Sixteen-Year-Old Kittle Verjaal Meets With a Horrible Fate.

A CARNIVAL OF THIEVES AT LINCOLN.

Where She Kept Her Whisky Bottle -Supreme Court Docket-Pounded the Baggageman - Other Lincoln News.

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 18 .- | Special to THE BEE. |-Miss Kittle Verjaal, the sixteenyear-old daughter of John a Verjaal, a stone mason at Second and F streets, was terribly burned this morning and her death is hourly expected. The family has been accustomed to make quick fires in the kitchen stove of mornings by using as kindling dry chunks of clay soaked over night in kerosene. In applying the match to these this morning Kittle was too close to the stove, and when the combustible mass blazed up it set fire to her hair and clothes. In her fright, the girl ran into the yard and the wind fanned the flames into a perfet blaze that burned almost every stitch of clothing on body and seared her arms, face, breast, abdomen and lower limbs until the cooked flesh hung in shreds. Her agony was most excruciating and her cries heart-rending. Physicians were called and they enveloped her from head to foot in cotton soaked in oil. Narcotics were also given to make her unconscious of her pain, but the PICKPOCKETS SIMULATE DRUNKENNESS. Just as T. H. L. Lee, a grain dealer at Exeter, was getting on the B. & M. train last evening in company with a couple of other gentlemen, a group of pickpockets pretending to be drunk, jostled against them and when they managed to free themselves all three gentlemen found that their pockets had been picked. Mr. Lee's watch was taken, while small sums of money were abstracted from the pockets of both the other gentle men. When search was made for the light fingered gentry it was found that they had disappeared.

WHERE THE BOTTLE WAS FOUND. Mrs. Welten, who comes from the town Minnecoda, in the prohibition state of South Dakota, was arrested last night for being drunk and disorderly. She made the night air hideous with her curses and con-demnation of the Irish simply because the officers who took her into custody were born i the Emerald isle. On being taken to the po-lice station she kicked physically as well as figuratively and displayed a lump under the stocking on the right limb that was supposed at first to be either a tumor or case of phantiasis. It proved, however, to be a pint lask of whisky from which the woman had been drinking copiously,

POUNDED THE BAGGAGEMAN. M. J. Curtice of Albion was among the visitors at the fair yesterday. He is an alliance man and after listening to Dictator Burrows' teachings has become an inveterate hater of anything or anybody that represents a corporate monopoly. Last evening while at the depot he and the baggageman, J. D. Jones, passed some hard words and a fight ensued in which the alliance man managed to give the haughty representative of the railroad monopoly a terrible beating. Curtice was arrested and this morning was fined $19 and costs. teachings has become an inveterate hater of

PATRICK EGAN'S SUIT.

The attorneys for Patrick Egan, minister to Chili, have asked for a continuance of the suit brought against that distinguished gentleman by Bishop Bonacum to recover $500 subscribed for the St. Theressa church fund. The attorneys stated that the main reason Mr. Egan did not pay the subscription was because it was understood that in making such a contribution Mr. Egan was to be treated with respect and courtesy by the bishop, but such regard had not been maniup. It is claimed further that the bishop cannot sue, as the subscription was made to a building committee. A YOUNG LADY THIEF.

fare of Ninth street were astonished Thursday to see a pretty and genteel appearing young lady come dashing down the sidewalk and in pursuit of her a grocery clerk shout-ing, "Stop thief!" The young woman was Mary Russell of Geneva and she had just robbed the cash box of John Schuller, the grocer at 205 North Ninth street, while she supposed noboty was looking. She was seen committing the theft, however, and when Charles Miller, the clerk, approached her she darted out of the store and down the street. Miller cave chase and proved the better sprinter of the two as he captured her before she got a block away. She was taken to the police station and given a cell. She gave the assumed name of May Wilson to the officers and pretended that her occupation was that of a washerwoman. She had been in the city only an hour when she robbed the cash box, and the fact that she had only 5 cents in her pocketbook explains what prompted her to committhe theft. She secured only 85 from the cash box.

The girl took her arrest year, receilly but

The girl took her arrest very coolly, but when the great iron door closed on her she began to realize her situation and melted into tears. An hour later she was found in convulsions. In the morning she was ar-raigned, found guilty and fined $45 and costs. In default she went to the county jail.

WALKED OFF WITH THE VALISE. Ed Williams, a jewelry fakir, set down his grip full of glittering specimens of the jew-eler's art yesterday at the fair grounds while getting a check at the secretary's office, and while his back was turned some sneak thief picked it up and walked off with it.

SUPREME COURT BAR DOCKET. The bar docket of the supreme court for the September term is now out and shows 600 case for the judges of that tribunal to cudgel their brains with. The North American accident association of Chicago is the latest piratical insurance company that is alleged to be attempting to dobusiness in Nebraska without legal permission. Guy Dann of Taylor was selected at one of the marks, but he informed State In surance Commissioner Allan of the fact, and thereby the operations of the company have become exposed. Mr. Allan is after these fellows with a sharp stick. HEARD IN THE STATE ROUSE. It is reported on fairly good authority that there are to be some changes soon among the persons holding positions in the insane asylum at Hastings. The reasons for the changes have not yet been ascertained, but the exhaustion of the fund for the institution is not thought to have anything to do with it.

It is charged that the lady drivers in Lincoin are even more reckless than the men. The Empire at the State Fair in 1890. Prominent in power hall stood the Empire binder, the simplest piece of harvesting machinery on the grounds, and so acknowledged by all. The Sieberling knotter now used on the Empire attracted crowds, and the common expression of all was, how simple. No machine has ever come into Ne braska and won so many friends among farmers and dealers as the Empire squarely and entirely on its merits in the harvest field. Using less twine than any other machine to make a knot and being the ightest draft of any, with no competi-

Victorious Display of Students' Work at State Fair.

The only school in the state ever daring to make an exclusive exhibit of the penmanship of students is the Omaha Commercial college, owned by Rohr-bough Bros. The work was prepared by twelve students and excited the most favorable criticism. It was admired by thousands and reflected great credi upon both teachers and students. First premiums on penmanship were awarded as follows: Omaha Commercial college, seven; Lincoln Business college, six: Omaha Business college, one. This contest was between the students of one college with the professors of others. The decision speaks louder than words.
