An application was made in the superior court yesterday afternoon for the appointment of a receiver for the stock of goods, or the remainder of the stock, belonging to H. Friedman, the milliner. The petition is signed by C. Friedman, his wife. The hearing is set for September 20 at 10 o'clock.

An information was filed in the superior court yesterday afternoon charging the proprietor of a certain establishment outside the ylimits with selling and keeping for Intexleating liquors. A warrant for the arrest of the proprietor was issued, and he will be gathered in by Marshal Templeton today. Fireman Nicholson was fined $30.70 yester-day morning for the little difficulty he got into at the Lower Broadway engine house the evening previous. The assault was committed npon Rolla Shugart, conductor on the Manawa motor line, and grew out of his refusal to carry the fireman free on a recent trip to the lake. Nicholson filed a $50 bond and gave notice that he would appeal the case to the district court.

It will be one of his best efforts, and it is very likely that Masonic temple, where the services are now being held, will be crowded by people anxious to hear him. It is understood that he will be returned for an other year's labor in this city and be per-mitted to complete the work of building the new church, which will be a meanment to him and to the congregation over which he has presided for the past two years.

John Walker, jr., and his partner, a man named Watterman, were brought up from Villisca yesterday by a deputy United States marshal for an examination by Commissioner Hunter upon the charge of attempting to pass currency that had been tampered with. They ere charged with mutilating and raising bills into bills of $5 denomination and attempting to pass them. They both pleaded not guilty and were placed under $2,000 bonds to appear before the United States court. The amount could not be raised by their friends and they were taken to the county jail.

The Hess grand opera company played its farewell engagement here last evening to as delighted an audience as ever appeared in the opera house. There are not enough people in Council Bluffs who appreciate operatic music to warrant Manager Bohany bringing such a combination as Mr. Hess has with him. With sixty people, and among themartists like Guille, Emil Butat, Ricardo Ricci, and others who have supported Patti and carried leading roles, a few $500 houses make the man ing roles, a low solo houses make the man-agement feel very much discouraged. The Lincoln Post, G. A. R., has just received from the war department a complete set of official maps of every campaign and battle of the war of the rebellion. These maps are on a scale sufficiently large to show the topography of the country, locating each field, fence, hill, ditch, garden, house, barn, and every other minute feature; the position and movements of each body of men on both sides with their numbers and commanders. To the student of history they are almost in-valuable. By studying these maps every settler can tell where he hid while the boy were fighting. The boys value them highly, not only for their intrinsic worth, but because they get lots of fun out of them. When some "colonel" of the home guard tells how he commanded a handful of men and whipped a brigade at the forks of the road, they look up the position, and ring the chestnut bell.

Mrs. Bresee's Strange Case Goes to the Supreme Court for Investigation.

ARRAIGNING SUPT. M' NAU GHT ON.

The W. C. T. U. and the Chautauqua-Whittlesey's Divorce Coming Slowly-Calls to Worship-Minor Mention.

The Bresce lunary case has reached the supreme court of Iowa, and it bids fair to become one of the most noted insunity cases in the judicial annals of the state. Mrs. Bresee and her husband have been twice before the lunacy commissioners of Harrison county, The first time they were both discharged, but the second time the husband was held and ordered confined in an asylum. While in the custody of Sheriff Garretson a writ of habeas corpus was sworn out in the superior court, and Judge Carson went up to Missouri Valley to hear the evidence. Mrs. Bresee appeared in court during the hearing and attracted so much attention that the charge of insanity was again filed against her, and the habeas corpus proceedings were made to cover her case also. After a hearing that lasted for nearly a week, during which the whole story of the abducted heir of Lord Wadsworth and the confinement of the lord himself in a private insane asylum in Milwankee for thirty years was gone over and considerably modified, Judge Carson concluded to hold the woman and discharge the man. An appeal was taken to the district court, but before the case could be heard, Judge Bolton of this city, as attorney for the husband and wife, moved for dismissal without projudice and appealed to the state supreme court. The case will come up in the January term, and he prospects are that it will be a very interesting story that will be told by the usually prosy and dry briefs and affidavits. Judge Bolton was spending a good deal of his time yesterday in arranging a huge pile of affidavits and preparing them for the perusal of the supreme judges. All of them are in-teresting and some are decidedly sensational, and bear the names of some of the most rominent people in Harrison county.

Judging from the affidavits and other material that has been prepared the woman has concluded to abandon her claim to royalty and assert that her father's name was L. W. Wadsworth and that he was only a plain raiload man, who invested his earnings advantageously and whose accumulations ought now to be worth a great many thousand dot-lars. She still adheres to the story, however, that this money has been wrongfully withheld from her and is in the possession of the men who are now endeavoring to send her to the insane asylum.

"It is the most remarkable case I ever had anything to do with," said Judge Bolton thoughtfully. 'The more I study it and get into the details the more I am convinced of several things. There is a good deal that is perplexing and irreconciliable, but one thing perfectly clear to my mind and that is that is perfectly differ to my mind and that is that is there. Emma Bresee is as same a woman as there is in the state, I never had a client who is so tractable, bright and quick, and who helped so much by giving clear outlines of the course she would like to have pursued. During the hearing before Carson, when we examined about thirty witnesses for her she never about thirty witnesses for her, she never failed to tell me in the most concise and in-telligible manner just what each should testify to. When a witness would come upon the stand she would not, as the usual custom s, tell me to ask such and such a question, but would tell me rapidly that the wirness knows so and so, and after a few seconds whispered conversation I would know exwhispered conversation I would know ex-actly what every witness knew about the case in her favor. I never met a person with a clearer or brighter mind, and if she is in-sane God pity the rest of us.

"We expect a desperate fight, for now there is something more than the mere fact of the sanity of these people at stake. The men who are trying to force her into an in-sane asylum believe evidently that fighting to establish fights to be used are of a line of fights to be used hereafter in self defense, for they can see the probability of large damage suits growing out of these prosecutions. They are men of means and Mrs. Bresse is a clear headed, shrewd little woman, and she will be able to enlist some of the best legal talent it the United States in her behalf when in becomes necessary. The case will establish a very important precedent in medical jurisprudence, and is already attracting wide attention among lawyers not only in this state but all ver the country. "The public can restassured of one thing," continued the judge, "and that is that Mrs. Bresee will not be confined to the asylum while her mind is as clear and bright as it is at the present time, and while justice can be obtained in the courts."

Arraigning McNaughton.

The promised revelations in regard to Superintendent McNaughton of the city schools have been given to the public. They are printed herewith and the people who know Prof. McNaughton and the gentlemen who sign the charges must judge for themselves who are right and who are wrong. When the charges are carefully sifted they will be found to be less formidable than they appear to be on the surface. They are addressed to the board of education and demand an investigation looking to the dismis-sal of the superintendent. The gentlemen who sign them are responsible for their ut-

Your petitioners aver that said James McNaughton is incompetent, for that he is deficient in scholarship, as illustrated by false syntax and incorrect orthography in his compositions. That the pedagogical methods pursued by him are antiquated, as illustrated by the work demanded in the study of the English language, using as a text a book last revised in 1867. That he is injudicious, as illustrated for example by his requiring pupils from ten to twelve years old and who had only been at school five years, to learn such geometrical propositions as:
"The sum of three angles of a triangle is equal to two right angles. Let C B A be a triangle. We are to prove that angle B plus triangle. We are to prove that angle B plus angle B C A plus angle A equal two right angles. Draw C E parallel to A B and prolong A C. The sums of all the angles about a point on the same side of a straight line equal two right angles. Now, let A equal angle EC F and angle B equal angle B CE. Substitute for angles ECF and BCE their equal angles A and B. Then angle A plus angle B plus B C A equals two right angles. Year petitioners aver that James McNaughton is unfit for the office of superintendent, for that, be is immoral, that he is in solent, ungentlermanty and overbearing in his behavior to his associates and subordinates; that he associates with notorious characters and induces them to frequent the public school buildings during school hours: that he resorts to tricks and practices deceit to ac-complish his purposes, and that, actuated by shistermotives, he has, in the seven years he has been in office, managed directly and indirectly to secure the removal of four worthy, competent and deserving principals of the high school, namely, Miss Webster, Profs. Ballinger, Prouty and Stevens.

3. Your petitioners further averthat said James McNaughton has been guilty of dereliction in the discharge of his duties, forthat he has been spending a part of his time in the prosecution of his private business during school hours; that he has failed to attend and inspect the school room and the teachers work as often as the interests of the school required; that he has failed and refused to make helpful suggestions to the teachers or to aid them in the prosecution of their work; that he has failed to respond to reasonable and proper requests of teachers made to him concerning school work; that he has com-should have performed himself as superinten-dent; that he is ignorant of the location of grades in the school buildings; that he failed to confer at an important period with the tenchers' committee with reference to school work for a period of two months.

work for a period of two months.

4. Your petitioners furtheraver that said James McNaughton is a violator of the laws of the state of Iowa, and has been for two years last past engaged in nefarious and inquitous practices, for that, he has been cooperating with one Ovide Vien in exacting and receiving expertionate and usurious sums of receiving experting the same and district and for the same and control of the same and same and control of the same and control of t of money from the poor and distressed for loans made on short time paper secured by chattel mortgages. That he has exacted and received scores of chattel mortgages from the poor and the weak upon all kinds and characters of property, such as personal apparel, jewelry, rag carpets, mules, horses, calves, hogs, fuel, bedding, sewing machines, household furniture, barbers' material, chromos, trunks, and secondhand furniture dealers' stock in trade. That to conceal his identity and connection with these disreputable practices, he has had, in most instances, the papers mad out in the name of his mother-in-law, M. A Wilson, sometimes in the name of junitors of the public schools, and once only in his own name. The amounts he and his associates received for the use of their money varied from 3 to 11 per centa month. This may be illustrated by the fact that he and his ass of $100 for a little over nine months, and the poor debtor has suffered the pages of abject poverty in order to carry to Mr. Vien, Mr. McNaughton's partner, the 88 a month they charged him for the use of the 800. If may further be illustrated by the fact that there now remains unsatisfied of record a chattel mortgage in the name of his mother in-law, M. A. Wilson, given by a colored prestitute named Ida Washington, on her household furniture, including beds and belding. All "sorts and conditions of men" and women were contracted with, and some of the records and facts connected there with are too disgusting and indecent to refer in these charges, but proof can be given of the same if demanded. These charges we stand ready to prove, and in the name of good government, morality and the interest of our public schools, we demand that this man be fried, and that one so unmindful of the daties of his high office so incompetent, so unfit and so indifferent to the tender and important interests in his charge, bedismissed. Chantauqua W. C. T. U. It is customary in many if not in all Chautauqua assemblies for the management to set apart a day called Temperance day. Interesting and noted speakers are employed to address the audience on that day, and it has been found to be both interesting and instructive. The trustees offered the Woman's Christian Temperance union a lot last year if they would build a house on it for their own use, but at that time it was impossible to do more than spread a tent. During the session of this last summer an organization was effected by the ladies and styled Council Bluffs and Ormha Chautauqua, Woman's Christian Temperance union, with a body of directors consisting of eleven women. This society is regularly incorporated so that it can buy, held and sell property. The offered lot has been accepted and now the money is to be raised for the proposed building. The nouse will have a conference hall in the first story and bed rooms to rent on the second floor. It is expected that many if not all the unions of the state will contribute toward this building fund, and we hope to get some help from Omaha, but the largest arrount personal solicitation will be the batter way to collect this money, committees of ladies will wait upon the people in everyward of the city, and they hope to receive kind words and liberal patronage. This is one of the ways to help in Chautauqua work, by improving a part of the grounds and furnish-ing resting places for a few of the strangers who may attend the meetings.

The Whittlesey Divorce Case.

The prospects are that the Whittlesey divorce case will continue to hold its course in the district court for several days yet. None of the attorneys expect to conclude their evidence before Tuesday, and then at least one day will be consumed in the arguments. The only evidence that was introduced yesterday was in behalf of thedefense, and it was given by two witnesses and a carload of depositions. D. E. Glesson was on the stand for a greater part of the forenoon, and all of the afternoon was devoted to hearing the evidence of Mrs. E.C. Whittlesey, wife of the plaintiff's brother, who lives in Kansas City. She is said by attorneys to be the best wit ness they ever saw on the stand. Herstory related to the treatment of his wife by the plaintiff and to his infidelity to his marriage vows. Gleason's testimony consisted in wholesale denial of all that had been testified to concerning his relations with the defendant. CHEAGO, Sept. 13.-[Special Telegram to THE BEL]-Chairman Midgley's report of business carried by the railroads from sc. thwestern Missouri river points for the first ten days of September shows exactly the same state of affairs which caused the board of chairmen to order the Atchison to turn part of its traffic over to the Rock Island. At the time of the order the Atchison was doing 31 per cent of the business. Since the order it has turned business over to the Rock Island, but its percentage still remains at 31 Some of the other roads are now getting restless, and the board of chairmen, consistingef Messrs. Walker, Goddard, Farthern, Midgley and Finley, have issued a notice appointing October 1 as the day on which the A tchison shall show cause why it should not make a still larger division of its tennage to its competitors. President Manvel of the Atchison was ill at home, al though he leaves for St. Louis tonight His assistant, Judge Springer, said: "We shall certainly claim that we are not getting as much business as we ought to have. have been averaging more than 31 per cent, butought to have nearly 40 and would have for the order of the chairmen. Atchison has almost as much milenge in Kan sas as all other roads put together and more in the Indian territory. Then with our mileage to Chicago we are certainly entitled to more than 31 per cent of the entire business." The actual figures involved are interesting. The actual figures involved are interesting, as each road will on October I claimit is entitled to much more than it gets. The total number of cars for the ten days is 3,996—the Atchison took 1,238, Burlington 612, Rock Island 392, St. Paul 390, Missouri Pacific 398, Alton 355, Kansas City, Fort Scott & Memphis 238, Chicago, St. Paul & Kansas City 394 and the Wabash 199, Noone seems to think the agreement will last after November 1, and as east bound rates after November 1, and as eastbound rates from the Missouri river were raised on ac-count of a pool, a tumble in rates is already Reck Islandealledan informal meeting of Chicago and Missouri river lines today and outlined a plan by which the times of fast freight trains should be lessened on all tines and a number of passenger trains taken off. The plan was not received favorably by some of the lines, but others are determined to reduce expenses by the adoption of some such plan as that proposed by the Rock Island.

A Stroke of Economy.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13 .- | Special Telegram to THE BEE.]-The election of Chairman Finley of the Trans-Missouri association as chairman of the Western Passenger association is part of a scheme of economy which is for the first time made public in these lines. Beginning last February a move was set on foot by a number of western railroad presidents to combine all western railroad associations into one, the original plan being embedied in the agreement of the proposed western associated railways. This plan was knocked in the head by the determined opposition of Chairman Midgley of the Western Freight association and the fact that some of the roads refused to join the proposed association. Attention was then turned to economizing in other direc-tions and the final tenstrike was made in yesterday's election of Chairman Finley. As soon as possible the TransMissouri association will be dissolved, its jurisdiction being divided between the Western Fright association and the Western Passenger association. This will involve a saving of over $100,000 a year to the roads interested and make the governing bodies much more

A VISIT TO THE PRESIDENT.

A Large Excursion from Altoona (al) Notes About the City. on Him.

CRESON SPRINGS, Pa., Sept. 13.-The pres ident's mountain home was invaded this afternoon by an excursion party from A toona, Pa., numbering about one thousand persons and composed principally of members of Grand Army posts and the Union Veteran league of that city. They arrives hereabout to'clock on a special train of ten cars and enoyed the entire attention of the president antilnearly 7 o'clock. Theceremonies began with a special reception in the Mountain house, during which the president shook hands with over a thousand persons. The old soldiers were very excited over the president and him frequently. The president was cheered him frequently. The president v subsequently serenaded while standing the hotel porch and made a short addre standing o He thanked his comrades for the greetin they had given him and said a characteristic of the American people was that they did not place their affections on individuals, but gave their loyally to the flag and constitution. No matter how great a man might b or how successful he might have been winning the admiration and confidence of h fellow-citizens, our people placethe government and its flag above all else. In th ment and its flag above all else. In this respect the president contrasted the United States with other nation and argued that it was this characteristic that gave preminence to American. can institutions. In illustration of this hited the case of President Lincoln, who proably more than any other man since Washington had secured the affections of the people, and yet when he was assassinated that other great man who afterwards became him selfamartyred president could say that government at Washington still lives." president with much feeling concluded his remarks as follows: "Now my comrades who have suffered and still suffer for you country, I wish in this world all good to andjourdear ones and in the world to some joy everlasting." The president then walked to his cottage with his family. A large crowd fol-lowed them even only the porch with cries of "Harrison," which were continued unt in the doorway. He had little Benjamin Me Kee in his arms and, holding him out to the crowd, said, "There is my grandson," whereat the crowd yelled louder than ever and the calld took of his cap and waved it
