweetest. 30 doses for 25 cents. Samples free at Kuhn & Co.'s 15th and Douglas.

HER TWO JOSEPHS. Joseph the Second Storms the Castle of Mrs. Joseph the First.

There was trouble Monday night around the classic products that surround the Cathedral public school. A man whose front name is Joseph and who travels for a hide firm, together with his wife and five children live immediately across the road from that institution. His wife is a comely woman and despite the fact of the growing family around her is yet young and full of life.

Joseph the second, a carpenter, lives with his wife and family two blocks away and his neighbors the two families became intimate. They had a good time together for the children and called upon each other frequently.

But the inevitable cloud no bigger than a man's hand appeared upon the horizon and grew larger and larger.

Joseph I. fell in love with lovely Mrs. Joseph I. He was very much in love, and the neighbors say that his affections were not entirely unrequited. To attend to his duties and maintain his family, Joseph I. was, and is, very busy. He has a home full of his time, and it is said that his carpenter and Mrs. Joseph I. made the most of his absence.

Of late, however, Mrs. Joseph I. has soured on Joseph I. and told him not to see her again. Monday night she and her eldest daughter came down town. When they got on the car Joseph was there and followed them throughout their shopping tour, but did not offer to speak to them. Soon after they reached home Joseph rapped on the door and demanded admittance. Mrs. Joseph told him that he could not come in, whereupon the carpenter knocked the door down and entered. Mrs. Joseph I. attempted to bar his entrance, and was struck for her pains. She then sent her eldest child to the residence of Officer Larson, who lives a few blocks from her, to summon that officer.

Officer Larson succeeded in quieting Mrs. Joseph, but before he declared that he would take Mrs. Joseph I. and would claim her as his wife.

The man is mainly infatuated with the woman and for a time she was in love with him, the neighbors say, and their conduct scandalized that portion of the city.

A Notable Report. "For disordered menstruation, anaemia and sterility, it may properly be termed a specific." Extract from Dr. W. P. Mason's report on his waters of Excelsior Springs, Missouri.

THE INSTITUTE.

A List of the Visiting Teachers in Attendance Upon It. The Douglas county teachers' institute has entered upon its routine work and a regular program has been arranged. In the morning there will be classes in arithmetic, physiology and hygiene, civil government and history, and in the afternoon lessons in drawing, grammar, bookkeeping, penmanship and dictation.

The corps of teachers comprises Prof. Long, who is principal of the high school, Kansas City, who will have charge of the classes in arithmetic, grammar, civil government and dictation; Miss Riley of Lincoln will give instruction in physiology, history and drawing, and Prof. Rohrbaugh will have classes in penmanship and bookkeeping. County Superintendent Matthews has general supervision.

A few of those in attendance are from places outside of the county and there are twenty-two teachers from high school and the various commercial colleges. Sessions will be held daily during this week and next week from 8:30 a. m. until noon and from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m.

The following are those in attendance: Kate A. Gardner, Kate McDan, Mary Longman, Jessie King, Manlio Weasa, Bertha, Neider Johnson, Margaret Pollard, Mrs. W. C. Allen, Annie E. Leach, Marie E. Bruner, Minnie M. Swartzlander, Bertina L. Merman, Mrs. Minnie Hill, Cora E. Stewart, Harriet Brewster, Josie Richards, Laura G. Craighead, Nora A. Cox, Louise McMonies, Jennette McKay, Mary J. Dutton, Carrie Currie, Jensen, Mary D. Knight, Helen Pierce, L. W. Hind, Mary Van Scoy, Emma Nicholson, Lucy M. Weir, Mrs. Jennie Walker, Mrs. A. M. Thomas, Jennie Noyes, Marion B. Noyes, Pearl Ayres, Ed Pollard, Webb L. Bronson, Buchanan, George M. Mellins, Editha, Redwell, T. E. Dubois, F. Compton, C. S. Lowe, Fred Robinson, C. H. Koonz, A. E. Charles, James H. Giffard, J. W. Allen, S. C. Adams, Giffard, A. L. Reice, J. C. Ray, H. J. Hess.

Returning to Boston Mr. O'Reilly soon glowing with romantic enthusiasm and writing with realistic fire called the attention of the literary world to this young author. He became a contributor to the Galaxy, Scribner, the Atlantic Monthly and Harper's, and frank, earnest personality secured the friendship of Wendell Phillips, John G. Whittier, James Russell Lowell and other standard Americans.

His countrymen have seemed to put more faith in him than in any one else, not alone for his poetry, but for his usefulness and generous consideration for the interests of others.

Mr. O'Reilly was one of the founders and was president of the Paprus club, besides being a member of the St. Botolph, the Charles Table and other literary organizations. In 1878 he married Miss Mary Murphy of Portland, Me., of whom he wrote in the dedication of his "Songs, Legends and Ballads": "Her rare and loving judgment has been a standard I have tried to reach."

His first book was dedicated to the captain who rescued him from Australia, but the volume came too late to meet the eyes of the kind-hearted old Yankee shipper. The news of his death in August reached Boston the very week the book was issued. Mr. O'Reilly's third volume was dedicated to his mother and his fourth to his four daughters.

It is thought that a memorial meeting will be held by the Irish citizens of Omaha to do honor to the memory of the deceased poet and patriot.

Chapter 1: Weak, tired, no appetite. Chapter 2: Took Hood's Sarsaparilla. Chapter 3: Strong, cheerful, hungry.

The Haberg Inquest. The inquest at Burdick's undertaking rooms over the remains of Peter Haberg, the carpenter who committed suicide by hanging, developed the following: Haberg had boarded at various times with Peter Peterson and Andrew Langan and these with John Nelson were the only witnesses. Haberg had made confidants of them and told them that when he lived in Sweden he had fallen in love with a girl and had been engaged to a girl to whom his mother had some objection. They were separated and he came to this country. The girl lived in Sweden but in correspondence with him put refused to come although he had sent her money to do so.

Haberg was industrious and had acquired considerable property. He owned a farm near Creston, Ia., from which he received an annual rental of $300. He also owned lot 4, block E, Prospect Place, which he had traded for a farm near Rock, Ia., from which he received $240 per year in rent. He also owned a lot in Little Rock, Ia., from which he received $1,400 from his mother's estate in the year 1875, so that he was in comfortable circumstances.

Shortly before his death, he drew all his money from the bank, but no trace of it could be found. There was some talk about Haberg's gambling, but none of the witnesses could testify as to the truth of it and it is supposed that he had turned his possessions into cash and sent the money to his sweet-heart in Sweden, after which he took his life.

The dead man had no relatives in this country, but had a brother and sister living in the southern part of Sweden in a little hamlet called Irom.

Among his possessions was a Knights of the Shire sword, but one of the friends of the dead man said Haberg had told him that he bought the sword as an ornament.

The jury returned a verdict to the effect

that the deceased had come to his death by his own hand by hanging himself while in a state of temporary insanity caused by disappointment in love. The body was buried immediately after being discovered.

Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills. An important discovery. They act on the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. They speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles and constipation. Spleen for men, women and children. Smallest, mildest, sweetest. 30 doses for 25 cents. Samples free at Kuhn & Co.'s 15th and Douglas.

HER TWO JOSEPHS. Joseph the Second Storms the Castle of Mrs. Joseph the First.

There was trouble Monday night around the classic products that surround the Cathedral public school. A man whose front name is Joseph and who travels for a hide firm, together with his wife and five children live immediately across the road from that institution. His wife is a comely woman and despite the fact of the growing family around her is yet young and full of life.

Joseph the second, a carpenter, lives with his wife and family two blocks away and his neighbors the two families became intimate. They had a good time together for the children and called upon each other frequently.

But the inevitable cloud no bigger than a man's hand appeared upon the horizon and grew larger and larger.

Joseph I. fell in love with lovely Mrs. Joseph I. He was very much in love, and the neighbors say that his affections were not entirely unrequited. To attend to his duties and maintain his family, Joseph I. was, and is, very busy. He has a home full of his time, and it is said that his carpenter and Mrs. Joseph I. made the most of his absence.

Of late, however, Mrs. Joseph I. has soured on Joseph I. and told him not to see her again. Monday night she and her eldest daughter came down town. When they got on the car Joseph was there and followed them throughout their shopping tour, but did not offer to speak to them. Soon after they reached home Joseph rapped on the door and demanded admittance. Mrs. Joseph told him that he could not come in, whereupon the carpenter knocked the door down and entered. Mrs. Joseph I. attempted to bar his entrance, and was struck for her pains. She then sent her eldest child to the residence of Officer Larson, who lives a few blocks from her, to summon that officer.

Officer Larson succeeded in quieting Mrs. Joseph, but before he declared that he would take Mrs. Joseph I. and would claim her as his wife.

The man is mainly infatuated with the woman and for a time she was in love with him, the neighbors say, and their conduct scandalized that portion of the city.

A Notable Report. "For disordered menstruation, anaemia and sterility, it may properly be termed a specific." Extract from Dr. W. P. Mason's report on his waters of Excelsior Springs, Missouri.

THE INSTITUTE.

A List of the Visiting Teachers in Attendance Upon It. The Douglas county teachers' institute has entered upon its routine work and a regular program has been arranged. In the morning there will be classes in arithmetic, physiology and hygiene, civil government and history, and in the afternoon lessons in drawing, grammar, bookkeeping, penmanship and dictation.

The corps of teachers comprises Prof. Long, who is principal of the high school, Kansas City, who will have charge of the classes in arithmetic, grammar, civil government and dictation; Miss Riley of Lincoln will give instruction in physiology, history and drawing, and Prof. Rohrbaugh will have classes in penmanship and bookkeeping. County Superintendent Matthews has general supervision.

A few of those in attendance are from places outside of the county and there are twenty-two teachers from high school and the various commercial colleges. Sessions will be held daily during this week and next week from 8:30 a. m. until noon and from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m.

The following are those in attendance: Kate A. Gardner, Kate McDan, Mary Longman, Jessie King, Manlio Weasa, Bertha, Neider Johnson, Margaret Pollard, Mrs. W. C. Allen, Annie E. Leach, Marie E. Bruner, Minnie M. Swartzlander, Bertina L. Merman, Mrs. Minnie Hill, Cora E. Stewart, Harriet Brewster, Josie Richards, Laura G. Craighead, Nora A. Cox, Louise McMonies, Jennette McKay, Mary J. Dutton, Carrie Currie, Jensen, Mary D. Knight, Helen Pierce, L. W. Hind, Mary Van Scoy, Emma Nicholson, Lucy M. Weir, Mrs. Jennie Walker, Mrs. A. M. Thomas, Jennie Noyes, Marion B. Noyes, Pearl Ayres, Ed Pollard, Webb L. Bronson, Buchanan, George M. Mellins, Editha, Redwell, T. E. Dubois, F. Compton, C. S. Lowe, Fred Robinson, C. H. Koonz, A. E. Charles, James H. Giffard, J. W. Allen, S. C. Adams, Giffard, A. L. Reice, J. C. Ray, H. J. Hess.

Returning to Boston Mr. O'Reilly soon glowing with romantic enthusiasm and writing with realistic fire called the attention of the literary world to this young author. He became a contributor to the Galaxy, Scribner, the Atlantic Monthly and Harper's, and frank, earnest personality secured the friendship of Wendell Phillips, John G. Whittier, James Russell Lowell and other standard Americans.

His countrymen have seemed to put more faith in him than in any one else, not alone for his poetry, but for his usefulness and generous consideration for the interests of others.

Mr. O'Reilly was one of the founders and was president of the Paprus club, besides being a member of the St. Botolph, the Charles Table and other literary organizations. In 1878 he married Miss Mary Murphy of Portland, Me., of whom he wrote in the dedication of his "Songs, Legends and Ballads": "Her rare and loving judgment has been a standard I have tried to reach."

His first book was dedicated to the captain who rescued him from Australia, but the volume came too late to meet the eyes of the kind-hearted old Yankee shipper. The news of his death in August reached Boston the very week the book was issued. Mr. O'Reilly's third volume was dedicated to his mother and his fourth to his four daughters.

It is thought that a memorial meeting will be held by the Irish citizens of Omaha to do honor to the memory of the deceased poet and patriot.

Chapter 1: Weak, tired, no appetite. Chapter 2: Took Hood's Sarsaparilla. Chapter 3: Strong, cheerful, hungry.

The Haberg Inquest. The inquest at Burdick's undertaking rooms over the remains of Peter Haberg, the carpenter who committed suicide by hanging, developed the following: Haberg had boarded at various times with Peter Peterson and Andrew Langan and these with John Nelson were the only witnesses. Haberg had made confidants of them and told them that when he lived in Sweden he had fallen in love with a girl and had been engaged to a girl to whom his mother had some objection. They were separated and he came to this country. The girl lived in Sweden but in correspondence with him put refused to come although he had sent her money to do so.

Haberg was industrious and had acquired considerable property. He owned a farm near Creston, Ia., from which he received an annual rental of $300. He also owned lot 4, block E, Prospect Place, which he had traded for a farm near Rock, Ia., from which he received $240 per year in rent. He also owned a lot in Little Rock, Ia., from which he received $1,400 from his mother's estate in the year 1875, so that he was in comfortable circumstances.

Shortly before his death, he drew all his money from the bank, but no trace of it could be found. There was some talk about Haberg's gambling, but none of the witnesses could testify as to the truth of it and it is supposed that he had turned his possessions into cash and sent the money to his sweet-heart in Sweden, after which he took his life.

The dead man had no relatives in this country, but had a brother and sister living in the southern part of Sweden in a little hamlet called Irom.

Among his possessions was a Knights of the Shire sword, but one of the friends of the dead man said Haberg had told him that he bought the sword as an ornament.

The jury returned a verdict to the effect

that the deceased had come to his death by his own hand by hanging himself while in a state of temporary insanity caused by disappointment in love. The body was buried immediately after being discovered.

Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills. An important discovery. They act on the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. They speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles and constipation. Spleen for men, women and children. Smallest, mildest, sweetest. 30 doses for 25 cents. Samples free at Kuhn & Co.'s 15th and Douglas.

HER TWO JOSEPHS. Joseph the Second Storms the Castle of Mrs. Joseph the First.

There was trouble Monday night around the classic products that surround the Cathedral public school. A man whose front name is Joseph and who travels for a hide firm, together with his wife and five children live immediately across the road from that institution. His wife is a comely woman and despite the fact of the growing family around her is yet young and full of life.

Joseph the second, a carpenter, lives with his wife and family two blocks away and his neighbors the two families became intimate. They had a good time together for the children and called upon each other frequently.

But the inevitable cloud no bigger than a man's hand appeared upon the horizon and grew larger and larger.

Joseph I. fell in love with lovely Mrs. Joseph I. He was very much in love, and the neighbors say that his affections were not entirely unrequited. To attend to his duties and maintain his family, Joseph I. was, and is, very busy. He has a home full of his time, and it is said that his carpenter and Mrs. Joseph I. made the most of his absence.

Of late, however, Mrs. Joseph I. has soured on Joseph I. and told him not to see her again. Monday night she and her eldest daughter came down town. When they got on the car Joseph was there and followed them throughout their shopping tour, but did not offer to speak to them. Soon after they reached home Joseph rapped on the door and demanded admittance. Mrs. Joseph told him that he could not come in, whereupon the carpenter knocked the door down and entered. Mrs. Joseph I. attempted to bar his entrance, and was struck for her pains. She then sent her eldest child to the residence of Officer Larson, who lives a few blocks from her, to summon that officer.

Officer Larson succeeded in quieting Mrs. Joseph, but before he declared that he would take Mrs. Joseph I. and would claim her as his wife.

The man is mainly infatuated with the woman and for a time she was in love with him, the neighbors say, and their conduct scandalized that portion of the city.

A Notable Report. "For disordered menstruation, anaemia and sterility, it may properly be termed a specific." Extract from Dr. W. P. Mason's report on his waters of Excelsior Springs, Missouri.

THE INSTITUTE.

A List of the Visiting Teachers in Attendance Upon It. The Douglas county teachers' institute has entered upon its routine work and a regular program has been arranged. In the morning there will be classes in arithmetic, physiology and hygiene, civil government and history, and in the afternoon lessons in drawing, grammar, bookkeeping, penmanship and dictation.

The corps of teachers comprises Prof. Long,